22ND YEAR. LOWELL, MASS., MONDAY, JUNE 12, 1899. 8 PAGES 1 CENT

JOHN R. FAIRBURN, who Assumes the Shrievalty at the Lowell Jail.

Capt. John Fairburn, assistant to the late Sheriff Cushing, was duly sworn into the office of Sheriff on Saturday morning by Judge Bond. Capt. Fairburn had been special sheriff and master of the House of Correction at East Cambridge, but will now continue in the capacity of sheriff of Middlesex county jail until his successor shall have been chosen. Capt. J. P. Thompson of the registry of deeds has given notice that the registry will be closed today from 2 to 4 o'clock, the hours of the funeral in respect to the late Sheriff.

Chinaman Arrested For Keeping Speak Easy

IN HIS WAMESIT STREET LAUNDRY.

Colored Woman Bites an Officer.

LAWRENCE AND NASHUA DRUNKS TAKEN IN

From Centralville Side of the River.

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain.
The Heathen Chinee is peculiar."

And as he becomes Americanized, the blessings of civilization only add to his "peculiarity," so to speak, and for an example there is Sam Lee, with a deceiving name, a Chinese laundryman from Wamesit street, who today is a sadder and wiser Celestial as he hears the clerk of the court charge him with wilfully violating the great American liquor law.

Poor Sam did fairly well at the laundry business; but as Brutus said of Caesar, he was ambitious and became weary of his monotonous squirting and ironing day after day, especially since countrymen of his own had got onto and adopted the great American scheme of cutting prices and he desired to become rich more quickly and with less work.

Accordingly he scratched his smooth topped cranium for a plan and finally hit upon a corker. "No License; me sellee lum, makee more allee samee, Yankee Melican man" thought Sam and he concluded to start up a first class "speak easy."

He fitted out his place with a whole lot of bad whiskey and after tipping off a few friends, began to a land office business; but Sam was hoggish and it "queered" him. He wasn't content to do business discriminately and make money slowly but sold to everyone who produced the price.

He knew enough not to sell to the big man in the blue coat and brass buttons but he he had never been up against the liquor inspector in citizen's clothes and when Liquor InspectorAtkinson went to the laundry Saturday night and asked for a half pint, Sam hastened to accommodate him, assuring him that it was "allee samee fine liskey." Inspector Atkinson paid 25 cents for the stuff and as he did, Liquor Inspectors Goodwin and Donaldson and Officers Mahoney and Corcoran broke in upon him and the bottom fell out of Sam's quick road to wealth.

The inspector searched the premises and found four jugs, one 10-gallon keg and several bottles and these together with the heart-broken Chinaman they bundled into the patrol wagon and took to the police station.

HELD IN NASHUA.

Michael Kelly and Fred Lovejoy, two young men from Lowell were arraigned in the Nashua police court, Friday morning on the charge of stealing $60 from the house of Martin Van Buren Thompson. Lovejoy pleaded guilty to the larceny of $27 and Kelly to the larceny of $29. The men were held in bonds of $500 each for the September term of the supreme court.

DECIDEDLY OFF COLOR.

Rose Johnson, a "culled lady" got off color last night and started to tear down a tenement on Church street. Officer Hill was called, but Rose refused to accompany him and started to fight. It was necessary to drag the pugnacious dame down two flights of stairs and up to the box on Church street. On the way the woman attempted to bite the officer's arm but didn't succeed though her teeth penetrated his coat sleeve.

THE LIQUOR INSPECTORS.

According to report, some of the liquor inspectors will wind up as defendants in court, on account of their manner of raiding places.

Over 20 drunks got in Saturday night and Sunday and of these over 12 were taken on the Centralville side of the river, as they came from Lawrence, Hudson and Nashua.

NANTASKET FIRE

Two Hotels Burned Down Last Night

A CARELESS SMOKER CAUSED THE FIRE.

The Montasco and Hollis Total Loss.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NANTASKET BEACH, June 12.—The careless action of a man in throwing a lighted match from a lunch cart standing against the front of the unoccupied Montasco hotel at the beach about 7 o'clock last evening caused a fire which within an hour had destroyed the Montasco and Hollis hotels and two small frame buildings, one occupied jointly by the postoffice and police department, and the other by Fred Andrews as a bicycle store, while the Hotel Tivoli, which stands next to the Nantasket hotel, betwen it and the postoffice and police building, was also damaged.

The total loss is estimated at $25,000, of which $13,500 was on the buildings; $12,000 on contents, divided as follows: Hotel Hollis building, owned by the Burkhardt Brewing company, Boston, $7500; Montasco Hotel building, owned by James H. Jellison, the Haymarket square apothecary, $5000; two small buildings occupied by police and postoffice and Andrew's bicycle store, and owned by Postmaster Frank M. Reynolds of Nantasket Beach, $800; Hotel Tivoli building, owned by Burkhardt Brewing company, damaged $200; contents of Hotel Hollis, including furniture, bedding, bar equipment and stock of beer, ale and liquors, the property of Harry P Morrissey, proprietor of the Rossmore hotel, Boston, who also leased the Hotel Hollis, $7000; contents of Montasco hotel, consisting chiefly of furniture, $3500; contents of postoffice and police building, $1000; contents of Andrews' bicycle store, $500. The only articles saved from the Hollis hotel were a piano and a few tables and chairs.

The fire was a spectacular one, and although a large proportion of the 7000 people who were on the beach during the afternoon had gone home, it was witnessed by more than 1500 persons, who gathered on the beach and in the roadway and fields in front of the burning building.

GRAND JURY LIST

The Vaughn's and Dowd and Logue Indicted

NO BILL AGAINST MRS. BLENNERHASSET

Trials Will Begin Tomorrow Morning.

OTHER LOWELL CASES REPORTED UPON.

Mark of Respect to Sheriff Cushing.

The grand jury reported to Judge Bond at Cambridge Saturday, with the following list of Lowell cases. The more important indictments appeared in Saturday's Sun:

As was generally expected, no bill was found against Mrs. Letitia Blennerhasset of North Billerica, who was held for manslaughter in the lower court and consequently she goes free.

Ina Maloney, charged with lewd and lascivious conduct, also goes free, no bill being found against her.

Thomas F. Logue and James F. Dowd, the alleged assailants of John B. Cover, were indicted, the indictment charging them with robbery, while armed. Both men pleaded not guilty.

True bills were also found against Robert and Olan Vaughn, the former being indicted on six counts and the latter on four. The two men are jointly charged in the indictments with breaking and entering the offices of A. C. Goodrich, W. A. Dicklason, and Bartholomew Scannell and robbery from Patrolman John F. Healey. In addition to these, Robert will have to answer to two charges of assault with intent to kill, one upon Lieutenant James Brosnan and the other upon Inspector Charles Laflamme.

Both men were in court Saturday morning and pleaded not guilty of all charges. Robert is much improved in appearance since the trial in the local police court, looking more fleshy and generally more healthy. He wore a neat fitting black suit with sack coat. Olan does not appear to have suffered by his confinement and has grown a suspicion of a moustache upon his upper lip.

The other indictments were as follows:

Katie McCaffrey, adultery. She pleaded guilty.

Margaret Ellison, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Seth McAlpine, polygamy and adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Ben Walker, breaking and entering and larceny from the Billerica Baptist church; pleaded guilty.

Eli P. Lablanc, forgery; pleaded guilty.

Thomas Reay, larceny from the person; pleaded not guilty.

Asard Roseck, larceny; pleaded not guilty.

Francis J. Kelley, rape; pleaded not guilty.

Frank P. Keyes, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

John Krofka, adultery, pleaded guilty.

John J. Armour, carnal abuse, pleaded not guilty.

William P. Lawrenson, breaking and entering P. J. Riley's junk shop, larceny of a watch and receiving stolen goods, three counts in all; pleaded not guilty.

Henry W. Armstrong, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Lillian G. Gallaway, adultery, pleaded not guilty.

No bill was returned against Mary Kershaw, but she is destined to remain behind the bars for some time to come, in serving the sentence imposed in the Suffolk county court.

The trial of cases will begin in the Cambridge court tomorrow, as court adjourned this morning out of respect for the late Sheriff Cushing.

NOW DEDICATED

FIRST TRINATARIAN CHURCH CONSECRATED TO GOD.

The dedication exercises of the First Trinitarian Congregational church were held last evening, Rev. George F. Kennigott offered prayer. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. Wolcott of Lawrence, who emphasized the fact that the church would become sacred because God would take up his abode in it. The speaker laid stress on the individual element in Christianity.

In a few brief remarks, the pastor, Rev. George F. Kennigott, spoke gratefully of the gifts that had been made to the church.

Rev. George H. Johnson brought the greetings of the sister churches. He said the First Trinitarian church had won its victory, demonstrated its right to existence and won the respect of all the other churches. He paid a hearty tribute to the faithful work of Rev. G. F. Kennigott and his wife and to the church members for the willing self sacrifice which made the dedication of the building possible.

McEVOY—Leo, son of Walter and Katie McEvoy, aged 4 years, died at the home of his parents Saturday evening, 224 Fayette street and was buried yesterday at 11 o'clock. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker McDermott.

A BAD ACCIDENT

Miss Melvine Lapiere Run Down by Scorchers

ON THE BOULEVARD LAST EVENING.

She Was Very Seriously Injured.

THE SCORCHERS BEAT HASTY RETREAT

Under Pretense of Getting a Physician.

Miss Melvina Lapierre, aged 20 years, daughter of Constable Joseph S. Lapierre, was last night the victim of a most painful bicycling accident and of most churlish treatment from the two men who caused her injuries.

About 9 o'clock last night, Miss Lapierre and a girl friend with a gentleman escort were riding leisurely up the boulevard Miss Lapierre leading, the other young lady directly behind her and the gentleman in the rear.

Suddenly as they were about a quarter mile from the Varnum avenue entrance two men on a tandem came down upon them at a terrific rate of speed, crashing into Miss Lapierre's wheel before she could save herself.

She was hurled several feet by the force of the collision and the young lady riding behind her was also knocked down and badly bruised. The wheels of both young women were smashed, while the scorchers and their wheel escaped injury.

When Miss Lapierre was picked up, it was found that she was not only badly cut and bruised but was bleeding at the mouth from internal injuries.

The wily scorchers noting Miss Lapierre's serious condition suggested that they had better go for a doctor and the unsuspecting victims agreed with them. They started off again at breakneck speed and though thoroughly cognizant of the fact that the victim of the accident was in a very serious condition and far removed from any assistance they neither sent a physician nor showed up there again themselves.

After waiting nearly an hour for the physician whom the heartless scoundrels had promised to send, during which time Miss Lapierre suffered intensely, it was necessary for the gentleman in the party to leave the two young women alone on the boulevard and go in search of assistance.

He called at the house of Mrs. Susan Kenneson, 217 Pawtucket Boulevard, where the family, not only telephoned for the ambulance but sent a carriage for the young women. From Mrs. Kenneson's house they were removed to their homes on Sargent street.

The young men who rode the tandem which by the way was without a lantern are known by sight and are members of one of the local wheelmen's clubs. The police were notified of the case and undoubtedly the young men have not heard the last of the affair.

Miss Lapierre is in a serious condition, though not dangerous.

SAILBOAT CAPSIZED.

A sailboat containing a party of four capsized in the Merrimack river, off Varnum avenue, near the entrance to the boulevard early last evening.

The amateur sailors were wet down thoroughly but were rescued without difficulty.

FUNERALS.

BARRINGTON—The funeral of the late Albert Barrington who died suddenly Thursday afternoon at his home in Billerica avenue, North Billerica, after a long illness, took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church of that village, Rev. S. Knowles officiated and Archibald Ritchie, Richard T. Perry, James W. Sutcliffe and Herbert B. Ellis were pall bearers. The interment was in Fox Hill cemetery under the direction of Undertaker C. M. Young.

A quartette consisting of James W. Ritchie, H. B. Ellis, George Durstin, and Thomas Grinrod sang several selections. Mr. Thomas Reteson presided at the organ. Members of North Billerica Council, Royal Arcanum, attended in a body, he being a charter member. Deceased was a native of Swinton, England, but had made Billerica his home for the past 17 years. A father, mother, wife and two daughters survive. He had been employed in the spinning department of the Talbot Mills of that village for a long period and was 50 years, 6 months and 26 days of age.

FISHER—Mrs. Frances C. Fisher who died yesterday morning at the residence of her son, Rev. C. E. Fisher, 165 Branch street, had been a resident of this city but little over a year, yet during that time she had endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and her loss will be deeply mourned. Until she came to Lowell, deceased had lived the greater part of her life in Provincetown, where she reared her family. Besides her son, Rev. C. E. Fisher of the First Universalist church, she left a daughter, Mrs. Mayo of Brockton. Deceased was 67 years of age.

TWISS—The funeral of Sabrina A. Twiss was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence, 53 West Forrest street, Rev. R. A. Greene officiated and the bearers were Messrs. Arthur W. Lang, Fred A. George, Frank Stevens and Harry Greene. Interment was in the Edson cemetery.

DEATHS.

HARGRAVES—Mrs. C. S. Hargraves formerly of this city, passed away at the home of her son, Mr. H. F. Hargraves, Haverhill, Wednesday, after a long sickness. She leaves two daughters and one son to mourn her loss. She was a member of Garfield lodge of Pilgrim Fathers of Lowell. Funeral services for the deceased were held at the Advent church, Walnut street, Haverhill Friday, Rev. Mr. Goodwin officiating.

Stearns bicycles took first three events at the Fair Grounds on Saturday.

THE CHINESE CASE

For Alleged Selling in Wamesit Street.

SAM LEE FOUND GUILTY AND FINED $100.

Large Number of Lawrence Drunks in Dock.

In police court this morning the dock was filled and almost every seat along the sides of the room were occupied. The usual number of reporters and spectators were inside the rail. Several Chinamen were in a position close to Probation Officer Tuttle while Sam Lee sat placidly behind the railing.

Alfred Ducean, who was arrested from a Lawrence car, was fined $5.

Samuel McAldin, drunkenness, $5.

John Aothessey, drunkeness, $5.

Patrick Dillon, drunkenness, $5.

David J. Coolingley, drunkenness, $5.

William C. Sullivan, second offense of drunkenness, $6.

Maurice J. Cashman, drunkenness, $5.

Martin Molloy, third offense of drunkenness, went to the house of correction for four months.

John Tuplin, guilty of exposure of person, received six months in the house of correction.

Martin Roach, a Tyngsboro drunk, was fined $5.

Clayton Craft, arrested in Drucut, was fined $5.

Henry Baxendale, who was found by Officer Hadley of Chelmsford was sentenced to the workhouse for a term of two months.

Rose J Fineen, for drunkeness, was fine $5.

The case of Sam Lee for alleged illegal sale of liquors was then taken up. Officers Corcoran and Moloney and Inspector Thomas R. Atkinson were sworn. W. A. Hogan, Esq. appeared for the defence and Deputy Moffatt and Inspector David Donaldson for the government.

Inspector Atkinson, the first witness, testified: "I met a man who bought the liquor for me. He then exhibited a bottle in which were liquors. "I then went into Lee's place.

Inspector Donaldson here gave the witness some money to inspect and the latter declared that the money was the same as he gave the man to buy whiskey. He knew it because he had the pieces marked. On cross-examination witness said he did not know the man. He knew he was to meet the man and had arranged the plan for obtaining the liquor, previously. When the liquor was paid for, it was with money given by witness to Lee. The man took the whiskey and said the witness, would pay for it. Witness gave money into the Chinaman's hand. Witness then seized about a gallon of whiskey. Officer Corcoran who patrols the beat said he went into the laundry while Inspector Atkinson was there. Witness asked defendant if he sold Atkinson any liquor. Defendant said "No," and Atkinson said he did. He sold him a pint. Officer Corcoran then happened to put his hand on the ironing board and discovered the marked money under the cover. Witness saw three young men coming out of the laundry early in the evening. Mr. Hogan on cross-examination, asked: "Do you know the strange man?"

"I do not know him personally."

"Do you know the man's name?"

The government objected but his objection was not sustained and the officer answered "Patrick Considine."

Officer Moloney who was the [illegible] witness testified that he was present at the seizure. Jugs, etc., were [illegible] Cross-examination developed nothing more.

Sam Lee, the defendant, was then called. He said he has lived in Lowell for eight years. The men came to his door about one o'clock Saturday morning. One asked for his shirt. "I told him to give me his check and he asked for whiskey. "I don't sell whiskey," I said. He said "You'd better sell me some whiskey." I said "No," and they began to talk loud and the officers came. I was afraid of the men. I thought they were going to fight. One man put money on the counter which I refused to take.

"Which man wanted to fight you?" asked Mr. Donaldson.

"O, I don't know," replied Sam.

Then Sam remembered that he told Inspector Donaldson yesterday that Tommy—he didn't remember his last name—brought the whiskey to witness' place. Officer Atkinson was recalled and again testified that the man, Considine, whispered, "It is I, Sam," and the bottle was shoved out to him.

Lee was found guilty and fined $100.

HER EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

EX-COUNCILMAN JOSEPH F. O'ROURKE, Who Died This Morning.

JOS. F. O'ROURKE

Popular Ex-Councilman Died This Morning.

Ex-Councilman Joseph F. O'Rourke one of ward two's most popular citizens, passed away at his home at 14 Dempsey's Place, off Salem street at 2.30 o'clock this morning, having been unwell for some time, though confined to his home only for the past four days, heart trouble causing death.

Deceased was 54 years old and had resided in the vicinity of old ward one nearly all his life. He attended the local schools and formerly was engaged in the tailor business, on Merrimack street. He was quite prominent in ward one politics and was a member of the common council in 1892, serving his constituents with honor and distinction. Personally "Joe" as he was familiarly called by his intimates was a kind, amiable and cheerful man, making friends of all with whom he came in contact. For the past few years he had been employed by the Harvard Brewing Co. and was one of the organizers and a past president of the local Brewery Workers' Union. He was quite prominent and popular in labor circles and his death will be regretted by a host of friends. He is survived by three brothers and five sisters, two of the latter residing in this city and the other members of the family in New York and in England. The funeral announcement will be made later.

ROBERT E. HALL

Arrested as a Fugitive From Justice

HE IS A FORMER NEWSPAPERMAN

And Obtained Various Loans of Money.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 10.—Robert E. Hall was arrested here today as a fugitive from justice from Pawtucket, R. I., where he is wanted for having obtained $25 from Michael Moy, a news agent of that place. Hall, it is claimed, formerly worked for one of the big New York newspapers, but was discharged. Since then it is claimed that he had visited a number of cities in New England and by representing himself to be connected with a paper, had succeeded in obtaining loans of various amounts of money. Hall states that he will waive extradition papers and he will be taken to Pawtucket today.

SHE DIED IN GRIEF

Mrs. Rossi Mourned Her Murdered Daughter

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 10.—Mrs. Isabella Rossi dropped dead at her home on Common street this afternoon. Her husband left the house for a few minutes and on his return found Mrs. Rossi on the floor.

The woman's death was due to grief, over the loss of her daughter in 1896. The little girl, whose name was Isabel, was murdered in her own home three years ago. A shotgun was the weapon used.

An Italian who boarded with the Rossis was suspected of committing the murder. He fled the country and no trace of him has ever been found by the police.

Mrs. Rossi never fully recovered from the shock caused by the tragic death of her beloved child.

MORE SMALL POX

Two New Cases In Fall River

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 10.—Two new cases of small pox were reported today to the board of health in another section of the city entirely from that which has been the infected district. They are Octave Fecteau and his sister, living at 273 Quequechan street. Three weeks ago, Fecteau visited Patrick Hanley of Murray street, where the first cases were reported. This morning he called a doctor and it was necessary to send him to the pest house. Later it developed that the sister also has the disease and she will be removed this afternoon. The section of the city where the Fecteaus live is a densely crowded tenement section and will be given immediate attention by the board of health. There are now 30 cases at the pest house. This week a total of 12 new cases have been discovered.

FIFTY WERE KILLED

Rebels' Heavy Loss in Today's Fighting.

Americans are Engaged in Sweeping the Country—Two American Officers Killed and Twenty One Soldiers Wounded.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 10.—At daybreak today, a force of 450 men under Generals Lawton, Wheaton and Overshine advanced from San Pedro Macati, sweeping the country between the Bay of Manila and Bay Lake south of Manila. By noon the country will be cleared almost to Paranaque. The Americans lost two officers killed and twenty-one soldiers wounded. The rebels resisted desperately at the strongest of their positions and left 50 dead in the trenches. Many more of wounded were left behind by the rebels in their retreat. The heat during the day was overpowering and there were many prostrations of American soldiers from that cause.

It was scarcely dawn, when the troops, in a long, silent procession, wound up the hillside behind the American trenches and formed a skirmish line. Concealed in the jungle the advance rebel outposts fired a few shots before they were discovered. The opposing forces occupied two ranges of crescent shaped hills.

At daybreak the artillery, the Colorado's and the Nevada cavalry swung around the hill top on the left and opened the battle at 6.30. The rebels made no response from the hills and the Colorado men cautiously advanced through the thick grass until they were confronted by a trench from which a few weak volleys were fired. A spirited response followed and a charge into the trench found it to be deserted.

In the meantime part of the 13th and 14th regiments formed in skirmish line extending a mile to the right and supported by the rest of the regiments, swept down the valley and up the hillside toward another trench. Approaching through the morass seriously hampered the 14th and the rebels, taking advantage of this, poured a galling fire upon them for thirty minutes. The 14th was twice compelled to withdraw for the purpose of finding a safe crossing in the swamp. Finally the trench was infiladed on both flanks.

The rebels fled to the woods and sustained severe loss.

General Lawton then pushed his entire command south, through the centre of the isthmus until within a few miles south of Paranaque when he swung around and halted on account of the heat.

During the march the Americans were prostrated on all sides, owing to lack of water and exposure to the sun. It is estimated that forty per cent of the troops were exhausted.

The double turretted monitor Monadnock and three other vessels shelled Paranaque this morning and the rebels promptly evacuated the place.

CAPT. NICHOLS DEAD.

Adjutant General, Washington:

First Lieut. Richard B. Westnedge, surgeon U. S. A., died here at 1 o'clock today of typhoid fever. OTIS.

REBELS FLED TO WOODS.
By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 10.—6 p. m.—General Lawton's force consisted of two battalions each of the 21st and Ninth infantry, six companies of the Colorado volunteers and a detachment of artillery. The Nevada cavalry was under General Wheaton, and the 13th and 14th infantry, the 4th cavalry and a detachment of light artillery were under General Overshine.

CAR MEN STRIKE

Motormen and Conductors Leave Their Work

ENTIRE SYSTEM WILL BE TIED UP.

The Men Want Summary Dismissals Stopped

WHEN CAUSES ARE NOT APPARENT.

Strikers Have Started a Bus Service.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 10—Motormen and conductors of the Cleveland Electric company have declared a strike, tying up the entire system. Not a car will be run on any of the lines of the Big Consolidated today if the men can help it.

The employes want first, the recognition, by the company, of their union, which is a part of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employes of America. Secondly, they want a board of arbitration to pass upon the allegations of the company's rule when a man is charged with violation of the rules and the union officers and the company's management disagree upon the disposition of his case. They want summary dismissals for causes not clearly apparent to them stopped.

The men charge that there have been numerous discharges for trifling reasons. The men want, thirdly, an abatement of "swing" runs. In a swing run, a man gets pay for only the hours he works but the working hours are scattered all through the day and night. The real fight is over the recognition of the union. About 500 men are now out. The strikers have started a 'bus service.

JEFFRIES PARENTS PLEASED.
By Associated Press to The Sun.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 10.—When a reporter called at the home of Champion Jeffries' father in East Los Angeles, late last night, he found the lights out and the family asleep. After some time the family was aroused and came down to hear the news of the fight. Mr. Jeffries, who is a preacher, and who does not approve of his son's profession, did not appear elated over the result, though he asked several questions as to what round the fight ended, and if any one was hurt. Being assured that neither his son nor Fitzsimmons had sustained any serious injury, he said:

"It's just as I said some time ago, when I was asked for an expression as to the coming battle. The Lord was in the fight. He was with Jim, and of course Jim won."

Mrs. Jeffries was delighted that her son had won, and immediately wired the following to him:

"I am glad you have won the victory you have worked so hard for. Mother."

McKENZIE CASE

In Which Plaintiff Sues For $50,000

SIX WITNESSES SWORN FOR THE DEFENSE.

The Court Adjurned to Monday Morning.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 10.—The second day's trial of the suit of Murdock McKenzie against Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Longest for $50,000 damages for the alienation of his wife's affections brought forth some spicy testimony.

Nearly every available seat in the court room was occupied at both the morning and afternoon sessions. Mrs. Murdock McKenzie, wife of the plaintiff and the daughter of the defendants, was in the court room. She wore a striped silk shirt waist of bright colors and a dark skirt. She is pretty.

The plaintiff, a dark-complexioned sunburned young fellow of 29 or 30 years, was on the witness stand most of the forenoon. He was formerly a farmhand and later a coachman for Dr. Longest on the latter's farm at Franklin. He spoke in a very soft and slow tone of voice, so very softly, in fact that Judge Sherman, before whom the case is being tried, rebuked him, saying: "I am afraid if you did not talk to her any louder than you are talking to us, that she did not hear you."

When McKenzie came into court in the morning he was wearing his hair very long and the bangs fell nearly to his eyebrows but during the noon recess a barber had clipped off a considerable part of his hair and he presented a more spruced-up appearance.

During the morning session evidence was presented to show the affectionate relations of McKenzie and Nellie Longest while they were at the farm. Letters were read and under the examination of Judge Sherman, McKenzie told of their relations preceding the marriage, which occurred three weeks before the birth of the baby.

During the afternoon session, the plaintiff finished. For the defense six witnesses were sworn, Mrs. Harriet A. Baxter, who in 1895 kept a road house in Wrentham known as the "Tonkettle;" Dr. Herbert P. Jefferson of Lowell, for whom Murdock McKenzie worked at the time of his marriage to Nellie Longest; three farm hands from Franklin and Mrs. Longest, one of the defendants.

All except Mrs. Longest testified, and then the court adjourned to Monday morning.

Backache

Wearying, ceaseless backache.
Dull, exhausting and constant pain.
No comfort by day. No rest at night.
Aches in the small of the back, pain low down in the side. No spirit for any task, no hope for relief. Great numbers of women are not free from backache from one year's end to another.

Among Mrs. Pinkham's victories there is none more complete than that over backache, and the evidence of thousands of women prove that she is its conqueror.

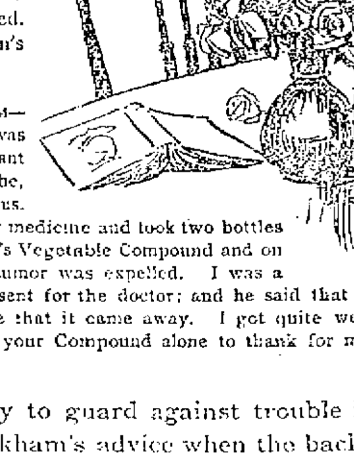

Mrs. C. Klenk, of Wells, Minn. (Box 131), writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I suffered for years with a long list of troubles, and I want to thank you for my complete recovery. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine for women.

"I had severe female complaints, causing terrible backache and nervous prostration; was dizzy most of the time, had headache and such a tired feeling. I now have taken seven bottles of your Compound and have also used the Sanative Wash and feel like a new woman. I must say I never had anything help me so much. I have better health than I ever had in my life. I sleep well at night, and can work all day without feeling tired. I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all the credit, for I know it has cured me of all my troubles. I would not do without your remedies for anything."

When a woman has severe backache she has some serious trouble that will sooner or later declare itself.

Mrs. E. Furton, of Meade, Mich., found that her backache was caused by a tumor, which three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound expelled. This is Mrs. Furton's letter:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—Two years ago I was troubled with constant backache and headache, and was very nervous. I resolved to try your medicine and took two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and on taking the third a tumor was expelled. I was a little frightened and sent for the doctor; and he said that it was fortunate for me that it came away. I got quite well after that and have your Compound alone to thank for my recovery."

The safe way to guard against trouble is to get Mrs. Pinkham's advice when the backache first appears. A letter to her at Lynn, Mass., describing your case fully will receive a prompt reply without charge.

"Your Medicine is a Friend to Woman."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I wish to tell you the great good your medicine has done me. I do not feel like the same woman. I have suffered terribly. Had womb and kindey trouble, leucorrhœa, very severe pains in hips and sides of abdomen, headache, was nervous, menses were irregular. I have now taken four bottles of your Vegetable Compound, and the backache has left me, menses are regular, can sleep well, and awake in the morning feeling much rested. Your medicine is indeed a friend to women. I wish that I could tell every woman what a wonderful medicine it is. I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. Anna J. Fenstermaker Pine Summit, Pa.

SMOOTH PAVEMENT

Growing in Popularity All Through the Country.

Some of the Various Forms of Best Smooth Paving Explained, Asphalt, Vulcanite and Asphaltina — Asphalt Possesses Most Merit and is Most Used.

As the past decade has pointed out the fact that slowly but surely the cities and towns of this country are coming to the exclusive use of smooth paving in the building of and reconstruction of their streets and roadways, and as at present the local press has entered into a controversy over the methods employed by the street department in making their awards for certain smooth paving contracts involving a discussion of the relative merits of various grades and kinds of smooth paving, the subject has become one of general interest, and the public up to date has been able to derive but little knowledge of the subject other than the fact that smooth paving is more desirable in streets than rough, and that it appears to be gaining in popularity each year.

The introduction of bituminous concrete pavements for roadways commenced about the year 1867 with a pavement consisting of a mixture of coal tar and sand which, though possessed of some merit was not lasting, due, it was agreed, to the fact that coal tar is not durable when subjected to atmospheric changes and street traffic.

In the year 1870 Mr. L. S. Filbert conceived the idea of mixing sulphur and lime with the coal tar, producing what was called the "Vulcanite" pavement, and for a few years a considerable amount of it was laid in Washington. In 1876 the first genuine asphalt pavement was laid in Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C., and was known as the "Trinidad Lake Asphalt Sheet Pavement."

Later still a new competitor came into the field under the name of Asphaltina, the Trinidad Asphalt having become decidedly popular throughout the country, and then the war of the smooth paving companies began. The fight is asphalt against asphaltina, the former claiming that the latter is but a renewal of the old coal tar Vulcanite, which in its original form was no success.

THE PATENT SPECIFICATIONS.

The specifications of the several patents now in asphaltina and vulcanite are in extract as follows:

ASPHALTINA.

(Patent No. 540,793, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"I claim as my invention:

"1. The herein described composition of matter, consisting of a calcium resinate (lime and rosin), a heavy hydro-carbon, tar and sulphur.

"'Heavy hydro-carbon' is described in the patent as 'The petroleum sediment known as B. S.,' which is a sort of tar found in the bottom of crude oil tanks.

(Patent No. 540,792, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"2. The herein described composition of matter consisting of tar combined with sulphur substantially in the proportion specified, resin and sulphurized heavy hydro-carbon.

(Patent No. 540,791, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"This is substantially the same as the other two patents, substituting the term 'B. S.' for the word 'tar,' and provides that 'The hardness of the mixture may be increased by adding a greater or less quantity of tar, either coal, wood or petroleum tar, to the 'B. S.' residue and rosin.

VULCANITE.

(Patent No. 108,695, dated October 25th, 1870.)

"My composition is composed of the following ingredients: Asphalt, pitch, coal tar or pine tar, sulphuric acid, lime, sand, etc.

"Sulphur may be used instead of sulphuric acid."

From these there would appear to be a striking similarity in the two forms of paving.

The original Trinidad Lake asphalt pavements which are entirely different in their construction are now in use in about one hundred cities of the United States, to the extent of upward of 20,000,000 square yards (1500 square miles), their growth increasing yearly since their beginning to almost the entire exclusion of other forms of pavement. It is laid upon a foundation of concrete, from four to six inches in thickness, depending upon the nature of the traffic to be provided for, composed of Trinidad Lake asphalt, sand, petroleum, residium and lime stone dust. It has often replaced other paving materials such as macadam, brick, granite blocks, and cobble stones, and these pavements have also been successfully used as a foundation for a wearing surface of asphalt. Its promotors claim that it outlasts any other form of pavement except granite and is so close a second that it is preferred to granite for its many excellences. Many streets paved with it, it is claimed, are in perfect order without any repairs after 10 years use.

In Buffalo, N. Y., which claims to be the best paved city in America, over 4,000,000 square yards or 200 miles, the greatest extent in the world have been laid in the past 18 years at a cost in the neighborhood of 12 or 13 million dollars, and the chief engineer of the city lauds its praises in no uncertain terms.

DECREASES DEATH RATE.

And speaking of the benefits of asphalt pavements one of the most striking appears in "Municipal Engineering of March, 1897 under the headlines "Asphalt Paving and Health in New York." A Memphis, Tenn. official writes that he had been informed that the mayor of New York had stated that the extended use of asphalt pavements in that city had lowered the death rate and sought information as to the truth of the statement. The board of health in its answer showed decreased rate and made this statement.

The remarkable decrease in the death rate and in the death rate from diarrhoeal diseases for the same period indicates improved sanitary conditions, the cleanliness of streets, the asphalt pavements, the improved milk supply and the use of sterilized milk have no doubt contributed."

Among the cities using asphalt and the amount used are the following:

Hamilton, O., 96,380 sq. yds; Detroit, Mich., 432,749 sq. yds; Peoria, Ill., 146,740 sq. yds; Columbus, 308,020 sq. yds; Cincinnati, O., 400,000 sq. yds; Philadelphia, 171,82 miles; Washington, D. C., 2,405, 932 sq. yds; Denver, Col., 240,000 sq. yds; Toledo, O., 335,000 sq. yds; Buffalo, N. Y., 27.38 miles; Minneapolis, Minn., 178,674 sq. yds; Bronklyn, N. Y., 675,000 sq. yds; Dayton, O., 355,501 sq. yds; Niagara Falls, N. Y. 42,000 sq. yds;

Among the direct answers of the engineers of these cities to the question, 'which gives the best satisfaction?" Seven said asphalt; one asphalt and brick; one asphalt and medina stone and two brick.

In many of the larger cities most of the new work that is being done in streets is with this sheet asphalt. In New York during 1895 says a street report the most important asphalt paving work during the season of 1896 was Fifth avenue between Ninth and Fifty-fifth streets and First avenue between Twentieth and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth streets. Both of them very large contracts are now incomplete owing to delays in trenching necessary, also street car track obstructions. The asphalt gutter strips, usually four feet, usually placed on the street previously paved with stone blocks and for the convenience of bicyclists and thorough street cleaning, have preferred their utility."

THE LOCAL SIDE

And with these recommendations back of them the Trinidad Sheet Asphalt people came here to enter into competition with the other smooth pavers, but the City Council and Supt. Cheney deliberately bar out this company and let the contract out without competition to a company giving only a 5-year guarantee whose work is claimed to be inferior, despite the fact that the superior asphalt company offers a 10 year guarantee.

Are we getting the best for our money, or are we patronizing a particular company at a loss to the city?

CATHOLIC NOTES

First Communion at St. Patrick's Church Yesterday

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES AT SACRED HEART.

Observance of St. Anthony's Day Tomorrow.

St. Patrick's church was the scene of a beautiful religious event yesterday morning when 221 children received their first communion at 8.30 o'clock mass. Of these 122 were girls and 99 were boys. The girls were all attired in white dresses and veils and the boys wore white shirt waists and ties. The mass was sung by Rev. Fr. McHugh, and Rev. Richard S. Burke preached an eloquent sermon to the young communicants. In the afternoon the children attended Vespers in a body. Rev. Fr. Leonard sang Vespers and there was a special musical program.

SACRED HEART CHURCH.

The solemnization of the feast of the Sacred Heart was fittingly observed yesterday at the Sacred Heart church, Moore St., At 10.30 solemn high mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Fr. Lefebvre, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Fr. Murray O. M. I., of the Tewksbury Novitiate as deacon, Rev. Fr. McRory, O. M. I., as sub deacon, and Rev. Fr. Reynolds O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church as master of ceremonies. Fr. Reynolds also preached the sermon. In the procession of the blessed sacrament the novices from the novitiate at Tewksbury participated and sang the Litany and the "Pange Lingua." The children who received their first communion and were confirmed last week, the Sisters of the Sacred Heart school and the altar boys walked in the procession, all carrying banners.

The pastor announced that the proceeds of the recent bazaar amounted to $5010.44. He also announced that a church debt society would be soon formed.

Sunday evening, a triduum preparatory to the feast of St. Anthony of Padua was commenced at this church.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

On Thursday evening, June 29, there will be a lawn party at the Burns residence on Rogers street and Butman road, under the auspices of the Ladies of the Sacred Heart in aid of the new convent.

The Immaculate Conception school will close on Friday, June 23.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated this morning at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of Michael O'Connell. Rev. Fr. Lawrence, O. M. I., was the celebrant.

St. Anthony's Day will be observed tomorrow at the Immaculate Conception church and masses will be celebrated at 5.15, 6.30 and 8 o'clock.

FROM THE WEAVERS.

At the Burke Temperance hall Friday night a testimonial was given by the Brussels carpet weavers of Lowell to Mr. Joseph Casey. He was presented with a handsome gold watch by his co-workers. The presentation was made by President-elect Geo. Farrow, and the following local talent took part in the entertainment: Songs by John Murray, Michael Gorman, May Miller, Glen Wilson, Daniel McCaffrey; negro specialty, George Shanks; harmonica solo, Master Lynch; also duet by the Misses Perrin; songs by Peter Ball and Master Arthur Walker. Committee in charge, Geo. Farrow, chairman; Albert Richardson and Arthur McFayden.

THE NEW CHURCH

Of Pawtucketville Congregational Society.

NOW PRACTICALLY COMPLETED.

Money Subscribed for a New Organ.

The new Pawtucket church is nearly completed. Two of the large memorial windows are in place and the third window on Mammoth road side is being placed in position at present. There are 21 small memorial windows which will be in position before Saturday, the 17th.

The pews are to be in position June 14. When the pews and windows are in, the church will be practically completed. There are in the auditorium 500 sittings. The vestry opens into the auditorium and is capable of seating from 200 to 250. There are sliding doors between the vestry and the auditorium.

The roof of the auditorium is supported by steel trusses, which, with the decorations and memorial windows, give a very pleasing effect.

It was voted at the parish meeting June 7 to purchase a new organ, to be made especially for the church, the money for the same having been pledged. It will probably be some three months before the organ is ready. The church is so arranged as to be very commodious and convenient, nearly all the church work proper being on one floor, the basement containing ladies kitchen, serving room and a banquet hall is capable of seating some 350. There is also a large boiler room for wood and coal. The building will be heated by three large furnaces.

The system of ventilation is such as to give a pure and wholesome air which is relieved of its impurities by a register in the floor adjoining into a large air box, which connects with a large ventilating flue.

The old church and horse sheds will soon be removed or torn down.

JOSEPH F. CONVERY

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL.

Joseph F. Convery, the well known city carpenter and labor organizer, was yesterday chosen president for the ensuing six months and the Trades and Labor Council. The regular meeting was held in the afternoon and other elections were as follows: Vice president, Charles H. McCullough; secretary John J. Mahoney; financial secretary, Daniel Moynahan; treasurer, Albert Ham; sergeant-at-arms, Patrick Kane. After considerable discussion, it was voted to parade on Labor Day. A committee consisting of one from each union was appointed with full power to make all arrangements for the proper observance of the day. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Retiring President Shannon for the able and honest manner in which he performed the duties of his office.

A committee of three was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions and have them framed and presented to ex-President Shannon at the next meeting.

MR. GLIDDEN

ELECTED TO EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Charles H. Glidden was elected a member of the executive committee of the Middlesex club at its meeting in Young's hotel, Boston, Saturday.

NARROW ESCAPE

CHILD STRUCK BY FENDER OF A NASHUA CAR.

But for the skill and cool head of Motorman Michael Rourke of the Nashua electric line, another child's life would have been ground out a short distance from the scene of the Beaurgale accident on Saturday evening. As it was the child was struck and hurled to safety on the fender, which the motorman dropped.

Little Joseph Gisard, aged 4 years, son of Charles Gisard, with numerous other children, was playing in the street in front of his home, 73 Lakeview avenue, when the car which was due in the square at 6.20 came along. The child ran from behind a team directly in front of the car which was in charge of Conductor James Kennedy. The motorman quickly reversed the power, and the fender struck the child who was pushed aside and the only injury was a severe cut in the head. Dr. Vinal was called and made an examination. He found no bones broken and four stitches were needed to close the wound.

Scottish Sovereign Remedies Cure.

The Scottish Doctors' Treatment for Catarrh Warmly Praised.

Mackintosh Scottish Sovereign Remedy Co.: Gentlemen—It is with great pleasure that I give you my testimonial. For some time I have been suffering from that terrible disease, Catarrh. My nostrils were nearly closed, and it was almost impossible to breathe through them. My whole head was badly inflamed, my ears were full of noise, and my sleep very much disturbed. Reading your advt. one morning, I concluded to call at your office and receive trial treatment. The attention paid to clients was such as simply charm. After my first treatment I noticed a decided beneficial effect, I have been using your Catarrh Remedy for about 10 days, and the results have been most marvelous. My head is clear, the noises in it are gone, and I feel like a new being. I advise all suffering with this complaint to use the Scottish Catarrh Specialty and receive the same blessing I have. Yours very truly. CHAS. J. JONES, Roxbury.

The Tax Dodgers,
The Capitalists,
The Aristocrats,
The Idlers,

and the people who cry down Lowell goods and do all their buying in Boston, find plenty of time to read the morning papers.

The Hustlers,
The Bread Winners,
The Toilers,
The Honest Taxpayers,

and the masses who earn their money in Lowell and spend it in Lowell, find time to read the evening paper only, and they read The Sun because it is the best of them all.

Shrewd advertisers who want to reach the buying classes use the columns of the Sun, because it is the people's paper, and because it has a larger circulation than any two other papers in Lowell.

IT IS....
LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

The genuine democrats of the country will be one less when Silver Dick Bland passes away.

There is great trouble over the screen law in Lawrence and other cities. It is giving no trouble whatever in Lowell.

The legislature ended its session leaving two important things undone. These are the abolition of the death penalty and the granting of the franchise to women—still perennial questions.

In another year or two the people will throng the public race tracks to witness not horse races, but speed contests of automobiles, in which the winner will be regarded in much the same light as a successful yacht.

Little Marion Clark, after all, was a gainer by being kidnapped, as the New York Journal divided the $2,050 reward which was offered for the recovery of the lost child between the lady who discovered the child and the child herself.

The news dispatches had it last week that a street car nearly ran over Mark Hanna but we surmise it was Hanna nearly ran over the street car. This modern political colossus strides the earth and ordinary men pass in and out between his legs to find themselves dishonorable graves.

Asphaltina, it should be remembered is but an imitation of the genuine asphalt, just as butterine and oleomargarine are inferior imitations of butter. Asphalt is the material used in all the principal cities of the old world and as yet there has been no imitation produced equal to the original.

Jeffries, if we are to judge by the newspaper pictures of him, is the most formidable pugilist of the lot. He is a man of the John L. Sullivan type when John L. was in his prime. The defeat of Fitzsimmons, if it was honestly achieved, only goes to show that every champion lasts but a while and then passes off the scene to give place to some new comer.

Lowell is apprehensive that under no-license it will be overrun with native wine stores. Judging from Brockton's experience it has no need to be alarmed. Brockton has had such stores but they failed to make any appreciable mark on the temperance record. People who hanker to get drunk do not fool away their money on native wines.—Brockton Enterprise.

Lowell has little to fear from such a source. Anyhow, the native wine industry is not flourishing of late in this vicinity.

The city of Boston has abolished the sanitary division of the street department and given the contract of removing the city's garbage and ashes over to a corporation. A contract has been signed for this purpose and it is the first in which provision has been made for the use of automobile carriages. In the garbage contract now being executed by the city of Lowell, it seems that this new species of vehicle has been overlooked.

The action of Co. M in volunteering its services to the government if required in the Philippine war, is very favorably commented upon throughout the state. This action, we notice, is not copied by very many military companies who saw service in Cuba. The company means all right but it might be employed in a better cause than in trying to rob a struggling nation of its independence.

The death of Frank Thompson, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has alarmed the heads of some of the other combines through the country. It is presumed that his death was hastened by over-exertion in the management of a large concern of which he was the head. In this respect, his death has alarmed many of the trust magnates who have assumed large responsibilities at short notice without any proof of their qualification to manage such concerns. Mr. Thompson was a notable example of the self-made man. He worked his way upward from the very bottom to the highest position in the greatest railway system in the country. There is scarcely anything about a railway that he did not know and it took him 35 years to acquire that knowledge. It will be almost impossible to find a man equally accomplished in railroading to take his place.

The New York Sun, which for some years past has displayed a degree of captious senility, insinuated that the New York Journal or some of its attaches was responsible for the kidnapping of Baby Clark. The Journal is so far ahead of the old-fashioned cantankerous Sun that the latter cannot even imagine the originality and the enterprise which bring such unparalleled success to the Journal. As a newspaper, the New York Sun seems to be suffering from some organic disease which promises to terminate its existence in the near future.

The release and vindication of Dreyfus will bring back into popular favor in France that fearless and distinguished writer, Zola, who was sentenced to prison for stating some facts in connection with the Dreyfus case, and while Dreyfus and Zola will be restored to freedom, Count Esterhazy and Paty du Clam will soon be sent to prison. The French people must have victims and it is very difficult to convince them that they are wrong, no matter how strong the proof.

The surging sea of humanity that called as in an ocean tide on Merrimack Square and vicinity, Friday night, was quite as large as any that ever waited for the returns of a presidential election in this city. Talk about prize fights and the alleged abuse of giving space to them in a newspaper. When the people show as much interest in them as in a national election, it is quite evident that they will seek out the paper that gives them this particular piece of news. If they cannot get it in a local paper, they will find it in some other. That is one of the reasons why The Sun gave such a full account of the fight. The people want the news and that is why the news of the prize fight, with news of every other description is given in the people's paper, the Lowell Sun.

A Kansas girl sent $1 to a New York "specialist" for a sure cure for freckles. This is the recipe which she received: Remove the freckles carefully with a pocket knife; soak them over night in salt water; then hang up in the smoke house in a good strong smoke made of sawdust and slippery elm bark for a week. Freckles thus treated never fail to be thoroughly cured.

A Michigan printer in making up his paper recently had a wedding notice and a delicatessen advertisement mixed, and the following rather startling announcement was the result: John Wilbur and Hannah S. Magee were united in the holy bond of sauerkraut which will be sold by the quart or barrel. Mr. Wilbur is the esteemed codfish at 10 cents; while the bride has nice pigs' feet for display."

Oh! I wish I had a seat
In some sylvan retreat
Where the leaflets hang down
Far away from the town—
And no one may speak or spy.
Oh! were I there,
All divested of care
And likewise of clothes, with a net
Hanging o'er me to keep
Off the skeeters that leap
For joy when you enter their set.
But alas! I must stay
In the city today
And pant and perspire and earn
The cash that we shall blow
In when the summer days go,
For ten tons of fuel to burn.

A North Billerica woman set two hens that hatched out their broods about the same time. One hatched thirteen brown leghorns, the other, twelve Plymouth Rock chicks and one brown leghorn. The leghorn's mother was not fond of the Plymouth Rock chicks and severely chastised them at every opportunity, but claimed the one lone leghorn of the flock, finally taking it with her own brood and not allowing it to go out with the others. Evidently the hen had heard that thirteen was an unlucky number.

Look out for food combinations in this weather. For instance, don't partake of cream pie and cucumbers to any extent at the same meal. The result might not exactly be what is desired. I see a family did so the other day, and found it a knock-out combination. The physicians are now at work on the case. They don't know whether to blame the pie or the cucumbers and they are having very hard work trying to find out. Have some regard for the physicians and don't compel them to labor so desperately. They're not used to it. Always have due consideration for the physician, for he was reared a pet.

Physicians are having an extremely quiet time at present, and not one of the local medicos is finding himself at all rushed. This has been a month of extreme health, and though the doctors have always a certain number of chronic cases and regular patients, the past few weeks have been the quietest for many months. There is not a consultation of [illegible] and the call for medicine has been for such people who [illegible] with [illegible], headaches or other [illegible]. Accidents have been rare, and the several days of extreme heat passed without a case of prostration being brought to a doctor's attention. Their office practice keeps up to a certain extent, and if any time is left, the physician takes an an opportunity to post his books, a habit he is somewhat erratic and irregular in.

Augustin Daly's personality was peculiar. He lived most literally in his theatre, working day and night, indulging in no recreations and devoting himself strictly to his work mentally and physically. He was autocratic on the premises. His rules for players were strict and they had to be obeyed. Such provisions as that no complaint might be made to him morally and his actors must not lounge in Broadway and many other equally singular, were enforced rigidly by means of fines. He was respected for his ability, however, if not loved, and a season under his discipline was as good as a term at school for a novice. He was a recluse, seldom seen in public places and his social associations were few. He was a unique character, a rare blend of visionary and the utilitarian in stage art and all things considered, the greatest American deviser and practicer of stagecraft. Our theatricals owe considerable of their marked progress within the past quarter of a century to him.

GOLD BRICK

WORKED ON A WOMAN IN THIS CITY.

The gold brick swindle on a small scale, it is alleged, was successfully worked not far from the new postoffice recently. The alleged offender has not been arrested. A young married woman of good family had been aware that money was to come to her some day through a distant relative. She was induced by a neighbor to visit a fortune teller. The young woman says the fortune teller requested her to bring him five $5 gold pieces which he would place in a specially made bag which she was to wear about her neck nights.

The effect, the fortune teller informed her, would be that the date of the fortune coming to her would be revealed in a dream. The young woman says she complied with the fortune teller's wish. The bag she wore several nights without result. She then opened the bag, she says, and found five 5-cent pieces bronzed.

At first the young woman was not inclined to tell her husband, but when she found the fortune teller had removed from Lowell, she did. While he laughed at the easy manner in which she was duped the young woman says he is as anxious as she to find the fortune teller.

THE RESULTS OF NO-LICENSE.

Previous to May 1, this poor fellow was bloated in body and stupid in mind from continual beer guzzling. People used to laugh at him as he passed by.

By the end of May he began to shrink in size and gradually assume a natural shape and come to his senses. In this stage he used to laugh at himself.

Today he is reduced to normal proportions. He is bright in mind and respectable in appearance. Now he laughs at the liquor dealer.

IN SELFE DEFENSE

David Davis Killed His Son-In-Law.

THE TWO MEN HAD QUARRELED.

The Assailant Gave Himself up to Police.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

KEENE, N. H., June 12.—The second homicide in Cheshire county within ten days occurred Saturday afternoon about 15 miles from here in the town of Winchester. The scene of the killing is a somewhat isolated spot on a stream known as Broad Brook on a road about three miles from the village of Winchester and nearly the same distance from the village of Ashuelot in the same town. The highway continues on to the town of Chesterfield.

About 3 p. m., David D. Davis, a farmer and lumberman living at the spot named, drove into Winchester with a steaming horse and surrendered himself to the authorities, stating that he had shot and probably killed Ernest Maddox, who lived in the same house with him. He left his victim alive but thought he could not survive more than an hour.

The man was placed in confinement and Deputy Sheriff Rixford, H. W. Brigham and Dr. George W. Pierce and Dr. Cast were driven to the scene, where they found the victim lying in a pool of blood in the house dead.

Davis told an apparently straightforward story of the killing, from which it appears that a quarrel arose between the men about 1 p. m., over a young woman from Swanzey, who had ridden out to the place on her bicycle, and to whom Maddox was paying much attention in the presence of the family. Mrs. Maddox is a stepdaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davis. The latter remonstrated with Maddox for his conduct, but without avail. Mr. Davis finally took part and a violent quarrel ensued, during which both men went outside the house. Maddox finally became so enraged that he seized an axe and attempted to assault Davis, but the latter seized a shotgun and fired a charge over the young man's head, hoping to avoid further trouble. He took the precaution, however, to reload his gun. In a few minutes, Maddox rushed into the house with another and a [illegible] axe in his hands and made a [illegible] for Davis threatening to split his head open. Mrs. Davis stepped between the belligerents and attempted to wrench it from the infuriated man's grasp. He fought desperately for the weapon and was twisting it away from the woman's hold when the old man fired at him, the charge taking effect in his abdomen. Maddox fell to the floor mortally wounded.

[illegible] house [illegible] aid [illegible] but before his victim was dying, harnessed his horse and drove rapidly to Winchester to give himself up.

FAST TIME

MADE IN THE HOMING CLUB FLY SATURDAY.

The fly of the Lowell Homing club on Saturday was from Philadelphia to Lowell, 292 miles. Sixteen birds competed. Dyer had nine birds, Youngjohns five, and Fletcher and Murphy, [illegible] each. The birds were liberated at 5:20 a. m., with fair weather. One of Youngjohns' birds was the only one to reach Lowell at 2:31 p. m. The average speed of that bird was 958 yards per minute. The next fly will be from Washington, D. C., June 17.

TOOK THE FIRST

The Bostons Made a Grand Finish.

DOHENY PITCHED GOOD BALL.

Doyle's Errors Were Very Costly.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 12.—In the sixth inning of the game with Champion Boston at the polo ground this afternoon, Doheny, who pitched for the Giants, became wild and erratic, and the result was two runs for Captain Duffy's men that they shouldn't have got. In the ninth, Doyle dropped two throws on first and these errors started the champions on the road to victory, for three runs came in right afterward and the Giants lost a game that every one of the 2500 spectators felt they had practically won.

Up to that fatal Sixth Doheny had pitched wonderful ball. He had great speed and a low ishnoot at which the champions lunged in vain. Long made a scratch hit off him in the first inning. In the second inning he struck out Lowe and Stafford and in the third, after giving Clarke first on balls, he struck out Killen, Tenney and Long. Stahl having got his base on Wilson's fumble. That was splendid work and Doheny was enthusiastically applauded. In the fourth he struck out Collins and Stafford, making a record for the four inning of seven strike outs and it really seemed to the cranks as though he were destined to make the strike-out record for the season.

But the sixth inning dispelled the illusion.

The Giants, in the meantime, had made a couple of runs, and that fact, along with Doheny's great pitching, beguiled the spectators into the belief that they were on easy street.

The score by innings:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Boston	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	3	—5
New York	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	0	—4

Earned run—New York. Stolen bases—Duffy 2, Lowe. Sacrifice hit—Gleason. Double play—Hartman and Warner. First base on balls—Off Doheny 7, off Killen 2. Hit by pitched ball—Grady, Warner, Stahl, Collins. Struck out—By Doheny 9, by Killen 2. Passed balls—Clarke, Warner. First base on errors—New York 1, Boston 5. Left on bases—New York 8, Boston 12. Time—2h. 15m. Umpires Lynch and Warner. Attendance 2500.

The other games resulted as follows:
Pittsburg 6, Louisville 1.
Pittsburg 5, Louisville 4.
Chicago 2, St. Louis 0.

The result of yesterday's games is as follows:
Chicago 2, St. Louis 1.
Cincinnati 8, Louisville 2.
Cincinnati 19, Louisville 1.

HARVARD MAN

IS BADLY WANTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—Members of the corps of inspectors under Chief Watts at police headquarters, with officers of the Hanover street station are devoting much of their time just now in an attempt to locate the whereabouts of Robert Walstein, a Harvard medical student, on charges of embezzlement of fully $5000 from various persons, and also that of passing forged checks on the officials of the Blackstone National bank.

Young Walstein is 23 years old and is the son of Abraham Walstein, one of the wealthiest Hebrews in the North End, who lives at 6 Cooper street. Through the peculations of his son, now a fugitive from justice, Mr. Walstein loses fully $4000, while Julius Rottenberg, a well known steamship agent conducting a business at 115 Salem street, is out a cool $1150. Other merchants in the North End, it is claimed, have also been taken in for various amounts, and all the money was obtained through forged checks, made out of paper of the Blackstone National bank, at the corner of Blackstone and Hanover streets, where Mr. Walstein, Sr., had an account.

COL. ALLEN COMING.

Hon. Charles H. Allen will return to his home in this city during the next ten days and will spend a part of the summer in Lowell. His family will probably go to Magnolia for the summer.

NEW SOUTHERN PLANT

OF THE MERRIMACK MILLS NEAR HUNTSVILLE, ALA.

The Merrimack Manufacturing company is to place 20,000 spindles and 2500 looms in Madison County near Huntsville, Ala., and will soon commence work on the plant. The citizens of Huntsville have donated a sum of $5000 to buy a site for the plant thus securing the location in the immediate vicinity of their town. The plant is to be established in separate mills of 25,000 spindles, 700 looms each, and plans for the first one are nearly ready and contracts for erection will be awarded soon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hart of No. 91 Exeter street went to New York, Friday, to attend the ordination of John J. Wickes to the priesthood. They will visit Wilmington, Delaware, and Philadelphia before returning home.

Office, Lowell, Mass.

TOMORROW AFTEROOON.

We have, after mature deliberation decided to advertise and sell our real estate, known as the C. P. COGGESHALL PROPERTY and numbered 15 Fenn Street. It is much larger than we need and more valuable property than we can afford to occupy. In pursuance of our decision to sell, we shall on Tuesday next, June 13th, at five o'clock in the afternoon, offer without reserve [illegible] real estate [illegible] consisting of the lot, two and one-half story [illegible] house and [illegible] containing [illegible] two sheds, [illegible] and a great number of [illegible] closets. The house is in [illegible] condition [illegible] and is very convenient, is attractively finished and a remarkably solid and substantial structure. Full set of double windows, screens and doors.

The stable has room for [illegible] horses, four carriages and wagons, [illegible] room and the loft [illegible] is in good condition and a heavy, strong building. There are large [illegible] cellars under the house and stable.

THE LOT has a frontage of [illegible] feet, a depth of [illegible] feet, an area of [illegible] square feet, is level, has some fruit trees, shrubbery, etc., concrete walk, etc., is laid down to a fine lawn and is a prime parcel of land.

THE ESTATE is located in one of the finest localities in its section of Lowell. It is a very good and highly respectable holding property and should prove a very inviting [illegible] to almost any real estate investor. The speculator could very easily turn this estate into a paying property and derive from it a very handsome return. House open for inspection after 10 a. m. on day of sale.

The purchaser must deposit with or send to the auctioneers $150 as soon as the property is struck off, other terms very easy.

WAR INEVITABLE

If Pres. Kruger Does Not Recede

SITUATION IN TRANSVAAL IS SERIOUS.

A Mass Meeting of Uitlanders Held.

AMBASSADOR CHOATE'S VIEWS

Relative to Mediation by United States.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 10—It is not improbable that the crisis in the Transvaal will be hastened today by some untoward incident at Johannesburg. J. B. Robinson, the South African millionaire and mine owner, received a telegram today from his agent at Johannesburg, saying the situation there is most serious. The agent adds that a mass meeting of Uitlanders would be held today in order to confirm and support the proposals of the British High commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner. As open air meetings are not allowed without permission, it is not improbable if the necessary permission is not obtained that the police will endeavor to stop the meeting.

The concensus of opinion among prominent Uitlanders and South African capitalists in London is that the British government is in a tight fix, that it cannot retreat from its position and that if President Kruger does not recede, war is inevitable.

Regarding the suggestion that the United States be asked to mediate between the Transvaal and Great Britain Mr. Joseph Choate, the United States ambassador, says:

"While every good American would welcome the possibility of helping a solution of the present situation, we have not been approached in the matter and I, personally, konw nothing of the proposed mediation by America."

An official of the foreign office, in conversation with the Associated Press said:

"We have not approached America, nor has America approached us in this matter and it is very unlikely that America will be asked to do anything of the kind, much as we value the good feeling existing between the two countries."

A GRAND REVIEW

Queen Will See Thousands of Troops

Mrs. Maybrick's Case Demands the Attention of Society for the Amendment of Criminal Law—Mrs. Choate Has a Busy Week.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 10.—The splendid weather of the past week brought fashionable people to the parks and streets and has given London a very gay appearance. The heat of the early part of the week has been tempered by cool breezes during the last couple of days.

THE ASCOT RACES.

Everyone is now looking forward to the Ascot races where a very large attendance is expected although fewer houses around Ascot have been taken. The Prince of Wales will entertain a bachelors party at Heath House, and the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Beckett at Ascot. The Duke and Duchess of Westminster, the Duke and Duchess of Portland and the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire will entertain big parties."

Ascot, however, will be shorn of its leading feature by the omission of the royal procession up the course each day. The Prince of Wales and the other royalties will drive to the course privately, the queen having prohibited the procession in order to mark the family mourning for Prince Alfred of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and the queen of Denmark.

THE QUEEN'S REVIEW.

Great preparations are being made for the big review of troops at Aldershot, June 25, by the queen. The ceremony will take place in Laffan's plain and about 11,400 troops will participate in it. There will be 14 infantry battalions and a magnificent cavalry division drawn from the guards and other crack regiments.

Her Majesty this week invited a travelling circus which was passing near Balmoral, to give a performance in the park and the Queen, the guests of the castle and the tenantry and servants witnessed the show.

SOCIETY IS INTERESTED.

Society is intensely interested in the coming great bazaar at Albert Hall in aid of the Charing Cross hospital which is expected to net at least $250,000. People moving in the highest ranks of society will give their services in the stalls, Mrs. Paget and Mrs. Ronalds being the soul of the affair. The American stall which will be decorated gorgeously with American colors will be attended by Mesdames Choate, Bradley Martin and Ronalds and Miss Drexel. Mrs. Paget's American bar and flower stall is a most novel arrangement in papier mache. She has obtained gifts of the choicest exotics from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Baron Schroeder and other famous growers.

Col. Arthur Paget visited the stock exchange and sent his hat around to defray the expense of boarding over the floor of Albert Hall and netted $59,000 and the Earl and Countess of Craven and Mrs. Bradley Martin levied contributions of unique and valuable pieces of silver among their friends for sale at the American stall.

Lady Randolph Churchill has definitely secured the services of Mesdames Patti, Melba, Nordica, Navada and the other stars for the concert which is to be held on the first day, and Beerbohm Tree has secured Sir Henry Irving, George Alexander, John Hare, the Kendalls and others for the second day's entertainment.

The Queen is a patroness of the bazaar. It is the first time she has acted as patroness of a bazaar in years. She accepted upon this occasion because her first patronage when she was 14 years old was given for the Charing Cross hospital.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S CASE.

The society for the amendment of criminal law met this week under the presidency of Sir Charles Cameron. The members are keenly interested in the case of Mrs. Maybrick. They include Lord James of Hereford, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Augustine Berrell, the famous Chancery barrister and author, Justice Vaughan-Williams and Matthew Wright. Sir Charles Cameron, who is well known as a prison reformer, said to a representative of The Associated Press:

"The Maybrick case is one of the planks of our society's platform and now that Sir Matthew White Ridley, secretary of state to the home department, is reviving the case by Lord Salisbury's direction and through the pressure of the American government, exerted through their excellent ambassador, it can only be a matter of a short time in my opinion before her unconditional release. Until then, this strong society will never cease to back up all efforts in that direction."

MRS. CHOATE'S BUSY WEEK.

Mr. Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassador, and Mrs. Choate, and Mr. Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy, and Mrs. White and Mr. James R. Carter, second secretary of the United States embassy, and Mrs. Carter, attended the reception and dance given by the Marquis of Lansdown, the secretary of war, on Wednesday, which was one of the most brilliant events of the season.

Mr. Choate has had an exceedingly busy week, with the Alaskan negotiations. Incidentally a publisher named Sands announced his intentions to collect and publish Mr. Choate's "Bon Mots," and anecdotes as "Choate's Jest Book." But Mr. Choate expostulated with the result that the book was suppressed.

The Prince of Wales' cutter Brittania in view of the arrangements made for her to sail test races against the America's cup challenger Shamrock, is being prepared for commission at Cowes, Isle of Wight, with all despatch. Her mast was stepped this week and the yacht is now in dry dock, being recalked and recoppered. Sir Thomas Lipton, who has been cruising on the south coast in his steam yacht Erin, has taken a number of photographs of the wrecked steamer Paris.

THE CUP CHALLENGER.

Mr. Charles Russell tells the Associated Press that all work on the cup challenger is proceeding very smoothly, and that a fine craft is emerging from Fife's ideas, which are being faithfully adhered to, and whatever her racing merits may prove to be, the Shamrock will be as perfect a model yacht in construction as ever entered a great race.

CRAVEN WAS FINED.

The Honorable Rupert Cecil Craven has been fined in the Marlebone police court for kicking a lawyer out of his house, Bingham lodge, where he served a petition on Craven's wife, against whom charges are made, pending a divorce suit. Craven allowed the clerk to serve the petition and then kicked him out of the door. Craven is a brother-in-law of the Countess of Craven, and he was his brother's best man at the wedding.

ON THE RACE COURSE.

Mr. Richard Croker has made his first appearance on a race course since his arrival in England, to witness his horse run at the Brighton meeting on Thursday.

Tod Sloan has given the newspapers a letter he received from New York, signed S. A. Decker, demanding $250 under a threat of exposing the jockey as using the writer's invention of an electric battery to win races on bad horses. The writer says:

"We are stopped here by the law and now you are reaping the fruits of our inventions. I think it time to step in and call you down."

Justin McCarthy had a cataract on his right eye removed on Thursday at the Royal Eye hospital, and is now progressing satisfactorily.

TRIED TO SUICIDE

Edward Murphy Cut His Throat

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SPENCER, Mass., June 10.—Edward Murphy, a dresser tender at Beebe & Webbers woolen mill attempted suicide by cutting his throat early this morning after setting fire to the boarding house in which he lived. The man was heard to fall to the floor and the occupants of the house were able to put out the fire. Murphy will live. No reason can be assigned for the crime except insanity.

GHASTLY FIND

PORTION OF MAN'S BODY FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 10.—A ghastly find was made this morning in the water off the Crescent Athletic club at the foot of 85th street, Bay Ridge. It was that portion of a man's body between the waist and ankles, the missing parts having evidently been severed with some sharp instrument. The police are investigating the matter.

BAD ACCIDENT

ELECTRIC CAR THROWN FROM THE TRACKS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 10.—At 8.20 this morning an electric car in charge of Conductor Jerald Cook and Motorman James McEwen, broke two journals on Prospect street, causing the car to fall on one side in the middle of the street. McEwen and Cook were badly hurt and McEwen lost his left arm by having it caught under the corner post of the car.

SATURDAY'S GOLF

REV. C. W. HUNTINGTON WON LONGMEADOW CHAMPIONSHIP

The Longmeadow Golf club of this city had a handicap tournament, medal play Saturday afternoon. Rev. C. W. Huntington took first prize with a gross score of 67, handicap 12, net 55. Henry Wilder won second prize, his net score being 61.

THE VESPERS WON.

The Newton Centre Golf club's team was defeated by eight holes by the Vesper Country club team at the latter's grounds at Tyng's Island Saturday afternoon. The scores:

Vespers—Chadwick, 2; Ramsey, 10; Bean, 0; Corwin, 1; Thorp, 2; Grover, 0; totals, 15.

Newton Centre—Noyes, 0; Wilkie, 0; Allen, 0; Boyce, 0; Merrill, 0; Wadsworth, 7; total, 7.

LAWYER BATTLE

Makes a New Move in Molineux Case.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 10.—George Gordon Battle, of counsel for Roland B. Molineux, charged with causing the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams, appeared before Justice Gildersleeve in Supreme court chambers today and obtained writs of prohibition, habeas corpus and certiorari in the case, citing Justice Jerome of the Court of Special Sessions and District Attorney Gardiner to appear before Justice Gildersleeve Monday morning to show cause why Roland B. Molineux is detained in prison. The writ of prohibition sets forth that inasmuch as the grand jury could review the case without an order of the court of general sessions, an inferior magistrate is without jurisdiction. The writ of habeas corpus orders Warden Hagan to produce Molineux in court Monday and the writ of certiorari reviews the proceedings before Magistrate Jerome yesterday.

The latter embarked on the war ship at 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

KILLARNEY LAKES

Will be Purchased by New York Syndicate.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 10.—James Booth-by Burke-Roche, member of parliament for West Kerry, Ireland, who has been in this country several months, attending to personal business, yesterday laid before Mayor Van Wyck, James J. Coogan and several other gentlemen interested, a distinct proposition for the purchase of the estate in Ireland which includes Muckross Abbey and the famous Lakes of Killarney. Muckross Abbey is a fine old ruin, dating from the fifteenth century and the Killarney Lakes are noted among tourists the world over as one of the most beautiful and picturesque bits of scenery in all Europe.

It was learned recently that the estate was on the market and a number of enthusiastic Irish-Americans in this city, moved by patriotic sentiment conceived the plan of purchasing the property and turning it into a great public park to remain forever the heritage of the Irish people.

Mr. Burke Roche, accompanied by Col. John E. Fitzgerald, the Tammany Hall orator, called on Mayor Van Wyck at city hall early in the afternoon and President James J. Coogan was at once called into the conference.

Mr. Burke Roche informed the gentlemen that he had an option on the Herbert estate in West Kerry, including the abbey and the lakes for $120,000. The estate was mortgaged for the full value more than fifty years ago by Harry Herbert to a Scotch insurance company, which now owns it.

Professor Fenwick Umpleby will go to Europe to make a special study of the Technical and Textile schools of Germany, France and England.

Prof. Umpleby has had five years' experience in English Textile colleges and three years with the Lowell Textile school; also 20 years of practical experience in the mill as superintendent, designer, etc., and he should know what to look for, that will be of advantage and benefit to his department in the Lowell Textile school.

GLORIA

IS NOT A MEDICINE.

Love tickled the young man's ribs one day,
He scratched and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble as his from the start,
He had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of the difficulty;
Young lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother an' sisters will come along too,
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

BRIDAL GOWNS ARE CONSIDERABLY TRIMMED, AND VERY FINE LACE APPLIQUES ARE STITCHED UPON THE FRONT BREADTH

WEDDING DRESSES OF THIS MONTH.

Satin is Still the Conventional But it is Veiled by Thin Gauzes.

SUEDE KIDS ARE WORN.

The Wedding Dress Can be Made of Light Goods Lined With Thin Silk.

The June bride is in our midst.

If you do not believe it spend a day upon the street corner where you can command a view of the fashionable church. The bridal procession demands a middle aisle, and churches that have no middle aisles are unpopular these days from a bridal point of view.

The June bride is very expensive, as hitherto, but a great deal of the expense is put upon her linings, which are irreproachable.

A certain June bride will wear French nuns' veiling, which is not in itself a very expensive fabric; and the lisse ruffles with which it will be trimmed are by no means costly; yet the gown will be expensive owing to the fact that it is lined throughout with the most expensive satin, pure white and elegantly finished, with the inside as fine as the outside.

Or she can be more heavily dressed in white silk, white satin, white brocade or silk henrietta. All of these are very beautiful when made up in the season's styles with skirt trimmed with lace, bodice ruffled and also trimmed with lace, and shirred sleeves.

The veil is a universal ornament. It is so softening that it is deservedly more and more a favorite. Many of the very inexpensive veils made of fine net or tarlatan can be trimmed entirely with the very tiniest ruching of chiffon.

The all-lace veil is such an expensive luxury that it is hardly to be mentioned. The veil which the Princess Christian loaned Miss Virginia Ronyngo on her marriage to a titled Englishman was of India lace so sheer that it could be drawn through a bracelet; and the veil which Mrs. Bradley Martin has in keeping for her new daughter-in-law is of point lace with a large floral design in the centre, the leaves extending to the border of the veil, which is made in a design of orange blossoms.

Something of a new fad is for the pineapple lace of the Philippines. This could be easily drawn through a finger ring. Every belle in the Philippines owns a pineapple shawl, and to make one is the work of a lifetime. It is made of tiny silk threads worked in pineapple design.

Brides are taking advantage of the lace designs which can be purchased ready to be stitched upon a wedding gown. These can be bought at any price from $5 to $100, and they can be selected in points or scallops. The points are much used upon the front breadths of the wedding gowns. If scallops are is so fine that a shawl two yards square chosen they are used for the sides and foot.

WHITE SATIN.

The demand for clinging effects welcomes wedding gowns of crepe de chine, silk muslin and the oddly woven Liberty silks; and to most figures they undoubtedly prove more becoming than the severer lines of the satin or panit de role. Veils, too, have taken on a little the fashion of the frills, some of tulle showing two tiny ruffles of tulle edging instead of one. These are arranged on the head with a puffed crown, and the dainty ruffles falling over the pompadour.

A very becoming wedding gown was of ivory satin, with Brussels lace insertion and Liberty gauze. The bodice was of satin, closely fitted and opened in front over a narrow V-shaped vest of tucked gauze and lace. Ruchings of gauze trimmed the fronts. They were carried across the tops of the sleeves. From these ruches depended two long sash ends, edged with ruchings, which crossed under a narrow satin girdle, and flowed uncombined to a few inches above the foot ruffle.

WEDDING SLEEVES.

The sleeves were of plain satin to the elbow, continuing down over the hand with draped gauze.

A sheath-like skirt laced at the back over tiny white satin-covered buttons; a deep ruche edged ruffle and three bands of Brussels lace completed the garniture.

The tiny flower girl's costume was of white point d'esprit trimmed with val lace. It was worn over a pink taffeta slip, instead of ribbons. Two full blown roses were tied on each side of her parted hair. She carried a scarf of pink Liberty silk filled with pink roses. The corresponding page wore a sailor suit of white serge.

At a recent wedding the color scheme was carried out in green and white, the groom's college colors. The bridesmaids' dresses of white silk muslin were worn over pale leaf-green taffeta, and large white tulle hats were massed with pure white roses. The yokes of these dresses were of puffed silk muslin and just below this was a broad band of Irish point lace across the back and making a surplice effect in front, the crossed ends under the sash of silk muslin forming points on each hip. The rest of the bodice was covered with plaited muslin.

The sheath skirt was cut high in front and rounding down in the back. This was finished with several rows of narrow white satin ribbon and the two deep flounces below had the same ribbon trimming. The elbow sleeves were finished with another ribbon-edged flounce as were also the sash ends.

CHIFFON OVER TAFFETA.

Another pretty wedding dress was made of chiffon over white taffeta. A yoke and collar of Alencon lace fitted high up at the throat over a blouse of finely tucked chiffon.

A full blouse of silk scarcely covered with chiffon half concealed this opening from the front. It was edged with chiffon ruchings. The sleeve caps corresponded. Transparent sleeves of gathered chiffon fell half way over the hands. The skirt was made in the habit style, and opened on the left front under a cloud of chiffon ruffles.

MRS. BRYAN TO OUR LADY READERS.

A LETTER FROM MRS. BRYAN.

She Says She Does Not Care to Decide Just Now What She Will do in the Future.

"What has become of Mrs. Bryan?"

This is the query which was made to the editor of this newspaper a few days ago. The editor, who tries to keep posted on all matters of a feminine nature, decided to write to Mrs. Bryan and put the question to her candidly.

During William J. Bryan's political campaign three years ago none was more ardent than his wife. Wherever Mr. Bryan went Mrs. Bryan went also, and when he stood upon the car platform and received the cheers of his admirers Mrs. Bryan was called out to share the applause with him. She was certainly a helpmeet; and women who did not share her political feelings had no hesitation in calling her a woman of great intelligence.

At that time Mrs. Bryan left her interesting little family of three children at home in the care of relatives and devoted her time to her husband. It was quietly said that she wrote his speeches; but then the same is said of every orator who has a literary wife; and Mrs. Bryan had previously shown her literary bent by contributions to various periodicals. Mrs. John A. Logan at one time, you will remember, was charged with writing her husband's lectures; and everybody said that Lady Randolph Churchill knew how to use a pen in the days when her husband was doing so much writing. But then the gossips will talk!

It is almost two years since Mrs. Bryan has been seen conspicuously in the East, or, in fact, outside her own home. During Colonel Bryan's illness at the front, she came on and took care of him, going back almost immediately to her home in Lincoln, Neb. The Lincoln home is a very pretty one. By no means luxurious, yet extremely comfortable. Outside it shows the touches of a woman's hand and at this season it is covered with the green of the Boston vines. Inside it is an ideal home and you do not wonder that Colonel Bryan is always in a hurry to get through with his work so as to get back home.

So, not hearing of Mrs. Bryan of late and receiving numerous inquiries about her of which the above is one, the editor of this newspaper wrote her a little letter and received this letter in reply:

LADY WILLIAM VERNON-HARCOURT, A TITLED AMERICAN WOMAN OF POSITION.

MOTLEY'S DAUGHTER IN ENGLISH SOCIETY.

The Wife of Sir William Vernon Harcourt is Called the "Lady Lion Tamer."

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, leader of the anti-Balfour forces in Parliament, has an American wife, though the fact is not generally known or heralded, as in the case of Lady Curzon, Lady Naylor-Leyland, Lady Randolph Churchill and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, though she is as American as to parentage as any of them.

Lady Harcourt began life as the petted daughter of John Motley, the historian. Motley was a Boston man and his daughter was taught Bostonese of the most pronounced type. To this day she is distinctly correct in conversation, absolutely reliable in word, exquisitely well read and neat to a fault.

Motley, you remember, was Minister to Russia, and afterwards Minister to Austria. His last foreign post was that of Minister to England. His daughter visited all these countries with him, and was at his side when he wrote his history of Wilhelmina's country and the well-known English works. She married Mr. Ives, but was widowed, and then she married Sir William Vernon Harcourt, one of the wealthiest and most influential men in England.

Lady Harcourt is so English in her tastes that she is accused of forgetting her own country, but though she has forsaken it in body, she never forgets it herself, and is the soul of kindness to all American girls living in England. When they enter English social circles she is the first one to dine them, and if they are timid she gently puts them forward. She has presented many at Court, so she is unobtrusively yet distinctly an American in the Court of St. James.

Before his marriage to his present wife Sir Harcourt was voted the most disagreeable man in England. There is a story of how six men, mitting to give a dinner, agreed that each was to ask as his guest the most disagreeable person he knew. No excuses were to be exchanged, leaving untrammelled the curiosity that centred upon the meeting which each man would be able to see wherein his particular selection was excelled. Covers were laid for twelve, but only seven sat down.

Each man had asked Vernon Harcourt.

He was called "the English lion," a great man so great that he had no need to be affable; and strange tales were told shiveringly of the dinners that were given by him when he sat silent throughout six courses, absolutely speechless, while his guests conversed in frightened whispers.

But when Lady Harcourt came upon the scene all was changed. She refurnished the old Harcourt mansion and introduced color and the reading matter of the day into it. She began giving charming entertainments at which Sir William was genuinely itself. His face, beaming across the table upon Lady Harcourt, expressed contentment with the world. London society called her "the lion tamer" and she heard it and laughed.

Lady Harcourt is so distinctly English that she knows politics well, as all English women do, yet she never meddles. She converses well and fluently upon them but she is by no means the centre of the circle, as Lady Randolph Churchill always is. She is not a fascinating talker, but a very well-informed one. Differing from Lady Curzon, who fascinates by her beauty, and from the Duchess of Marlborough, who spends a fortune upon her guests, she makes an admirable contrast to other American "girls" abroad.

Lady Harcourt is rich in her own right, the income from her father's books being a steady one. She expends her money upon the typical English qualities, and has an ever open purse. Her name is always on the list of benefactresses and patronesses, and, like Mary Anderson, she has become so localized and acclimated that the English women include her in the societies as one of themselves.

A CUP OF COFFEE IN THE LAND OF WILHELMINA AND HOW TO BREW THE REAL HOLLAND DRAUGHT.

In the land of Wilhelmina the ladies drink coffee as the women of England drink tea, not as a stimulant but as if they liked it. They say that coffee, out of Holland, is not coffee at all, and they point to the islands of Borneo, Java and Sumatra to prove that Wilhelmina has, right in her own possessions, the great coffee producing islands of Europe. And such a variety of ways of making coffee as they have in Holland! The most progressive ladies have the French coffee pot through which the coffee is drained. The boiling water is poured through the powdered coffee and a thin extract of pure coffee is produced. But that is not the Dutch way.

Dutch coffee is boiled in a Dutch tin coffee pot, of squatty design. The coffee is placed inside in a perforated silver cup and the boiling water is poured upon it. The pot quickly simmers and by-and-by you get a clear, dark, rather thick drink.

The homes of the poor have a coffee pot which is Turkish in design. It consists of a big metal pot upon the end of a metal rod. The coffee is covered with cold water and the pot tightly closed. It is held over the fire until it boils, when it is very good coffee indeed.

Tastes in coffee differ in Holland as in this country. An old East-of-Holland recipe is for covering the coffee at night with cold water. In the morning it is placed upon the stove and gently brought to boiling point. This is an economical recipe and one to be recommended for those who like boiled coffee.

Holland ladies delight in owning a vast supply of coffee pots and they keep them on exhibition as careful housewives keep their tins for cups on shelves.

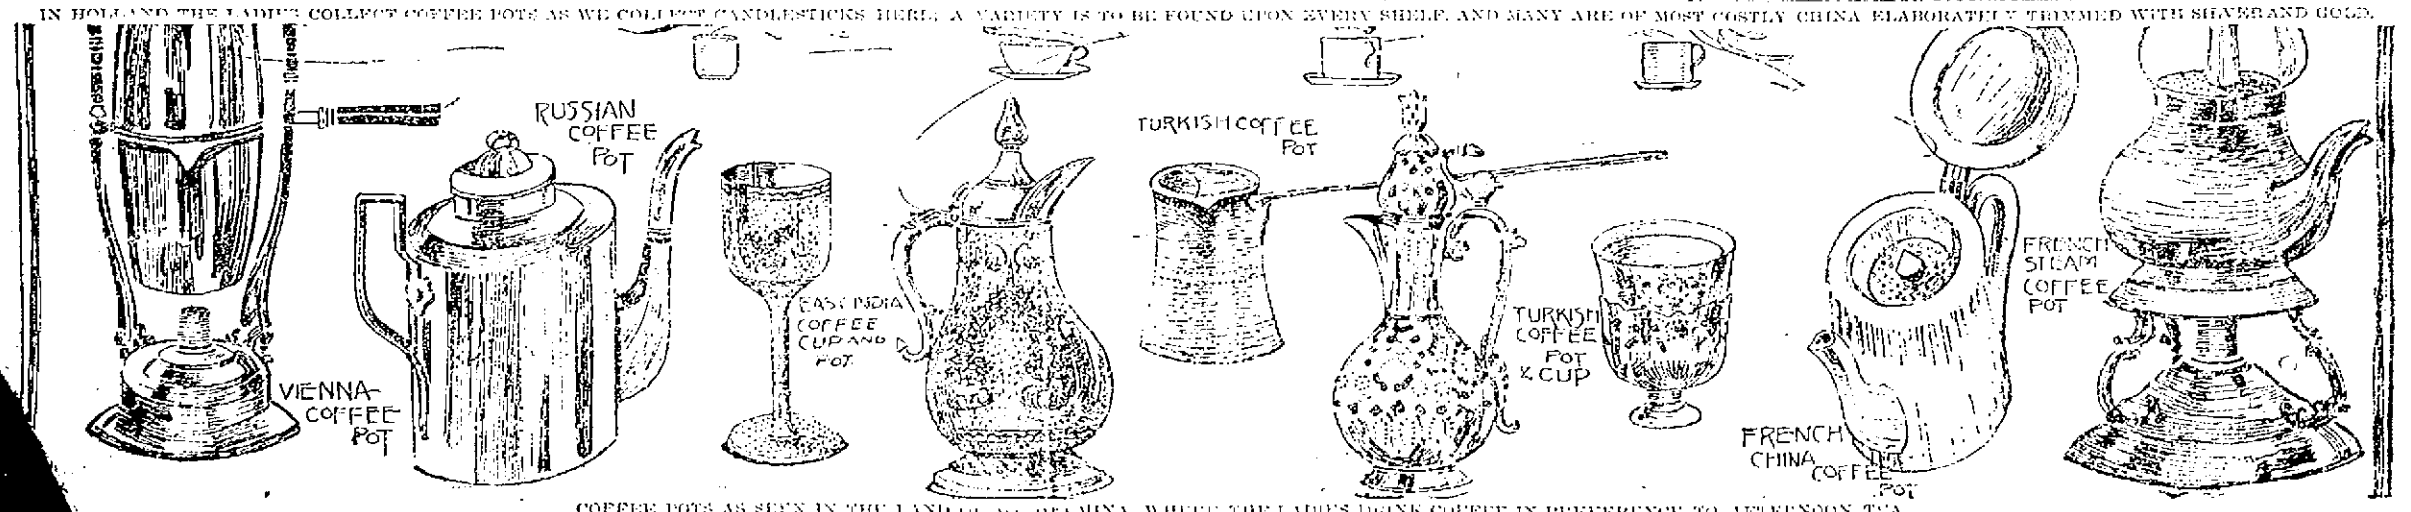

In Amsterdam they serve afternoon coffee in an East Indian pot. This looks exactly like a jug or pitcher. The cover, which is of metal, fits the top tightly. The jug is well heated with hot water and the coffee is quickly poured, already brewed, into it. It is then brought into the drawing-room upon a tray with tall goddess out of which the coffee is taken. The goddess have heavy earthen handles which do not heat the fingers.

It is becoming very fashionable now, in these Hollandese days, to own a variety of coffee pots which are kept in use. It is claimed that the family appetite is wonderfully whetted and the family respect is improved by the change in table service. The same old coffee pot gets monotonous. The old coffee which was sometimes boiled upon, will distract.

Wilhelmina buys many pieces of china; she goes shopping afternoons with her mother and stops at the smartest shops. She has put aside many of the old like services and has—to the grief of the old-time ladies who have been attached to the palace since the days of her father—substituted several gold sets.

A very smart young woman of Gotham makes her coffee with a pestle and mortar. Her brew simmers the while. The mashed beans are placed in the orifice of a queer looking old Vienna coffee pot and water is poured through them. Result, a fine clear cup of coffee too delicate to require cream.

IN HOLLAND THE LADIES COLLECT COFFEE POTS AS WE COLLECT CANDLESTICKS HERE. A VARIETY IS TO BE FOUND UPON EVERY SHELF, AND MANY ARE OF MOST COSTLY CHINA ELABORATELY TRIMMED WITH SILVER AND GOLD.

COFFEE POTS AS SEEN IN THE LAND OF WILHELMINA, WHERE THE LADIES DRINK COFFEE IN PREFERENCE TO AFTERNOON TEA.

THE S.C.W. MEET

Largely Attended at Fair Grounds Saturday

INTERESTING EVENTS RAN OFF.

Hamilton and Keegan Prominent Among Winners.

There was a large delegation of bicycle enthusiasts at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon to witness the seventh race meet of the Spindle City Wheelmen of this city. At half past two there was very little room on the grand stand and the track was lined with people, some hanging on to the fence, while others were crowded on the band stand and every available place was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Claude Hamilton of the Shoe City Wheelmen of Brockton, formerly of Lowell, was the hero of the day. Every time that he appeared on the track he was greeted with loud cheers and clapping from the audience. He won the half mile open and the one mile handicap, but he had to give up the five mile handicap on account of the large handicap that the other men had on him.

The first event run off was the first heat of the one-mile novice. Nine men started with three to qualify, and at the first turn on the second lap, J. J. Baker and J. W. Lynch, both of this city, collided and were thrown heavily to the ground. Baker escaped with a few scratches, but Lynch broke his wrist and cut his face badly.

In the second heat of the one-mile novice, L. Arnold won with ease, for when he was within thirty yards of the tape he sat up straight and rode across the mark an easy victor. In this heat A. Stanley of this city was thrown just after crossing the tape.

The next event was the first trial heat in the one-mile handicap. Claude Hamilton of Brockton was on scratch but caught up with the bunch before the half mile post was reached. Lefevre and Keegan, the two limit men, started off at a hot pace changing pace every once in a while and it looked for a time as if they were to shake the rest of the riders, but at the beginning of the last half mile, the bunch caught up with them and kept pretty close together until the last eighth, when Hamilton started to sprint with Keegan right on his rear wheel. They kept a hot sprint right up to the tape and Hamilton crossed the tape a winner with about two feet to spare.

In the second heat of the one-mile handicap, the riding was slower than in the first heat, but on the home stretch a very hot clip was hit up.

Next came the final of the one-mile novice with nine starters. J. J. O'Donnell being allowed to ride on account of setting the pace in the first heat; Lynde of Lowell won by a close margin.

The next event was the half mile open, which was the hottest race of the day and was run off in pretty fast time. Hamilton won the race after a hard sprint, with Keegan a close second.

After the half mile open was over, Leslie McKay, 8 years old and William Berlo, 7 years old, son of Peter Berlo, the old champion of the world, rode an exhibition half on a tandem weighing only fourteen pounds. They rode the half mile in 2.10 1-5. It is said that they are the smallest tandem team in the world.

The final of the one-mile handicap was the next event and again Hamilton showed his superiority by winning.

It was then announced that Charles McIntosh of this city would try for the mile unpaced record, which was held by Dan Cote. Cote's record was 2.03 1-5 and McIntosh lowered it 1 1-5 seconds, making the new record 2.26 flat.

The five-mile handicap was the next event and about twenty-five entered. Hamilton was on the scratch and was very badly handicapped, for the nearest man to him was Partridge of Medfield who was on the 150 yard mark. After the pistol was fired the men formed into three bunches and cut out a good clip for so long a race. Hamilton rode bravely but could not catch the man ahead of him and had to go all his own pacing, which soon began to tell on him. He had the sympathy of all the audience and when he would come around the corner with his head down and plugging away for all that he was worth, the crowd would cheer until they were nearly hoarse, but he had to give it up after the second mile. Prempas, the Greek champion, won the race.

On the last lap of this race one of the trainers tried to revive his man by throwing water at him, but it must have struck the man unexpectedly, for the minute that it struck him he ducked his head and ran in to the next man.

The last race on the program was something new to the riders of Lowell. It was the quarter-mile consolation race, which is for the riders that have qualified in the other races and have not won a prize. There were only three riders to start in it, and it was a continual sprint from the start. Charlie Connors of this city won first with G. Gagnon second.

The summary of the races is as follows:

One-mile novice—First heat J. C. Flitton, Lowell, first; G. Gaynor, Lowell, second; G. L. Douglass, Lowell, third. Time, 2.38 2-5. Second heat, L. Arnold, Cambridge, first; A. E. Silsbee, Lowell, second; E. Lyons, Lowell, third. Time, 2.28 2-5. Final heat, E. Lyons, Lowell, first; L. Arnold, Cambridge, second. Time 2.22 2-5.

One mile handicap—First heat Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; P. Keegan, Lowell, 110 yards, second; H. Lefevre, Lowell, 55 yards, third; J. Bentley, Lowell, 60 yards, fourth; L. Arnold, Cambridge, 85 yards, fifth. Second heat, M. F. O'Brien, Lowell, 60 yards, first; T. S. Murphy, Lowell, 100 yards, second; J. Prempas, Lowell, 85 yards, third; W. B. Fields, Lowell, 50 yards, fourth; C. Connors, Lowell, 60 yards, fifth. Final heat, Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; P. Keegan, Lowell, 110 yards, second; J. Bently, Lowell, 60 yards, third. Time, 2.29.

Half mile open—Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; M. F. O'Brien, Lowell, second. Time, 1.10 2-5.

One half mile exhibition by the smallest tandem team in the world, Leslie McKay and William Berlo. Time, 2.10 1-5.

Track record, Charles McIntosh. Time, 2.26.

Five mile handicap, J. Prempas, Lowell, 375 yards, first; P. Dion, West Chelmsford, 225 yards, second; T. S. Murphy, Lowell, 350 yards, third; P. Keegan, Lowell, 375 yards, fourth. Time 13.17 2-5.

One-quarter-mile consolation, C. Connors, Lowell, first; G. Gagnon, Lowell, second. Time, 38 2-5.

The officials of the meet were:

Referee, Henry Dunham; starter, H. E. Dahlberg; judges, E. B. Saunders, W. H. Dodgt, J. Whittier, John Bowker; announcer, Harry Meiklejohn; clerk of course, Henry N. PERHAPS FATAL

A Farmer Shot a Swede Employe

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FITCHBURG, June 12.—Peter Gustafson, a Swedish farm hand at Lunenburg, got into trouble yesterday which may cause his death, because he milked and drove home his employer's cows too early in the afternoon. It is said that he was enough of a farmer to have known better than to have milked the cows so early in the day, but for his being intoxicated.

Gustafson worked for Willis S. Russell. When Mr. Russell saw his hired man driving the cows home from pasture at 3 in the afternoon he ordered him to drive them back. Gustafson objected to doing so, and when Mr. Russell insisted the Swede became angry, quite an altercation took place, and Russell sent for Constable T. B. Snow.

According to Mr. Russell's version of the trouble, in the course of the talk the Swede struck him, splitting his lip. Russell's face bears evidence to back up this statement.

Anyhow, Russell shot him, putting a bullet into his lung, and Gustafson started to go to the police station, but fell unconscious on the way and is now in an hospital in a precarious condition.

Running Sore on His Ankle.

Obstinate sores and ulcers are a sure sign that the entire circulation is in a depraved condition. They are a severe drain upon the system, and are constantly sapping away the vitality. In every case the poison must be eliminated from the blood, and no amount of external treatment can have any effect.

Mr. L. J. Clark, of Orange Courthouse, Va., writes:

"For six years I had an obstinate, running ulcer on my ankle, which at times caused me intense suffering. I was so disabled for a long while that I was wholly unfit for business. One of the best doctors treated me constantly, but did me no good. I then tried various blood remedies, without the least benefit. S. S. S. was highly recommended to me, and I concluded to try it, and the effect was wonderful. It seemed to get right at the seat of the disease and force the poison out, and I was soon completely cured."

Swift's Specific drives out every trace of impurity in the blood, and in this way cures permanently the most obstinate, deep-seated sore or ulcer. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed purely vegetable.

S.S.S. For The Blood

cures contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, or any other blood trouble. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.

Clergymen Highly Praised the Newspapers

Rev. A. E. Kenyon, the pastor of the Chelmsford street F. B. church, spoke Sunday morning. He first gave a short address to the children from the subject of "Foxes and grapes." Lessons were drawn from the peculiarities of the tender vines of the grapes which were compared to the years of childhood days. Foxes which creep in to destroy the fruit were compared to the little habits which invade childhood life to destroy the best that is in the child. Following the address to the children the pastor address d the congregation. He said in the course of his remarks:

"There is a power that is antagonizing the interests of these little children and it is the power of King Alcohol. Its power may be seen in the orphans' home, the prison and the abode of the poverty stricken widow. I wish I had language to pay a fitting compliment to the men who have been put in office in this city to execute the laws which you have made for improvement of morals here. I must say that nothing has impressed me more since having been in Lowell than the genuine moral tone which characterizes the editorials of the Lowell newspapers. I am a subscriber to a number of religious papers and magazines, but not one of them supersedes these secular papers of Lowell in the nature of the strong Christian attitude which they hold toward the moral questions of the day. We must not forget that the newspaper moulds sentiment very largely in a community and I congratulate Lowell upon the spirit of loyalty to truth which seems to characterize the Lowell newspapers.

Moreover, it is an inspiring thing to see the executors of the law siding with truth and throwing their influence so mightily upon the side of sobriety as are the executors of law in this city. But you, after all, hold the key to the situation. You must talk no-license. I tell you, it's the dryest city that I have seen for some time. And I like this kind of drought. The time is coming when the battle will be more fierce in Lowell than now. Prepare for war in time of peace. I appeal to you as lovers of sobriety and truth to be as one man in the great battle against the sin of intemperance."

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully libels and represents Mary Davis of Lowell in said County, that she was lawfully married to Louis Davis, now of parts unknown, at Randolph, in the State of Vermont, on the twenty-seventh day of November, A. D. 1875, and that after such year Libellant and the said Louis Davis lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit at said Lowell and Smithville, that your Libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Louis Davis being wholly regardless of the same, at said Lowell on the 1st of April, A. D. 1884 utterly deserted your Libellant and has ever since continued such desertion being more than three consecutive years before the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between her and the said Louis Davis.

Dated this sixteenth day of May, A. D., 1899.

Her
MARY X DAVIS.

LITTLE-PARKER

Match Postponed to Friday June 23.

LITTLE'S KNEES IN VERY BAD SHAPE.

Result of Recent Encounter With Casey.

The Little-Parker wrestling match will take place on Friday evening, June 23, at A.O.H. hall, Brockton. The postponement is necessitated by the condition of Little's knees caused by his recent bout with Dick Casey of Lowell. They are still quite sore, although nearly healed, but the uncertainty as to when they will be entirely well, renders it advisable to put the match off one week, thus making the date sure. Little is in training every day and stated yesterday: "There is one thing about it, I will be in great condition for the match. People do not think I am strong, but I never was in better shape in my life. I have practically been in active training every day since March 8."

One glance at Little's bare back and chest is enough to convince one of his great muscular power and his constant practice with dumbbells makes him supple and powerful in the extreme. The writer remained in his presence fully ten minutes and all during that time he was hard at work with three pound bells. He does not perspire a drop and his wind was as good at the end as at the start. He had just begun to work into the game when the reporter left as he had been talking all during the visit.

Parker has been in Manchester in the hope of getting a match there and one in Lowell. He returned to Brockton Sunday. Little has been securing a line on how Parker operates and will train accordingly. There is determination strongly in evidence on Little's part not to be defeated and the odds offered by Parker makes Little's chances exceptionally good.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Waterbury American: We hope the esteemed Arthur Hadley has not been indiscreet enough to enter into a contract with a press clipping bureau. If he has we fear that his bank account will not allow him to take any vacation this summer, so numerous are the editorial bouquets thrown his way. Keeping tabs on that sort of a thing is gratifying, but expensive.

Boston Journal: The old, old story! The runaway cashier of Dover was "one of the most trusted men in the city, and was considered a man of the strictest morality." He drank neither wine, nor spirits, nor beer; and he abstained from tobacco in all its seductive forms. Would it not be a good plan to appoint a notorious untrustworthy man to a position of trust, and then watch him day and night?

New York Times: Of retreat we may be sure that the president has never entertained the slightest notion. If he has at times hesitated or had misgivings he has gone as far in that direction as he is likely to go. We believe that he is resolute of mind and we wish to confirm him in that disposition. At this time irresolution would bring the sure penalty of deeper trouble. It is very evident that an end must be made of Aguinaldo.

New Bedford Standard: So much stress has been laid on the fighting and on the savagery of the native combats that many persons have almost forgotten that the population of the Philippines is not exclusively barbarians. The civilized and cultivated element is small in comparison with the entire population of all the islands, but there is such an element, and it is worthy of consideration. It is an exceedingly varied and diverse population with which this country has to deal in the Philippines.

New Haven Palladium: The fewer federal soldiers in Cuba the firmer our hold upon the dominant native influences there. The restoration of the island population to prosperity depends not upon armed battalions, but upon the rapid and peaceful development of industrial resources which have long lain fallow under a brutal system of extortion and oppression. Cuba, like Porto Rico should need only a nominal garrison while the problem of industrial and political emancipation is being worked out under federal auspices.

BEACONS' CINCH

They Defeated the Calumets With Ease

THE MATHEWS LOSE AT NEWBURYPORT.

Great Game at Collinsville Grounds.

The most important local base ball game of Saturday was played at Atherton where on the non-appearance of the Shamrocks and the Fairmounts, who were to play for $50, the Beacons and Calumets played nine or rather eight innings and a half, the former winning with ease. Score 22 to 7.

Both teams changed positions considerably, the latter team putting in a new battery after the fifth.

The game opened with a rush that the Beacons kept up without any great effort while the Calumets appeared to be dazed.

In the first the Calumets who were first up, scored one and then went out. The Beacons sent their every player to bat and made five runs before the half closed.

Mooney, the first Calumet up in the second, hit to first and was out. Shay, who singled and was advanced by Morrill to third was caught at home after Gallagher was thrown out at first.

Coburn then batted safely and was allowed to circle the bases on a weak hit by Clogston to Shay, who threw wild to first. After Saunders struck out, Robby put a fast grounder past short on which Clog came home. Lamson went out on grounder from pitcher to first.

The Calumets again scored in the fifth. Carey opened for two bases and he was sent home by Puffer's one-bagger to Ela. Brown's Bugler was no problem for Star Knowles who was about this time rapidly coming to the fore as the leading feature of the whole affair. Mooney's safe through short and Shay's fly to short right brought Puffer in. Morrill sacrificed Mooney to home and Shay, who tried to obtain third at the same time was out.

With Bruce and Harris on bases and one out, Knowles sent out a two-bagger beyond Puffer. It was the longest hit of the game. Four more runs besides Knowles', who was advanced by a wild pitch and a scratch hit, were scored before the inning closed. Bruce in an attempt to steal home was the third out.

Coburn scored in the fourth. In the fifth, neither team tallied.

In the sixth two flies and a strike-out was the Calumets' lot, while the Beacons again went to bat with a vengeance. Brown, who relieved Shay in the box, hit Clogston who was forced at second by Saunders. Robby then placed one out of Mooney's reach, while Saunders went to third and later home on Lamson's safety. Ela's single sent Robby in and when the Banker ran for second and Carey threw to catch him, Lamson also trotted home. Ela scored on passed balls. Two strikeouts cut off further run-getting.

No scoring for the Calumets in the seventh or eighth. The Beacons who did not let up with their bats even at this, scored three more. Clogston, Knowles and Saunders crossing home. Further, Gallagher and Carey scored for the Calumets and went the rounds of the bases in the ninth.

The score:

Beacons	6 2 7 1 0 4 2 1 x—22
Calumets	1 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 3— 7

The teams:

Beacons—Harris, l, s; Coburn, p, 1; Knowles, 3; Clogston 2; Saunders, 1; Robinson, m; Lamson, s, p; Ela, r; Bruce, c.

Calumets—Forbes, s; Gallagher, r, 2; Carey, c and 3; Puffer, 1; Brown, 2, p; Mooney, 3, r; Shay, p, r; Morrill 1; Finnegan, .

The Calumets will try their luck with the Bankers next Saturday at Atherton.

The annual dispute of the Collinsville and Navy Yard baseball teams was settled on Saturday at Collinsville where the home team which had hitherto been undefeated was made to bite the dust by a difference of nine runs, the amount of their own score. Total, Navy Yard, 18; Collinsville 9.

A large amount of money changed hands on the result. The Collinsvilles having won four straight games this season without a single defeat, and having played all strong teams, their admirers naturally thought the Navy Yards, not having played this season, wouldn't have the ghost of a show to win. On the other hand the backers of the Navy Yards were just as confident that their favorites would pull out a victory.

MATHEWS BEATEN.

The Newburyports and Mathews of Lowell played a game in the Trolley league series in Newburyport Saturday afternoon, the Newburyports winning by 15 to 8. Both pitchers were very wild. The game was marked by the sharp fielding of the Newburyports, Pike playing brilliantly in left field, having five outs, three assists and no errors. Previous to the game, Walter Brown of the Newburyports and Kerins of the Lowells ran an exhibition 100-yard dash, the former winning easily. The score:

Newburyports ....3 3 2 0 1 4 0 2 x—15
Lowell ..... 0 0 3 0 1 0 0 0 4— 8

Hits—Newburyport 6, Lowell 8. Errors—Newburyport 2, Lowell 7. Batteries—Gilday and Brown, Leslie and Scully.

HAS ORGANIZED

Fourth of July Committee Gets to Work

AND PROMISES A GRAND CELEBRATION.

Lieut. R. J. Crowley Elected Secretary.

NO ORATION WILL BE HEARD.

An Elaborate Program Being Formed.

The city of Lowell is going to have a first class Fourth of July celebration this year for the committee appointed to plan and carry it out is a hustling one and has the money to carry out its intentions.

The first meeting Saturday afternoon in City Hall demonstrated the fact that there is nothing slow about the committee, for though they came together late they lost no time in getting down to business.

Councilman Frank Clark called the committee of 13 together about 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, having previously been importuned by several speculators and candidates for offices and Fourth of July snaps.

When the meeting had been opened and the members made acquainted with each other, Councilman Clark was elected chairman and William A. Hogan, Esq., vice chairman. Then a ballot for secretary was taken and Lieut. Robert J. Crowley received 9 votes to 4 for Frank M. Dowling and was declared elected.

Then followed a discussion of the various features of the celebration and the committee seemed desirous of giving each section of the city a fine share of the celebration and the committee promises to give the best celebration in the history of the city.

The committee also discussed the plan of an oration and finally decided not to have such a feature of the celebration.

It was voted to have a parade, firemen's muster, children's entertainment and a parachute jump.

The committee then adjourned until this evening at which time Chairman Clark will announce his committees. Permanent headquarters will be established today and the committee will go to work with a will.

Alderman Peirce's offer of a store for a headquarters without rent was received with thanks. In 1897, the cost of the several features with the incidental expenses was as follows: Oration, $199.50; music, $291.25; children's entertainment $200.15; salutes and bell ringing, $181.16; fireworks, $951; sports, $350.47; parade, $1440.85; incidentals, $278; total, $4572.41. The appropriation was $4000, as this year.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Fourth of July committee for awarding the official Programme, at City Hall on or before Monday, June 12th, 1899, at 7.30 p. m. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

FRANK S. CLARK, Chairman.
ROBERT J. CROWLEY, Sec.

Address all communications to Robert J. Crowley, Sec.

Boston, June 1st, 1899.

To the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Bedford:

Your petitioners, the Lexington and Boston Street Railway company, respectfully represent,

That they are a corporation having a charter from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and fully organized under the general laws of said commonwealth; and your petitioners represent that under their preliminary organization they obtained locations in the town of Bedford from the selectmen thereof, in accordance with law as follows:

In Bedford, from the Lexington town line at Main street, thence over and along Main street to the Great Road, so called, on the northerly side thereof to Lowell street; also commencing at a point on said Main street, or Great Road, at its intersection with the South Road, and thence over and along said Main street or North Road on the southerly side thereof to North avenue or the North Road, so called, and thence on the westerly side of said North street or North Road to the Billerica town line.

And your petitioners represent that in order to construct and operate their road it will be necessary that further locations should be obtained in said town of Bedford, as follows:

Beginning at Main street, at the junction of Lowell street therewith to the point to which the location has already been granted, and thence along Main street to its intersection with the South Road, and to the point where your petitioners' location has already been fixed and allowed. That is to say, the gap on Main street between Lowell street and the South Road over which a location has not yet been granted your petitioners.

Wherefore, your petitioners pray that said location may be granted them, with the right to erect the necessary overhead structure, and that your petitioners may operate their cars over and along said line.

LEXINGTON & BOSTON STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.
Signed.

GREAT SALE OF CORSETS

Our big store, with all up-to-date facilities, modern contrivances to condense and get all out of a square foot of space possible, is again hampered for room owing to large increase of business in various departments. Our Corset Department (one of the best in New England) per force had to relinquish some 12 feet of counter and fixture room to our new department, the Soda Fountain, and this together with the fact that our Corset trade has wonderfully increased this season, leaves us in a cramped condition. Therefore we have taken stock and have decided to lose some money by slaughtering such numbers as we will not hereafter carry. These lots with some very fortunate purchases by our buyer ought to be very interesting to the ladies of Lowell and vicinity. Notwithstanding the extreme low prices we will continue to FIT CORSETS FREE OF CHARGE.

CLOSING OUT LOTS.

The celebrated Dr. Warner Corsets to be discontinued in our stock, hence such prices.

To close 69c a pair. Dr. Warner's Coraline Corsets in white, drab, and black, always sold at $1.

To close 95c a pair. Dr. Warner's Health Coraline Corsets, white, drab and black, always $1.25.

To close 69c a pair. Dr. Warner's (entaway) 4-in-hand Nos. 600 and 72 Corsets, always $1 and $1.25.

To close 69c a pair. Dr. Warner's cold wave Sumer Corsets in regular and extra sizes up to 36, worth $1 and $1.25.

To close $1.25 a pair. Dr. Warner's Abdominal Corsets in white and drab, regular and extra sizes, always $1.50 and $1.75.

To close 49c pair. The Zephyr Summer Corsets. The Alaska Summer Corsets, later marked today 75c. Come and buy it for 49c.

SPECIAL PURCHASES.

Some standard numbers such as P. P., P. N., American Lady, C. B., A la Sprite, etc

MRS. KNOX HURT

Has Narrow Escape in Runaway Accident

HORSE JUMPED OVER STONE WALL

Mrs. Knox's Injuries May Prove Fatal

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 11.—Mrs. William S. Knox, wife of Congressman Knox, was seriously injured by being thrown from a carriage in a runaway accident at Andover this afternoon.

Mrs. Knox was driving with George F. Swift in the vicinity of Ponas point when the horse took fright and became unmanageable. The animal dashed over a stone wall on the top of which was a barbed wire fence.

The occupants were thrown from the carriage, Mrs. Knox being rendered unconscious. She was conveyed to her home at 138 Main street and was attended by Dr. Abbott, who found her injuries to consist of two broken ribs, one of which is of such a nature that it was feared the action of the heart will be effected.

At a late hour tonight Mrs. Knox was resting quietly.

Mr. Swift escaped injury.

Cottolene
has every virtue that lard lacks. Lard has many faults that Cottolene is without. Cottolene is composed of refined cottonseed oil and carefully prepared beef suet and is as pure, healthful, and nutritious as the highest grade salad oil. As good as the best olive oil for frying and better than any other material for shortening, Cottolene is even more economical to use than lard.

The genuine Cottolene is sold everywhere in one to ten pound yellow tins, with our trade marks—"Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin. Not guaranteed if sold in any other way. Made only by

FIFTEEN INJURED

By a Railroad Accident at Genesee, Ill.

Three Cars Left the Track and Struck a Train—Cause of the Accident Not Yet Determined.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, June 12.—As the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific westbound express train pulled into Genesee, Ill., at 9.30 o'clock last night, three cars left the track and crashed into a stock train standing on a siding. Fifteen persons were injured, the three cars demolished and the stock train locomotive disabled. The most seriously injured are:

C. A. KEEPER, Chicago.

H. R. HUNTINGTON, Blue Island, Ill., conductor.

W. H. SMITH, Chicago, brakeman.

MRS. A. BERLAU, New York city, arms and chest scalded.

M. E. REDDY, Chicago, postal clerk.

The train was made of ten cars, two chair cars, and a smoker being in the rear. Within half a mile of the Genesee station, a stock train was standing on the siding. The switch was closed and locked. The passenger train was slowing down for the station and the engine and seven cars passed the switch in safety but the smoker left the rails at the switch and with two chair cars following crashed into the stock train, demolishing the three passenger cars completely. The cause of the accident has not yet been determined.

ANOTHER STRIKE

Freight Handlers Refuse to go to Work.

THE NON UNION WENT AWAY.

Because Union Men Made the Demand

ONLY A FEW MEN AT WORK.

Labor Leaders Oppose the Strike.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 12.—In obedience to the order adopted at yesterday's meeting to strike in sympathy with the men already out at the Erie and Lackawanna docks, the freight handlers (housemen) at the New York, Central, Lehigh Valley, Wabash and Great Northern docks did not report for duty this morning. At the Anchor line docks, 60 union men reported for work, but found ten non-union men there. They refused to work with them and the non-union men were sent away. The union men then went to work. At the Lehigh docks a few men were at work. The outside men have been forced into idleness by the strike of the house men and consequently there is very little work being done at the docks. The present strike is opposed by many labor leaders.

HE WAS EXHAUSTED

JOSEPH MACEY OF PROVIDENCE OVERCOME BY FATIGUE AND HUNGER.

Joseph Macey, a young man claiming to belong in Providence, R. I., was taken sick on the railroad tracks near Howard street this morning and was removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital. The young man said he had come to this city looking for work but after reaching the place where he was discovered by railroad hands he was overcome by fatigue and hunger and could go no further. He said that he was willing to work but every place he applied for a job he was unsuccessful. He had walked a good part of the way from his home in Rhode Island.

CRICKET GAMES

The Mohairs Defeated East Bostons.

METHUEN BESTS NORTH BILLERICA.

The Zions Drubbed the St. Johns at Lawrence.

The Lowell cricket representatives shared the honors with its out of town opponents on Saturday, the Mohairs and Zions winning and the Buntings tying with Lawrence.

The Mohairs formally opened their new grounds on Chelmsford street with a victory over the crack East Boston team by a score of 56 to 32. Bird took 4 wickets for 15 runs and Aveyard 5 wickets for 18 runs. Shuttleworth and Stirks made two brilliant catches which were warmly applauded.

The Zion cricket club at last broke their record of defeats at Lawrence, administering a drubbing to the St. John's second eleven by a score of 67 to 44.

The best game was played on the Wigginville grounds between the U. S. B. C. C. and the Lawrence team which ended in a draw.

TOURIST CLUB OUTING.

The Tourist club held their first outing at Falcon Heights yesterday afternoon under the management of Mr. Frank Dockett. The members enjoyed themselves in boating, fishing and cycling. They also gave an entertainment in which a number of the members participated. The program was as follows: Piano solo, Miss Florence Moore; vocal solo, Frank Dockett; piano solo, Miss Sadie Dockett; vocal solo, Miss Annie Crowley; piano solo, Miss Mamie Hartley; whistling solo, James Mallin; reading, Miss Fanny Fay; stump speech, Thomas Quimby, and a harmonica solo by Miss Emily Roscoe.

After the entertainment refreshments were served by J. H. Ayer of Falcon Heights.

FREE SILVER AND "TRUSTS."

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, June 12.—The Times-Herald has been asking members of the National democratic committee what should be their party's battle cry in fact, whether "Free Silver" or "Down With the Trusts," or both.

While only one of the replies of these democratic leaders, the representative for Maine, the home state of Mr. Bryan's running mate in 1896, says: "Drop free silver," they are all unanimous in giving the trust question prominence it has never before had in the platform of their own or other party.

NEGRO CAPTURED

Who is Charged With Committing an Assault

UPON A VERY AGED WOMAN.

Sheriff Feared an Attack by a Mob.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 12.—Trembling with fear and whining like a whipped cur, apprehensive lest the vengeance of an outraged community should be visited upon his head, William Morrison, the burly negro, who Saturday fiendishly assaulted Mrs. Margaret Roberts, a white woman of Stratford, tonight shivered in a cell in the Stratford lock-up.

Outside was an armed guard detailed by Sheriff Stagg, who, despite his apparent assertions to the contrary, evidently feared that the temper of the inhabitants was such that Morrison's life was none too secure.

Sheriff Stagg and Constables Beardsley and Fryer tramped over miles of the country adjacent to Stratford during the night. About daybreak yesterday morning they found themselves in the vicinity of Greens Farms, each mounted on a bicycle.

Sheriff Stagg learned from a farmer that a negro had just been hunted off the premises and was shown the direction in which the fellow went. Hastening away, the sheriff soon came across the negro sound asleep beneath an elm tree.

His coat had been folded and served as a pillow. One of his shirt sleeves was torn, his trousers were dust covered and mud stained, evidences that he had travelled over the road and through swamps.

Having a good description of the fiend the sheriff drew close and one good look convinced him he had his man.

In a minute the fellow was handcuffed. He awoke struggling desperately. In vain did he try to free his hands. He was quickly overpowered, however, and his arms pinioned behind him.

NEGRO LYNCHED

By a Mob of Five Hundred Negroes

HE COMMITTED A MOST ATROCIOUS CRIME.

White People Know Nothing of Lynching.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SARDIA, Miss., June 12.—Simon Brooks, colored, was taken by a mob of 500 negroes from the jail here sometime between midnight and dawn Sunday, and lynched. The crime for which he was hanged was most atrocious. Saturday night a negress named Armistead, while returning from a shopping tour to her home, was assaulted by Brooks and another negro. The woman was outraged, her throat was cut, and she was severely beaten about the head, and her jaws were tied to prevent breathing. Her body was then concealed in rubbish. The woman rallied sufficiently to give the alarm and the names of her assailants. Part of the goods taken from the woman was later found in a trunk belonging to Brooks. The mob which was composed entirely of negroes, did its work quietly. The white people knew nothing of the affair until hours after it occurred.

DEATHS.

HARGRAVES—Mrs. C. S. Hargraves formerly of this city, passed away at the home of her son, Mr. H. F. Hargraves, Haverhill, Wednesday, after a long sickness. She leaves two daughters and one son to mourn her loss. She was a member of Garfield lodge of Pilgrim Fathers of Lowell. Funeral services for the deceased were held at the Advent church, Walnut street, Haverhill Friday, Rev. Mr. Goodwin officiating.

PROBABLY KILLED

One Of the "Wind Fall Gang" Missing

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., June 12.—Benjamin and William Wadsworth, two members of the Windfall Gang escaped from Hamilton County jail at Lake Pleasant Saturday where they were awaiting trial. Sheriffs posses scoured the Adirondacks in pursuit and late last night Benjamin was captured near Wells. A large posse is still hunting for William but no trace of him can be found and it is feared that he has been murdered. William gave information to the officers which led to the arrest of the gang and Benjiman has often since threatened vengeance.

THE CHINESE CASE

For Alleged Selling in Wamesit Street.

SAM LEE FOUND GUILTY AND FINED $100.

Large Number of Lawrence Drunks in Dock.

In police court this morning the dock was filled and almost every seat along the sides of the room were occupied. The usual number of reporters and spectators were inside the rail. Several Chinamen were in a position close to Probation Officer Tuttle while Sam Lee sat placidly behind the railing.

Alfred Ducenu, who was arrested from a Lawrence car, was fined $5.

Samuel McAldin, drunkenness, $5.

John Aothessey, drunkenness, $5.

Patrick Dillon, drunkenness, $5.

David J. Cordingley, drunkenness, $5.

William C. Sullivan, second offense of drunkenness, $6.

Maurice J. Cashman, drunkenness, $5.

Martin Molloy, third offense of drunkenness, went to the house of correction for four months.

John Tuppin, guilty of exposure of person, received six months in the house of correction.

Martin Roach, a Tyngsboro drunk, was fined $5.

Clayton Craft, arrested in Dracut, was fined $5.

Henry Baxondale, who was found by Officer Hadley of Chelmsford was sentenced to the workhouse for a term of two months.

Rose Johnson, for drunkenness, was fine $5.

The case of Sam Lee for alleged illegal sale of liquors was then taken up. Officers Corcoran and Moloney and Inspector Thomas R. Atkinson were sworn. W. A. Hogan, Esq. appeared for the defence and Deputy Moffatt and Inspector David Donaldson for the government.

Inspector Atkinson, the first witness, testified: "I met a man who bought the liquor for me. He then exhibited a bottle, in which was liquor. I then went into Lee's place.

Inspector Donaldson here gave the witness some money to inspect and the latter declared that the money was the same as he gave the man to buy whiskey. He knew it because he had the pieces marked. On cross-examination witness said he did not know the man He knew he was to meet the man and had arranged the plan for obtaining the liquor, previously. When the liquor was paid for, it was with money given by witness to Lee. The man took the whiskey and said the witness, would pay for it. Witness gave money into the Chinaman's hand. Witness then seized about a gallon of whiskey. Officer Corcoran who patrols the beat said he went into the laundry while Inspector Atkinson was there. Witness asked defendant if he sold Atkinson any liquor. Defendant said "No," and Atkinson said he did. He said him a plut. Officer Corcoran then happened to put his hand on the ironing board and discovered the marked money under the cover. Witness saw three young men coming out of the Laundry early in the evening. Mr. Hogan on cross-examination, asked: "Do you know the strange man?"

"I do not know him personally."

"Do you know the man's name?"

The government objected but his objection was not sustained and the officer answered "Patrick Corcoraline."

Officer Moloney who was the next witness testified that he was present at the seizure. Jugs, etc., were taken. Cross-examination developed nothing more.

Sam Lee, the defendant, was then called. He said he has lived in Lowell for eight years. The men came to his door about one o'clock Saturday morning. One asked for his shirt. "I told him to give me his check and he asked for whiskey. "I don't sell whiskey," I said. He said "You'd better sell me some whiskey." I said "No," and they began to talk loud and the officers came. I was afraid of the men. I thought they were going to fight. One man put money on the counter which I refused to take.

"Which man wanted to fight you?" asked Mr. Donaldson.

"O, I don't know," replied Sam.

Then Sam remembered that he told Inspector Donaldson yesterday that Tommy—he didn't remember his last name—brought the whiskey to witness' place. Officer Atkinson was recalled and again testified that the man, Corcoraline, whispered, "It is I, Sam," and the bottle was shoved out to him.

Lee was found guilty and fined $100.

John H. Flynn charged with illegal keeping was next tried. Flynn was alleged to be a walking speak-easy with the old Riverside base ball grounds as his rendezvous on the appearance of an officer he would throw liquor into the river.

Officer Lennon and Inspectors Duncan, Maher and McCann and Addinson testified. Included in their testimony was a statement that they could discern the movements of the defendant during his alleged sales. He would sell his liquor and then change his clothes. He would then go to a point behind a small hill and as far as the officer could judge he would dig more liquor from the ground. After each sale he would change his clothes.

The defendant on the witness stand made a general denial of the sales charged against him and when being showed back to the dock he threw Billy Emaps a merry wink. Flynn was found guilty and fined $50 and was given two months in the common jail.

JOHN R. FAIRBAIRN Who Assumes the Shrievalty at the Lowell Jail.

Capt. John Fairbairn assistant to the late Sheriff Cushing, was duly sworn into the office of Sheriff on Saturday morning by Judge Todd. Capt. Fairbairn had been special sheriff and master of the House of Correction at East Cambridge, but will now continue in the capacity of sheriff of Middlesex county jail until his successor shall have been chosen. Capt. J. P. Thompson of the registry of deeds has given notice that the registry will be closed today from 2 to 4 o'clock, the hours of the funeral in respect to the late sheriff.

A HORRIBLE FIND

Another Portion of a Man's Body Found.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Another section of a man's dismembered and mutilated body was found today in the upper bay. It was that part between a line drawn around the middle of the chest and one encircling the head at the bridge of the nose. The top of the skull, including the right ear, is cut off. The left ear is intact. The right arm is missing, severed at the shoulder. The left arm and hand, however, are attached. The eyes are missing but the face from the nose downward is uninjured. The man had a sandy moustache.

The remains found today fit exactly the portion of a body picked up near the Narrows on Saturday last.

BOTH DROWNED

BODIES OF MOTHER AND SON FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FAIR HAVEN, Vt., June 12.—The bodies of Mrs. John Quinn and her 12-year-old son, John, were found in the river at Eagle Bridge, N. Y., this forenoon. From the appearance of the bodies it is believed that they had been in the water since yesterday. The lad, who was subject to fainting fits, went fishing Sunday, and it is supposed he fell into the river. It is though Mrs. Quinn attempted to rescue the body and thus lost her life.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES

Attended by Prominent Men.

IN PUBLIC AND PRIVATE LIFE.

Masonic Services at the Grave.

The remains of the late Henry G. Cushing, sheriff of Middlesex county, were interred in their final resting place in the Lowell cemetery this afternoon, the last sad service attended by a large concourse of many of Middlesex county's most prominent men in public and private life.

Funeral services were conducted at 2.30 o'clock at the residence of the late sheriff, adjoining the jail. The remains reposed in a costly casket, surrounded by a wealth of floral tributes. The funeral services at the house were conducted by Rev. J. L. Seward, formerly of this city, assisted by Rev. Dr. Warfield of the First Congregational church of this city. The quartet which sings at the Sunday services at the jail rendered several beautiful funeral hymns.

At the conclusion of the house service, the remains were tenderly borne to the hearse and the lengthy funeral cortege proceeded to the Lowell cemetery. The honorary pall bearers were Judge D. W. Bond of the superior court; Theodore C. Hurd, Esq., clerk of the courts for Middlesex county; John R. Fairbairn of Cambridge, acting sheriff for Middlesex county; Hon. James L. Pierce of Malden; Hon. Charles H. Richardson of Clinton and Hon. Jeremiah Crowley, Hon. J. C. Abbott and William H. Anderson, Esq. of this city.

The acting pall bearers were Deputy Sheriffs Charles F. Morse George F. Saville, James H. McKenna, Henry C. Sherwin, John E. Thiel, Alvah S. Baker, S. W. Tucker and George H. Stiles.

At the grave in the Lowell cemetery, the Masonic burial service was conducted by members of Kilwinning lodge F. A. M., under the direction of Frank H. Stearns and the Masonic quartet rendered appropriate musical selections. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Arthur G. Pollard and the interment in charge of J. B. Currier.

Among those noticed at the cemetery were Judge McIntyre and Judge Lawton of the probate court; Judge Pickman and Judge Fisher of the police court; County Commissioners Gould, Upham, Bigelow, Registrar of Probate S. H. Folsom, Assistant Clerks of Courts, John L. Ambrose, W. C. Dillingham and Ralph N. Smith, County Treasurer Joseph O. Hayden, District Attorney Wier, Assistant District Attorney George A. Sanderson, Special County Commissioners E. P. Thompson and D. P. Strange, General Bancroft of Cambridge, General Bridger, warden of the state prison; Sheriff O'Brien of Suffolk county, Sheriff Johnson of Essex county, Patrick Corcoran of Cambridge, the directors of the First National Bank of Lowell; a delegation from Post 120, G. A. R., a delegation from the Loyal Legion and all the deputy sheriffs of Middlesex county.

BADLY INJURED

John Lofegreen Jumped From Burning Building

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—John Lofgren, an occupant of a Tremont street boarding house, jumped from a fourth story window into a life net today during a fire and sustained serious if not fatal injuries. Lofgren was asleep when the fire started and on awakening found all exits blocked by the flames. He shouted for help from a window and the firemen held a life net. After considerable hesitation, the man jumped. His body turned in the descent and shot head first into the net. He fell with such force that the net parted and the man struck the sidewalk. He was taken up unconscious and was removed to the hospital where his case was found to be critical. The fire caused a loss of about $1500.

EX-COUNCILMAN JOSEPH F. O'ROURKE, Who Died This Morning.

JOS. F. O'ROURKE

Popular Ex-Councilman Died This Morning.

Ex-Councilman Joseph F. O'Rourke one of ward two's most popular citizens, passed away at his home at 14 Dempsey's Place, off Salem street at 2.30 o'clock this morning, having been unwell for some time, though confined to his home only for the past four days, heart trouble causing death.

Deceased was 34 years old and had resided in the vicinity of old ward one nearly all his life. He attended the local schools and formerly was engaged in the tailor business on Merrimack street. He was quite prominent in old ward one politics and was a member of the common council in 1892, serving his constituents with honor and distinction. Personally "Joe" as he was familiarly called by his intimates was a kind, amiable and cheerful man, making friends of all with whom he came in contact. For the past few years he had been employed by the Harvard Brewing Co. and was one of the organizers and a past president of the local Brewery Workers' Union. He was quite prominent and popular in labor circles and his death will be regretted by a host of friends. He is survived by three brothers and five sisters, two of the latter residing in this city and the other members of the family in New York and in England. The funeral announcement will be made later.

NANTASKET FIRE

Two Hotels Burned Down Last Night

A CARELESS SMOKER CAUSED THE FIRE.

The Montasco and Hollis Total Loss.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NANTASKET BEACH, June 12.—The careless action of a man in throwing a lighted paper from a lunch cart standing against the front of the unoccupied Montasco hotel at the beach about 7 o'clock last evening caused a fire which within an hour had destroyed the Montasco and Hollis hotels and two small frame buildings, one occupied jointly by the postoffice and police department, and the other by Fred Andrews as a bicycle store, while the Hotel Tivoli, which stands next to the Nantasket hotel, between it and the postoffice and police building, was also damaged.

The total loss is estimated at $25,000, of which $18,000 was on the buildings; $12,000 on contents, divided as follows: Hotel Hollis building, owned by the Burkhardt Brewing company, Boston, $7000; Montasco Hotel building, owned by James H. Jellison, the Haymarket square apothecary, $5000; two small buildings occupied by police and postoffice and Andrew's bicycle store, and owned by Postmaster Frank M. Reynolds of Nantasket Beach, $500; Hotel Tivoli building, owned by Burkhardt Brewing company, damaged $200; contents of Hotel Hollis, including furniture, bedding, bar equipment and stock of beer, ale and liquors, the property of Harry P. Morrissey, proprietor of the Rossmore hotel, Boston, who also leased the Hotel Hollis, $7000; contents of Montasco hotel, consisting chiefly of furniture, $2500; contents of postoffice and police building, $1000; contents of Andrews' bicycle store, $500. The only articles saved from the Hollis hotel were a piano and a few tables and chairs.

The fire was a spectacular one, and although a large proportion of the 7000 people who were on the beach during the afternoon had gone home, it was witnessed by more than 1500 persons who gathered on the beach and in the roadway and [illegible] in front of the burning buildings.

FIRST TRINITARIAN CHURCH CONSECRATED TO GOD.

The dedication exercises of the First Trinitarian Congregational church were held last evening. Rev. George F. Kengott offered prayer. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. Wolcott of Lawrence, who emphasized the fact that the church would become sacred because God would take up his abode in it. The speaker laid stress on the individual element in Christianity.

In a few brief remarks, the pastor, Rev. George F. Kengott, spoke gratefully of the gifts that had been made to the church.

Rev. George H. Johnson brought the greetings of the sister churches. He said the First Trinitarian church had won its victory, demonstrated its right to existence and won the respect of all the other churches. He paid a hearty tribute to the faithful work of Rev. G. F. Kengott and his wife and to the church members for the willing self sacrifice which made the dedication of the building possible.

McEVOY—Leo, son of Walter and Katie McEvoy, aged 4 years, died at the home of his parents Saturday evening, 224 Fayette street and was buried yesterday at 11 o'clock. The funeral was under the direction of Undertaker McDermott.

Chinaman Arrested For Keeping Speak Easy

IN HIS WAMESIT STREET LAUNDRY.

Colored Woman Bites an Officer.

LAWRENCE AND NASHUA DRUNKS TAKEN IN

From Centralville Side of the River.

The Heathen Chinee is peculiar."

And as he becomes Americanized, the blessings of civilization only add to his "peculiarity," so to speak, and for an example there is Sam Lee, with a deceiving name, a Chinese laundryman from Wamesit street, who today is a sadder and wiser Celestial as he hears the clerk of the court charge him with wilfully violating the great American liquor law.

Poor Sam did fairly well at the laundry business; but as Brutus said of Caesar, he was ambitious and became weary of his monotonous squirting and ironing day after day, especially since countrymen of his own had got onto and adopted the great American scheme of cutting prices and he desired to become rich more quickly and with less work.

Accordingly he scratched his smooth topped cranium for a plan and finally hit upon a corker. "No License; me sellee him, makee more alloy samee, Just like Melican man," thought Sam and he concluded to start up a first class "speak easy."

He fitted out his place with a whole lot of bad whiskey and after tipping off a few friends, began to a land office business; but Sam was hoggish and it "queered" him. He wasn't content to do business discriminately and make money slowly but sold to everyone who produced the price.

He knew enough not to sell to the big man in the blue coat and brass buttons but he he had never been up against the liquor inspector in citizen's clothes and when Liquor Inspector Atkinson went to the laundry Saturday night and asked for a half pint, Sam hastened to accommodate him, assuring him that it was "allee samee fine Balcy." Inspector Atkinson paid 25 cents for the stuff and as he did, Liquor Inspectors Goodwin and Donaldson and Officers Maloney and Corcoran broke in upon him and the bottom fell out of Sam's quick road to wealth.

The inspector searched the premises and found four jugs, one 10-gallon keg and several bottles and these together with the heart-broken Chinaman they bundled into the patrol wagon and took to the police station.

HELD IN NASHUA.

Michael Kelly and Fred Lovejoy, two young men from Lowell were arraigned in the Nashua police court, Friday morning on the charge of stealing $60 from the house of Martin Van Buren Thompson. Lovejoy pleaded guilty to the larceny of $27 and Kelly to the larceny of $29. The men were held in bonds of $500 each for the September term of the supreme court.

DECIDEDLY OFF COLOR.

Rose Johnson, a "culled lady" got off color last night and started to tear down a tenement on Church street. Officer Hill was called, but Rose refused to accompany him and started to fight. It was necessary to drag the pugnacious dame down two flights of stairs and up to the box on Church street. On the way the woman attempted to bite the officer's arm but didn't succeed though her teeth penetrated his coat sleeve.

THE LIQUOR INSPECTORS.

According to report, some of the liquor inspectors will wind up as defendants in court, on account of their manner of raiding places.

Over 20 drunks got in Saturday night and Sunday and of these over 12 were taken on the Centralville side of the river, as they came from Lawrence, Hudson and Nashua.

CARS HELD UP

An axle on Car No. 113 coming from Lakeview broke directly in front of the car barn at the navy yard last evening about 5 o'clock and at just a time when the electrics conveying the thousands of pleasure-seekers from Lakeview were returning to the city in great numbers. In a short time more than thirty cars were blocked along the tracks from Parker avenue to the car barn. The disabled car was finally run to the car sheds.

L'ASSOCIATION CATHOLIQUE.

L'Association Catholique observed its anniversary yesterday afternoon with a demonstration. The members of the association gathered at their hall in Merrimack street early in the afternoon and paraded over the route given in Saturday's Sun. The procession was led by the National band, after which came the Garde d'honneur, and then followed the other members of the association. On returning to St. Jean Baptiste church, the members listened to an interesting address by Rev. Fr. Paquette, O. M. I. Prominent members of the association also made remarks during the afternoon and the National band gave pleasing selections.

HER EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

The annual picnic of the Unitarian Sunday school was held Saturday at Willow Dale.

GRAND JURY LIST

The Vaughn's and Dowd and Logue Indicted

NO BILL AGAINST MRS. BLENNERHASSET

Trials Will Begin Tomorrow Morning.

OTHER LOWELL CASES REPORTED UPON.

Mark of Respect to Sheriff Cushing.

The grand jury reported to Judge Bond at Cambridge Saturday, with the following list of Lowell cases. The more important indictments appeared in Saturday's Sun:

As was generally expected, no bill was found against Mrs. Letitia Blennerhassett of North Billerica, who was held for manslaughter in the lower court and consequently she goes free.

Ina Maloney, charged with lewd and lascivious conduct, also goes free, no bill being found against her.

Thomas F. Logue and James F. Dowd, the alleged assailants of John H. Cover, were indicted, the indictment charging them with robbery, while armed. Both men pleaded not guilty.

True bills were also found against Robert and Olan Vaughn, the former being indicted on six counts and the latter on four. The two men are jointly charged in the indictments with breaking and entering the offices of A. C. Goodrich, W. A. Dickinson, and Bartholomew Scannell and robbery from Patrolman John F. Healey. In addition to these, Robert will have to answer to two charges of assault with intent to kill, one upon Lieutenant James Brosnan and the other upon Inspector Charles Laflamme.

Both men were in court Saturday morning and pleaded not guilty of all charges. Robert is much improved in appearance since the trial in the local police court, looking more fleshy and generally more healthy. He wore a neat fitting black suit with sack coat. Olan does not appear to have suffered by his confinement and has grown a suspicion of a moustache upon his upper lip.

The other indictments were as follows:

Katie McCaffrey, adultery. She pleaded guilty.

Margaret Ellison, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Seth McAlpine, polygamy and adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Ben Walker, breaking and entering and larceny from the Billerica Baptist church; pleaded guilty.

Eli P. Laidane, forgery; pleaded guilty.

Thomas Keay, larceny from the person; pleaded not guilty.

Asard Roseck, larceny; pleaded not guilty.

Francis J. Kelley, rape; pleaded not guilty.

Frank P. Keyes, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

John Krofka, adultery, pleaded guilty.

John J. Armour, carnal abuse, pleaded not guilty.

William P. Lawrenson, breaking and entering P. J. Riley's junk shop, larceny of a watch and receiving stolen goods, three counts in all; pleaded not guilty.

Henry W. Armstrong, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Lillian G. Gallaway, adultery, pleaded not guilty.

No bill was returned against Mary Kershaw, but she is destined to remain behind the bars for some time to come, in serving the sentence imposed in the Suffolk county court.

The trial of cases will begin in the Cambridge court tomorrow, as court adjourned this morning out of respect for the late Sheriff Cushing.

A BAD ACCIDENT

Miss Melvina Lapierre Run Down by Scorchers

ON THE BOULEVARD LAST EVENING.

She Was Very Seriously Injured.

THE SCORCHERS BEAT HASTY RETREAT

Under Pretense of Getting a Physician.

Miss Melvina Lapierre, aged 20 years, daughter of Constable Joseph S. Lapierre, was last night the victim of a most painful bicycling accident and of most churlish treatment from the two men who caused her injuries.

About 5 o'clock last night, Miss Lapierre and a girl friend with a gentleman escort were riding leisurely up the boulevard, Miss Lapierre leading, the other young lady directly behind her and the gentleman in the rear.

Suddenly as they were about a quarter mile from the Varnum avenue entrance two men on a tandem came down upon them at a terrific rate of speed, crashing into Miss Lapierre's wheel before she could save herself.

She was hurled several feet by the force of the collision and the young lady riding behind her was also knocked down and badly bruised. The wheels of both young women were smashed, while the scorchers and their wheel escaped injury.

When Miss Lapierre was picked up, it was found that she was not only badly cut and bruised but was bleeding at the mouth from internal injuries.

The wily scorchers noting Miss Lapierre's serious condition suggested that they had better go for a doctor and the unsuspecting victims agreed with them. They started off again at breakneck speed and though thoroughly cognizant of the fact that the victim of the accident was in a very serious condition and far removed from any assistance they neither sent a physician nor showed up there again themselves.

After waiting nearly an hour for the physician whom the heartless scoundrels had promised to send, during which time Miss Lapierre suffered intensely, it was necessary for the gentleman in the party to leave the two young women alone on the boulevard and go in search of assistance.

He called at the house of Mrs. Susan Kenneson, 217 Pawtucket Boulevard, where the family, not only telephoned for the ambulance but sent a carriage for the young women. From Mrs. Kenneson's house they were removed to their homes on Sargent street.

The young men who rode the tandem which by the way was without a lantern are known by sight and are members of one of the local wheelmen's clubs. The police were notified of the case and undoubtedly the young men have not heard the last of the affair.

Miss Lapierre is in a serious condition, though not dangerous.

SAILBOAT CAPSIZED.

A sailboat containing a party of four capsized in the Merrimack river, off Varnum avenue, near the entrance to the boulevard early last evening.

The amateur sailors were wet down thoroughly but were rescued without difficulty.

FUNERALS.

BARRINGTON. The funeral of the late Albert Barrington who died suddenly Thursday afternoon at his home in Billerica avenue, North Billerica, after a long illness, took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church of that village. Rev. S. Knowles officiated and Archibald Ritchie, Richard T. Perry, James W. Sutcliffe and Herbert B. Ellis were pall bearers. The interment was in Fox Hill cemetery under the direction of Undertaker C. M. Young.

A quartette consisting of James W. Ritchie, H. B. Ellis, George Durstin, and Thomas Grimrod sang several selections. Mr. Thomas Bateson presided at the organ. Members of North Billerica Council, Royal Arcanum, attended in a body, he being a charter member. Deceased was a native of Swinton, England, but had made Billerica his home for the past 17 years. A father, mother, wife and two daughters survive. He had been employed in the spinning department of the Talbot Mills of that village for a long period and was 30 years, 6 months and 26 days of age.

FISHER—Mrs. Frances C. Fisher who died yesterday morning at the residence of her son, Rev. C. E. Fisher, 165 Branch street, had been a resident of this city but little over a year, yet during that time she had endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and her loss will be deeply mourned. Until she came to Lowell, deceased had lived the greater part of her life in Provincetown, where she reared her family. Besides her son, Rev. C. E. Fisher of the First Universalist church, she left a daughter, Mrs. Mayo of Brockton. Deceased was 67 years of age.

TWISS—The funeral of Sabrina A. Twiss was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence, 53 West Forrest street. Rev. R. A. Greene officiated and the bearers were Messrs. Arthur W. Lang, Fred A. George, Frank Stevens and Harry Greene. Interment was in the Edson cemetery.

CONNELL—The funeral of Michael Connell took place yesterday afternoon from his home, 31 Wall street, where a large number of his friends gathered to attend the remains to the cemetery. From the residence, the cortege went to the Immaculate Conception church, where services were held. Rev. Fr. [illegible], O. M. I., officiated. At close of the church service, the remains were taken to the family lot in the Catholic cemetery where interment took place with Undertaker O'Donnell in charge. The bearers were James Cox, Michael Nugent, Thomas and Patrick Nevins, Charles Farley and Michael Tighe. A large delegation of Holy Name society members attended the funeral, the deceased being connected with the society for many years.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Yesterday was Children's Day in the churches, the little ones being the center of attraction at every service. Nearly all wore white dresses and took an active part in the exercises which were held in their honor.

SMOOTH PAVEMENT

Growing in Popularity All Through the Country.

Some of the Various Forms of Best Smooth Paving Explained, Asphalt, Vulcanite and Asphaltina — Asphalt Possesses Most Merit and is Most Used.

As the past decade has pointed out the fact that slowly but surely the cities and towns of this country are coming to the exclusive use of smooth paving in the building of and reconstruction of their streets and roadways, and as at present the local press has entered into a controversy over the methods employed by the street department in making their awards for certain smooth paving contracts involving a discussion of the relative merits of various grades and kinds of smooth paving, the subject has become one of general interest, and the public up to date has been able to derive but little knowledge of the subject other than the fact that smooth paving is more desirable in streets than rough, and that it appears to be gaining in popularity each year.

The introduction of bituminous concrete pavements for roadways commenced about the year 1867 with a pavement consisting of a mixture of coal tar and sand which, though possessed of some merit was not lasting, due, it was agreed, to the fact that coal tar is not durable when subjected to atmospheric changes and street traffic.

In the year 1879 Mr. L. S. Filbert conceived the idea of mixing sulphur and lime with the coal tar, producing what was called the "Vulcanite" pavement, and for a few years a considerable amount of it was laid in Washington. In 1876 the first genuine asphalt pavement was laid in Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C., and was known as the "Trinidad Lake Asphalt Sheet Pavement."

Later still a new competitor came into the field under the name of Asphaltina, the Trinidad Asphalt having become decidedly popular throughout the country, and then the war of the smooth paving companies begun. The fight is asphalt against asphaltina, the former claiming that the latter is but a renewal of the old coal tar Vulcanite, which in its original form was no success.

THE PATENT SPECIFICATIONS.

The specifications of the several patents now in asphaltina and vulcanite are in extract as follows:

ASPHALTINA.

(Patent No. 540,793, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"I claim as my invention:

"1. The herein described composition of matter, consisting of a calcium resinate (lime and rosin), a heavy hydro-carbon, tar and sulphur.

"Heavy hydro-carbon" is described in the patent as 'The petroleum sediment known as B. S.' which is a sort of tar found in the bottom of crude oil tanks.

(Patent No. 540,792, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"2. The herein described composition of matter consisting of tar combined with sulphur substantially in the proportion specified, resin and sulphurized heavy hydro-carbon.

(Patent No. 540,791, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"This is substantially the same as the other two patents, substituting the term 'B. S.' for the word 'tar,' and provides that 'The hardness of the mixture may be increased by adding a greater or less quantity of tar, either coal, wood or petroleum tar, to the 'B. S.' residue and rosin.

VULCANITE.

(Patent No. 108,696, dated October 25th, 1870.)

"My composition is composed of the following ingredients: Asphalt, pitch, coal tar or pine tar, sulphuric acid, lime, sand, etc.

"Sulphur may be used instead of sulphuric acid."

From these there would appear to be a striking similarity in the two forms of paving.

The original Trinidad Lake asphalt pavements which are entirely different in their construction are now in use in about one hundred cities of the United States, to the extent of upward of 29,-000,000 square yards (1500 square miles), their growth increasing yearly since their beginning to almost the entire exclusion of other forms of pavement. It is laid upon a foundation of concrete, from four to six inches in thickness, depending upon the nature of the traffic to be provided for, composed of Trinidad Lake asphalt, sand, petroleum, residium and lime stone dust. It has often replaced other paving materials such as macadam, brick, granite blocks, and cobble stones, and these pavements have also been successfully used as a foundation for a wearing surface of asphalt. Its promoters claim that it outlasts any other form of pavement except granite and is so close a second that it is preferred to granite for its many excellences. Many streets paved with it, it is claimed, are in perfect order without any repairs after 10 years use.

In Buffalo, N. Y., which claims to be the best paved city in America, over 4,000,000 square yards or 200 miles, the greatest extent in the world have been laid in the past 18 years at a cost in the neighborhood of 12 or 13 million dollars, and the chief engineer of the city lauds its praises in no uncertain terms.

DECREASES DEATH RATE.

And speaking of the benefits of asphalt pavements one of the most striking appears in "Municipal Engineering of March, 1897 under the headlines "Asphalt Paving and Health in New York." A Memphis, Tenn. official writes that he had been informed that the mayor of New York had stated that the extended use of asphalt pavements in that city had lowered the death rate and sought information as to the truth of the statement. The board of health in its answer showed decreased rate and made this statement.

"The remarkable decrease in the death rate and in the death rate from diarrhoeal diseases for the same period indicates improved sanitary conditions, the cleanliness of streets, the asphalt pavements, the improved milk supply and the use of sterilized milk have no doubt contributed."

Among the cities using asphalt and the amount used are the following:

Hamilton, O., 86,380 sq. yds; Detroit, Mich., 432,749 sq. yds; Peoria, Ill., 146,-740 sq. yds; Columbus, 308,020 sq. yds; Cincinnati, O., 496,660 sq. yds; Philadelphia, 171.82 miles; Washington, D. C., 2,405, 932 sq. yds; Denver, Col., 240,000 sq. yds; Toledo, O., 335,000 sq. yds; Buffalo, N. Y., 25.33 miles; Minneapolis, Minn., 178,674 sq. yds; Brooklyn, N. Y., 675,000 sq. yds; Dayton, O., 355,504 sq. yds; Niagara Falls, N. Y. 42,090 sq. yds;

Among the direct answers of the engineers of these cities to the question, "which gives the best satisfaction?" Seven said asphalt; one asphalt and brick; one asphalt and medina stone and two brick.

In many of the larger cities most of the new work that is being done in streets is with this sheet asphalt. In New York during 1896 says a street report the most important asphalt paving work during the season of 1896 was Fifth avenue between Ninth and Fifty-ninth streets and First avenue between Twentieth and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth streets. Both of them very large contracts are now incomplete owing to delays in trenching necessary, also street car track obstructions. The asphalt gutter strips, usually four feet, usually placed on the street previously paved with stone blocks and for the convenience of bicyclists and thorough street cleaning, have preferred their utility."

THE LOCAL SIDE

And with these recommendations back of them the Trinidad Sheet Asphalt people came here to enter into competition with the other smooth pavers, but the City Council and Supt. Cheney deliberately bar out this company and let the contract out without competition to a company giving only a 5-year guarantee whose work is claimed to be inferior, despite the fact that the superior asphalt company offers a 10 year guarantee.

Are we getting the best for our money, or are we patronizing a particular company at a loss to the city?

CATHOLIC NOTES

First Communion at St. Patrick's Church Yesterday

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES AT SACRED HEART.

Observance of St. Anthony's Day Tomorrow.

St. Patrick's church was the scene of a beautiful religious event yesterday morning when 221 children received their first communion at 5.30 o'clock mass. Of these 122 were girls and 99 were boys. The girls were all attired in white dresses and veils and the boys wore white shirt waists and ties. The mass was sung by Rev. Fr. McHugh, and Rev. Richard S. Burke preached an eloquent sermon to the young communicants. In the afternoon the children attended Vespers in a body. Rev. Fr. Leonard sang Vespers and there was a special musical program.

SACRED HEART CHURCH.

The solemnization of the feast of the Sacred Heart was fittingly observed yesterday at the Sacred Heart church, Moore St. . At 10.30 solemn high mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Fr. Lefebvre, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Fr. Mast- O. M. I., of the Tewksbury Novitiate as deacon, Rev. Fr. McRory, O. M. I., as sub deacon, and Rev. Fr. Reynolds O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church as master of ceremonies. Fr. Reynolds also preached the sermon. In the procession of the blessed sacrament the novices from the novitiate at Tewksbury participated and sang the Litany and the "Pange Lingua." The children who received their first communion and were confirmed last week, the Sisters of the Sacred Heart school and the altar boys walked in the procession, all carrying banners.

The pastor announced that the proceeds of the recent bazaar amounted to $3010.44. He also announced that a church debt society would be soon formed.

Sunday evening, a triduum preparatory to the feast of St. Anthony of Padua was commenced at this church.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

On Thursday evening, June 29, there will be a lawn party at the Burns residence on Rogers street and Butman road, under the auspices of the Ladies of the Sacred Heart in aid of the new convent.

The Immaculate Conception school will close on Friday, June 23.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated this morning at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of Michael O'Connell. Rev. Fr. Lawrence, O. M. I., was the celebrant.

St. Anthony's Day will be observed tomorrow at the Immaculate Conception church and masses will be celebrated at 5.15, 6.30 and 8 oclock.

FROM THE WEAVERS.

At the Burke Temperance hall Friday night a testimonial was given by the Brussels carpet weavers of Lowell to Mr. Joseph Casey. He was presented with a handsome gold watch by his co-workers. The presentation was made by President-elect Geo. Farrow, and the following local talent took part in the entertainment: Songs by John Murray, Michael Gorman, May Miller, Glen Wilson, Daniel McCaffrey; negro specialty, George Shanks; harmonica solo, Master Lynch; also duet by the Misses Perrin; songs by Peter Ball and Master Arthur Walker. Committee in charge, Geo. Farrow, chairman; Albert Richardson and Arthur McFayden.

THE NEW CHURCH

Of Pawtucketville Congregational Society.

NOW PRACTICALLY COMPLETED.

Money Subscribed for a New Organ.

The new Pawtucket church is nearly completed. Two of the large memorial windows are in place and the third window on Mammoth road side is being placed in position at present. There are 21 small memorial windows which will be in position before Saturday, the 17th.

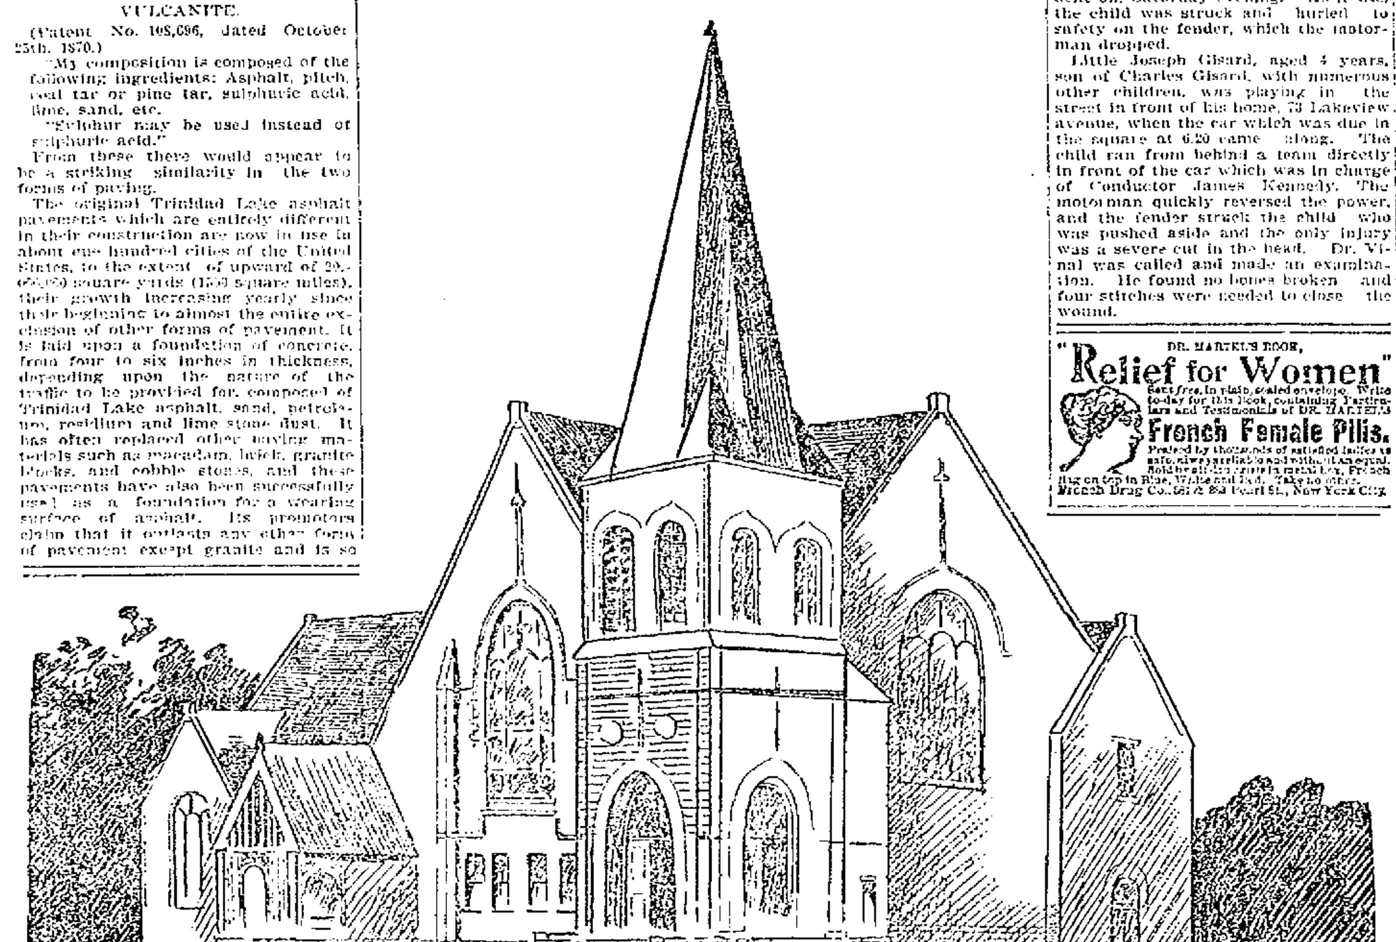

The pews are to be in position June 14. When the pews and windows are in, the church will be practically completed. There are in the auditorium 300 sittings. The vestry opens into the auditorium and is capable of seating from 200 to 250. There are sliding doors between the vestry and the auditorium.

The roof of the auditorium is supported by steel trusses, which, with the decorations and memorial windows, give a very pleasing effect.

It was voted at the parish meeting June 7 to purchase a new organ, to be made especially for the church. The money for the same having been pledged, it will probably be some three months before the organ is ready. The church is so arranged as to be very commodious and convenient, nearly all the church work proper being on one floor, the basement containing ladies kitchen, serving room and a banquet hall is capable of seating some 300. There is also a large boiler room for wood and coal. The building will be heated by three large furnaces.

The system of ventilation is such as to give a pure and wholesome air which is relieved of its impurities by a register in the floor adjoining into a large air box, which connects with a large ventilating flue.

The old church and horse sheds will soon be removed or torn down.

THE NEW PAWTUCKET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL.

Joseph F. Convery, the well known city carpenter and labor organizer, was yesterday chosen president for the ensuing six months and the Trades and Labor Council. The regular meeting was held in the afternoon and other elections were as follows: Vice president, Charles H. McCullough; secretary John J. Mahoney; financial secretary, Daniel Moynahan; treasurer, Albert Ham; sergeant-at-arms, Patrick Kane. After considerable discussion, it was voted to parade on Labor Day. A committee consisting of one from each union was appointed with full power to make all arrangements for the proper observance of the day. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Retiring President Shannon for the able and honest manner in which he performed the duties of his office.

A committee of three was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions and have them framed and presented to ex-President Shannon at the next meeting.

NARROW ESCAPE

CHILD STRUCK BY FENDER OF A NASHUA CAR.

But for the skill and cool head of Motorman Michael Roarke of the Nashua electric line, another child's life would have been ground out a short distance from the scene of the Beaurgale accident on Saturday evening. As it was the child was struck and hurled to safety on the fender, which the motorman dropped.

Little Joseph Gisard, aged 4 years, son of Charles Gisard, with numerous other children, was playing in the street in front of his home, 73 Lakeview avenue, when the car which was due in the square at 6.20 came along. The child ran from behind a team directly in front of the car which was in charge of Conductor James Kennedy. The motorman quickly reversed the power, and the fender struck the child who was pushed aside and the only injury was a severe cut in the head. Dr. Vinal was called and made an examination. He found no bones broken and four stitches were needed to close the wound.

Scottish Sovereign Remedies Cure.

The Scottish Doctors' Treatment for Catarrh Warmly Praised.

Mackintosh Scottish Sovereign Remedy Co.: Gentlemen—It is with great pleasure that I give you my testimonial. For some time I have been suffering from that terrible disease, Catarrh. My nostrils were nearly closed, and it was almost impossible to breathe through them. My whole head was badly inflamed, my eyes were full of water, and my sleep very much disturbed. Reading your advt. one morning, I concluded to call at your office and receive trial treatment. The attention your doctors gave me was simply elegant. After my first treatment I noticed a decided beneficial effect. I have been using your Catarrh Remedy for about 10 days, and the results have been most marvellous. My head is clear, the inflammation is gone, and I feel like a new being. I advise all suffering with this obnoxious disease to use the Scottish Catarrh Specialty and receive the same blessing I have. Yours very truly, CHAS. J. JONES, Roxbury.

The Tax Dodgers,

The Capitalists,
The Aristocrats,
The Idlers,

and the people who cry down Lowell goods and do all their buying in Boston, find plenty of time to read the morning papers.

The Hustlers,

The Bread Winners,
The Toilers,
The Honest Taxpayers,

and the masses who earn their money in Lowell and spend it in Lowell, find time to read the evening paper only, and they read The Sun because it is the best of them all.

Shrewd advertisers who want to reach the buying classes use the columns of the Sun, because it is the people's paper, and because it has a larger circulation than any two other papers in Lowell.

IT IS....

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

The genuine democrats of the country will be one less when Silver Dick Bland passes away.

There is great trouble over the screen law in Lawrence and other cities. It is giving no trouble whatever in Lowell.

The legislature ended its session leaving two important things undone. These are the abolition of the death penalty and the granting of the franchise to women—still perennial questions.

In another year or two the people will throng the public race tracks to witness not horse races, but speed contests of automobiles, in which the winner will be regarded in much the same light as a successful yacht.

Little Marion Clark, after all, was a gainer by being kidnapped, as the New York Journal divided the $2,000 reward which was offered for the recovery of the lost child between the lady who discovered the child and the child herself.

The news dispatches had it last week that a street car nearly ran over Mark Hanna but we surmise it was Hanna nearly ran over the street car. This modern political colossus strides the earth and ordinary men pass in and out between his legs to find themselves dishonorable graves.

Asphaltina, it should be remembered is but an imitation of the genuine asphalt, just as butterine and oleomargarine are inferior imitations of butter. Asphalt is the material used in all the principal cities of the old world and as yet there has been no imitation produced equal to the original.

Jeffries, if we are to judge by the newspaper pictures of him, is the most formidable pugilist of the lot. He is a man of the John L. Sullivan type when John L. was in his prime. The defeat of Fitzsimmons, if it was honestly achieved, only goes to show that every champion lasts but a while and then passes off the scene to give place to some new comer.

Lowell is apprehensive that under no-license it will be overrun with native wine stores. Judging from Brockton's experience it has no need to be alarmed. Brockton has had such stores but they failed to make any appreciable mark on the temperance record. People who hanker to get drunk do not fool away their money on native wines.—Brockton Enterprise.

Lowell has little to fear from such a source. Anyhow, the native wine industry is not flourishing of late in this vicinity.

The city of Boston has abolished the sanitary division of the street department and given the contract of removing the city's garbage and ashes over to a corporation. A contract has been signed for this purpose and it is the first in which provision has been made for the use of automobile carriages. In the garbage contract now being executed by the city of Lowell, it seems that this new species of vehicle has been overlooked.

The action of Co. M in volunteering its services to the government if required in the Philippine war, is very favorably commented upon throughout the state. This action, we notice, is not copied by very many military companies who saw service in Cuba. The company means all right but it might be employed in a better cause than in trying to rob a struggling nation of its independence.

The death of Frank Thompson, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has alarmed the heads of some of the other combines through the country. It is presumed that his death was hastened by over-exertion in the management of a large concern of which he was the head. In this respect, his death has alarmed many of the trust magnates who have assumed large responsibilities at short notice without any proof of their qualification to manage such concerns. Mr. Thompson was a notable example of the self-made man. He worked his way upward from the very bottom to the highest position in the greatest railway system in the country. There is scarcely anything about a railway that he did not know and it took him 38 years to acquire that knowledge. It will be almost impossible to find a man equally accomplished in railroading to take his place.

The New York Sun, which for some years past has displayed a degree of captious senility, insinuated that the New York Journal or some of its attaches was responsible for the kidnapping of Baby Clark. The Journal is so far ahead of the old-fashioned curmudgeonly Sun that the latter cannot even imagine the originality and the enterprise which bring such unparalleled success to the Journal. As a newspaper, the New York Sun seems to be suffering from some organic disease which promises to terminate its existence in the near future.

The release and vindication of Dreyfus will bring back into popular favor in France that fearless and distinguished writer, Zola, who was sentenced to prison for stating some facts in connection with the Dreyfus case, and while Dreyfus and Zola will be restored to freedom, Count Esterhazy and Patty du Clam will soon be sent to prison. The French people must have victims and it is very difficult to convince them that they are wrong, no matter how strong the proof.

The surging sea of humanity that rolled as in an ocean tide on Merrimack Square and vicinity, Friday night, was quite as large as any that ever waited for the returns of a presidential election in this city. Talk about prize fights and the alleged abuse of giving space to them in a newspaper. When the people show as much interest in them as in a national election, it is quite evident that they will seek out the paper that gives them this particular piece of news. If they cannot get it in a local paper, they will find it in some other. That is one of the reasons why The Sun gave such a full account of the fight. The people want the news and that is why the news of the prize fight, with news of every other description is given in the people's paper, the Lowell Sun.

A Kansas girl sent $1 to a New York "specialist" for a sure cure for freckles." This is the recipe which she received: Remove the freckles carefully with a pocket knife; soak them over night in salt water; then hang up in the smoke house in a good strong smoke made of sawdust and slippery elm bark for a week. Freckles thus treated never fail to be thoroughly cured.

A Michigan printer in making up his paper recently got a wedding notice and a delicatessen advertisement mixed, and the following rather startling announcement was the result: John Wilbur and Hannah S. Where the leaflets hang down
And no one may speak or spy.
Oh! were I there,

And likewise of clothes, with a net
Hanging ov'r me to keep

A North Billerica woman set two hens that hatched out their broods about the same time. One hatched thirteen brown leghorns, the other twelve Plymouth Rock chicks and one brown Pekoen. The leghorn's mother was not fond of the Plymouth Rock chicks and severely chastised them at every opportunity, but claimed the one lone leghorn of the flock, finally taking it with her own brood and not allowing it to go out with the others. Evidently the hen had heard that thirteen was an unlucky number.

Look out for food combinations in this weather. For instance, don't partake of cream pie and cucumbers to any extent at the same meal. The result might not exactly be what is desired. I see a family did so the other day, and found it a knock-out combination. The physicians are now at work on the case. They don't know whether to blame the pie or the cucumbers and they are having very hard work trying to find out. Have some regard for the physicians and don't compel them to labor so desperately. They're not used to it. Always have due consideration for the physician, for he was reared a vet.

Physicians are having an extremely quiet time at present, and not one of the local medicos is finding himself at all rushed. This has been a month of extreme health, and though the doctors have always a certain number of chronic cases and regular patients, the past few weeks have been the quietest for many months. There is not a case of any sort, and the call for specifics has been for such people who periodically suffer with rheumatism, bostitis or other complaints. Accidents have been rare, and the several days of extreme heat passed without a case of prostration being brought to a doctor's attention. Their office practice keeps up to a certain extent, and if any time is left, the physician takes on an opportunity to post his books, a habit he is somewhat erratic and irregular in.

Agustin Daly's personality was peculiar. He lived most literally in his theatre, working day and night, indulging in no recreations and devoting himself strainly to his work mentally and physically. He was autocratic on the premises. His rules for players were strict and they had to be obeyed. Such provisions as that no complaint might be made to him morally and his actors must not lounge in Broadway and many other equally singular, were enforced rigidly by means of fines. He was respected for his ability, however, if not loved, and a season under his discipline was as good as a term at school for a novice. He was a recluse, seldom seen in public places and his social associations were few. He was a unique character, a rare blend of visionary and the utilitarian in stage art and all things considered, the greatest American deviser and practicer of stagecraft. Our theatricals owe considerable of their marked progress within the past quarter of a century to him.

GOLD BRICK

WORKED ON A WOMAN IN THIS CITY.

The gold brick swindle on a small scale, it is alleged, was successfully worked not far from the new postoffice recently. The alleged offender has not been arrested. A young married woman of good family had been aware that money was to come to her some day through a distant relative. She was induced by a neighbor to visit a fortune teller. The young woman says the fortune teller requested her to bring him five $5 gold pieces which he would place in a specially made bag which she was to wear about her neck nights.

The off et, the fortune teller informed her, would be that the date of the fortune coming to her would be revealed in a dream. The young woman says she complied with the fortune teller's wish. The fag star wore several nights without result. She then cancelled the fag, she says, and found five 5 cent pieces enough.

At first the young woman was not inclined to tell her husband, but when she found the fortune teller had removed from Lowell, she did. While he laughed at the easy manner in which she was duped the young woman says he is as anxious as she to find the fortune teller.

FIRE WAS SET

INVESTIGATION TO BE MADE OF BLAZE IN WENTWORTH BLOCK.

As stated in Saturday's Sun, Fire Marshal Shaw, Chief Engineer Hosmer and the police have been investigating a fire which was recently discovered in the Wentworth block. Chief Hosmer says of the investigation: "The fire was set. The question is, was it accidental? The police arrested a young man in the building on a charge of burglarious and larceny. His case has been continued to next Tuesday. The young man says he was in Lawrence early that night and drank some beer. He says that what took place in Lowell after he returned is mostly a blank to him. The young man seems to be unable to give a satisfactory explanation why he was in the building. He has been employed by the owner of the building for many years and has a good reputation. He remembers being placed in the patrol wagon that night, but does not remember what took place before that time. It was thought best to have a fire investigation. Two women identified the young man as being seen in Harristers hall that night. The young man resides in Dividence. Men have been to see me about the affair, but I have nothing to do with it further than what the law requires."

Office, Lowell, Mass.

TOMORROW AFTEROOON.

We have, after mature deliberation decided to advertise and sell our real estate, known as the F. P. COGGESHALL PROPERTY and numbered 11 Lyon street. It is much larger than we need and more valuable property than we can afford to occupy. In consequence of our decision to sell, we shall on Tuesday next, June 13th, 1899, at five o'clock in the afternoon, offer without limit or reserve of any kind whatever, to the highest bidders at absolute auction the large two and one-half story square house and two-story ell, containing thirteen large rooms, two large pantries, two sheds, unfinished attic and a great number of linen, clothes and other closets. The house is in fine order and condition, is well arranged, is very convenient, is attractively finished, and a remarkably solid and substantial structure. Full set of double windows screens and doors.

The stable has room for four or five horses, four carriages and wagons, storage room and big loft; with a few slight repairs is in good condition and a heavy, firm building. There are large, light-jointed cellars under the house and stable.

THE LOT has a frontage of 66 feet, a depth of 92 feet, an area of 5963 square feet, is level, has some fruit trees, shrubbery, etc., concrete walk, etc., is laid down to a fine lawn and is a prime parcel of land.

THE ESTATE is undoubtedly one of the finest realties in its section of Lowell. It is a very genteel and highly respectable looking property and should prove a very inviting temptation to almost any real estate investor. The speculator could very easily turn this estate into a resting property and derive from it a very handsome return. Houses open for inspection after 10 a. m. on day of sale.

The purchaser must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $150 as soon as the property is struck off, other terms very easy.

IN SELFE DEFENSE

David Davis Killed His Son-In-Law.

THE TWO MEN HAD QUARRELED.

The Assailant Gave Himself up to Police.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

KEENE, N. H., June 12.—The second homicide in Cheshire county within ten days occurred Saturday afternoon about 15 miles from here in the town of Winchester. The scene of the killing is a somewhat isolated spot on a stream known as Broad Brook on a road about three miles from the village of Winchester and nearly the same distance from the village of Ashuelot in the same town. The highway continues on to the town of Chesterfield.

About 3 p. m., David D. Davis, a farmer and lumberman living at the spot named, drove into Winchester, with a steaming horse and surrendered himself to the authorities, stating that he had shot and probably killed Ernest Maddox, who lived in the same house with him. He left his victim alive but thought he could not survive more than an hour.

The man was placed in confinement and Deputy Sheriff Rixford, H. W. Brigham and Dr. George W. Pierce and Dr. Cast were driven to the scene, where they found the victim lying in a pool of blood in the house dead.

Davis told an apparently straightforward story of the killing, from which it appears that a quarrel arose between the men about 1 p. m., over a woman woman from Swanzey, who had ridden out to the place on her bicycle, and to whom Maddox was paying much attention in the presence of the family. Mrs. Maddox is a stepdaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davis. The latter remonstrated with Maddox for his conduct, but without avail. Mr. Davis finally took part and a violent quarrel ensued, during which both men went outside the house. Maddox finally became so enraged that he seized an axe and attempted to assault Davis, but the latter seized a shotgun and fired a charge over the young man's head, hoping to avoid further trouble. He took the precaution, however, to reload his gun. In a few minutes, Maddox rushed into the house with another and a longer axe in his hands and made a rush for Davis, threatening to split his head open. Mrs. Davis stepped between the belligerents and attempted to wrench it from the infuriated man's grasp. He fought desperately for the weapon and was twisting it away from the woman's hold when the old man fired at him, the charge taking effect in his abdomen. Maddox fell to the floor mortally wounded.

Davis waited for an hour or so, hoping that a fatal result might be avoided, but finding his victim was dying, harnessed his horse and drove rapidly to Winchester to give himself up.

FAST TIME

MADE IN THE HOMING CLUB FLY SATURDAY.

The fly of the Lowell Homing club on Saturday was from Philadelphia to Lowell, 292 miles. Sixteen birds competed. Dyer had nine birds, Youngjohns five, and Fletcher and Murphy, one each. The birds were liberated at 5:30 a. m., with fair weather. One of Youngjohns' birds was the only one to reach Lowell at 2:45 p. m. The average speed of that bird was 568 yards per minute. The next fly will be from Washington, D. C., June 17.

TOOK THE FIRST

The Bostons Made a Grand Finish.

DOHENY PITCHED GOOD BALL.

Doyle's Errors Were Very Costly.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 12.—In the sixth inning of the game with Champion Boston at the polo ground this afternoon, Doheny, who pitched for the Giants, became wild and erratic, and the result was two runs for Captain Duffy's men that they shouldn't have got. In the ninth, Doyle dropped two throws on first and these errors started the champions on the road to victory, for three runs came in right afterward and the Giants lost a game that every one of the 2,500 spectators felt they had practically won.

Up to that fatal Sixth Doheny had pitched wonderful ball. He had great speed and a low inshoot at which the champions lunged in vain. Long made a scratch hit off him in the first inning. In the second inning he struck out Lowe and Stafford and in the third, after giving Clarke first on balls, he struck out Killen, Tenney and Long. Stahl having got his base on Wilson's fumble. That was splendid work and Doheny was enthusiastically applauded. In the fourth he struck out Collins and Stafford, making a record for the four innings of seven strike outs and it really seemed to the craftsmen though he were destined to make the strike-out record for the season.

But the sixth inning dispelled the illusion.

The Giants, in the meantime, had made a couple of runs, and that fact, along with Doheny's great pitching, beguiled the spectators into the belief that they were on easy street.

The score by innings:

Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Boston ..... 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 3—5
New York ..... 1 0 0 1 0 0 0 2 0—4

Earned runs—New York. Stolen bases—Duffy 2, Lowe. Sacrifice hit—Gleason. Double play—Hartman and Warner. First base on balls—Off Doheny 3, off Killen 2. Hit by pitcher—Hall. Grady, Warner, Stahl, Collins. Struck out—By Doheny 9, by Killen 2. Passed balls—Clarke, Warner. First base on errors—New York 1, Boston 5. Left on bases—New York 8, Boston 12. Time—2h. 15m. Umpires—Lynch and Warner. Attendance—2500.

The other games resulted as follows:
Pittsburg 6, Louisville 1.
Pittsburg 5, Louisville 4.
Cleveland 3, St. Louis 6.

The result of yesterday's games is as follows:
Chicago 2, St. Louis 1.
Cincinnati 8, Louisville 2.
Cincinnati 10, Louisville 1.

HARVARD MAN

IS BADLY WANTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—Members of the corps of inspectors under Chief Watts at police headquarters, with officers of the Hanover street station are devoting much of their time just now in an attempt to locate the whereabouts of Robert Walstein, a Harvard medical student, on charges of embezzlement of fully $8000 from various persons, and also that of passing forged checks on the officials of the Blackstone National bank.

Young Walstein is 23 years old and is the son of Abraham Walstein, one of the wealthiest Hebrews in the North End, who lives at 6 Couper street. Through the peculations of his son, now a fugitive from justice, Mr. Walstein loses fully $4000, while Julius Rotenberg, a well known steamship agent conducting a business at 115 Salem street, is out a cool $1150. Other merchants in the North End, it is claimed, have also been taken in for various amounts, and all the money was obtained through forged checks, made out of paper of the Blackstone National bank, at the corner of Blackstone and Hanover streets, where Mr. Walstein, Sr., had an account.

NEW SOUTHERN PLANT

OF THE MERRIMACK MILLS NEAR HUNTSVILLE, ALA.

The Merrimack Manufacturing company is to place 20,000 spindles and 2000 looms in Madison County near Huntsville, Ala., and will soon commence work on the plant. The citizens of Huntsville have donated a sum of $80,000 to buy a site for the plant thus securing the location in the immediate vicinity of their town. The plant is to be established in separate mills of 25,000 spindles, 700 looms each, and plans for the first one are nearly ready and contracts for erection will be awarded soon.

WAR INEVITABLE

If Pres. Kruger Does Not Recede

SITUATION IN TRANSVAAL IS SERIOUS.

A Mass Meeting of Uitlanders Held.

Relative to Mediation by United States.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 10—It is not improbable that the crisis in the Transvaal will be hastened today by some untoward incident at Johannesburg. J. B. Robinson, the South African millionaire and mine owner, received a telegram today from his agent at Johannesburg, saying the situation there is most serious. The agent adds that a mass meeting of Uitlanders would be held today in order to confirm and support the proposals of the British High commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner. As open air meetings are not allowed without permission, it is not improbable if the necessary permission is not obtained that the police will endeavor to stop the meeting.

The concensus of opinion among prominent Uitlanders and South African capitalists in London is that the British government is in a tight fix, that it cannot retreat from its position and that if President Kruger does not recede, war is inevitable.

Regarding the suggestion that the United States be asked to mediate between the Transvaal and Great Britain Mr. Joseph Choate, the United States ambassador, says:

"While every good American would welcome the possibility of helping a solution of the present situation, we have not been approached in the matter and I personally know nothing of the proposed mediation by America."

An official of the foreign office, in conversation with the Associated Press said:

"We have not approached America, nor has America approached us in this matter and it is very unlikely that America will be asked to do anything of the kind, much as we value the good feeling existing between the two countries."

A GRAND REVIEW

Queen Will See Thousands of Troops

Mrs. Maybrick's Case Demands the Attention of Society for the Amendment of Criminal Law—Mrs. Choate Has a Busy Week.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LONDON, June 10.—The splendid weather of the past week brought fashionable people to the parks and streets and has given London a very gay appearance. The heat of the early part of the week has been tempered by cool breezes during the last couple of days.

THE ASCOT RACES.

Everyone is now looking forward to the Ascot races where a very large attendance is expected although fewer houses around Ascot have been taken. The Prince of Wales will entertain a bachelors party at Heath House, and the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Beckett at Ascot. The Duke and Duchess of Westminster, the Duke and Duchess of Portland and the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire will entertain big parties.

Ascot, however, will be shorn of its leading feature by the omission of the royal procession up the course each day. The Prince of Wales and the other royalties will drive to the course privately, the queen having prohibited the procession in order to mark the family mourning for Prince Alfred of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and the queen of Denmark.

THE QUEEN'S REVIEW.

Great preparations are being made for the big review of troops at Aldershot, June 25, by the queen. The ceremony will take place in Laffan's plain and about 11,400 troops will participate in it. There will be 14 infantry battalions and a magnificent cavalry division drawn from the guards and other crack regiments.

Her Majesty this week invited a traveling circus which was passing near Balmoral, to give a performance in the park and the Queen, the guests of the castle and the tenantry and servants witnessed the show.

SOCIETY IS INTERESTED.

Society is intensely interested in the coming great bazaar at Albert Hall in aid of the Charing Cross hospital which is expected to net at least $250,000. People moving in the highest ranks of society will give their services in the stalls. Mrs. Paget and Mrs. Ronalds being the soul of the affair. The American stall which will be decorated gorgeously with American colors will be attended by Mesdames Choate, Bradley Martin and Ronalds and Miss Drexel. Mrs. Paget's American bar and flower stall is a most novel arrangement in papier mache. She has obtained gifts of the choicest exotics from Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, Baron Schroeder and other famous growers.

Col. Arthur Paget visited the stock exchange and sent his hat around to defray the expense of boarding over the floor of Albert Hall and netted $50,000 and the Earl and Countess of Craven and Mrs. Bradley Martin levied contributions of unique and valuable pieces of silver among their friends for sale at the American stall.

Lady Randolph Churchill has definitely secured the services of Mesdames Patti, Melba, Nordica, Navada and the other stars for the concert which is to be held on the first day, and Beerbohm Tree has secured Sir Henry Irving, George Alexander, John Hare, the Kendalls and others for the second day's entertainment.

The Queen is a patroness of the bazaar. It is the first time she has acted as patroness of a bazaar in years. She accepted upon this occasion because her first patronage when she was 14 years old was given for the Charing Cross hospital.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S CASE.

The society for the amendment of criminal law met this week under the presidency of Sir Charles Cameron. The members are keenly interested in the case of Mrs. Maybrick. They include Lord James of Hereford, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, Augustine Berrell, the famous Chancery barrister and author, Justice Vaughn-Williams and Matthew Wright. Sir Charles Cameron, who is well known as a prison reformer, said to a representative of The Associated Press:

"The Maybrick case is one of the planks of our society's platform and now that Sir Matthew White Ridley, secretary of state to the home department, is reviving the case by Lord Salisbury's direction and through the pressure of the American government, exerted through their excellent ambassador, it can only be a matter of a short time in my opinion before her unconditional release. Until then, this strong society will never cease to back up all efforts in that direction."

MRS. CHOATE'S BUSY WEEK.

Mr. Joseph H. Choate, the United States ambassador, and Mrs. Choate, and Mr. Henry White, secretary of the United States embassy, and Mrs. White, and Mr. James R. Carter, second secretary of the United States embassy, and Mrs. Carter, attended the reception and dance given by the Marquis of Lansdowne, the secretary of war, on Wednesday, which was one of the most brilliant events of the season.

Mr. Choate has had an exceedingly busy week, with the Alaskan negotiations. Incidentally a publisher named Sands announced his intention to collect and publish Mr. Choate's "Bon Mots," and anecdotes as "Choate's Jest Book." But Mr. Choate expostulated with the result that the book was suppressed.

The Prince of Wales' cutter Brittania in view of the arrangements made for her to sail test races against the America's cup challenger Shamrock, is being prepared for commission at Cowes, Isle of Wight, with all despatch. Her mast was stepped this week and the yacht is now in dry dock, being recalked and re-coppered. Sir Thomas Lipton, who has been cruising on the south coast in his steam yacht Erin, has taken a number of photographs of the wrecked steamer Paris.

THE CUP CHALLENGER.

Mr. Charles Russell tells the Associated Press that all work on the cup challenger is proceeding very smoothly, and that a fine craft is emerging from Fife's ideas, which are being faithfully adhered to, and whatever her racing merits may prove to be, the Shamrock will be as perfect a model yacht in construction as ever entered a great race.

CRAVEN WAS FINED.

The Honorable Rupert Cecil Craven has been fined in the Marlebone police court for kicking a lawyer out of his house, Bingham lodge, where he served a petition on Craven's wife, against whom charges are made, pending a divorce suit. Craven allowed the clerk to serve the petition and then kicked him out of the door. Craven is a brother-in-law of the Countess of Craven, and he was his brother's best man at the wedding.

ON THE RACE COURSE.

Mr. Richard Croker has made his first appearance on a race course since his arrival in England, to witness his horse run at the Brighton meeting on Thursday.

Tod Sloan has given the newspapers a letter he received from New York, signed S. A. Decker, demanding $250 under a threat of exposing the jockey as using the writer's invention of an electric battery to win races on bad horses. The writer says:

"We are stopped here by the law and now you are reaping the fruits of our inventions. I think it time to step in and call you down."

Justin McCarthy had a cataract on his right eye removed on Thursday at the Royal Eye hospital, and is now progressing satisfactorily.

TRIED TO SUICIDE

Edward Murphy Cut His Throat

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SPENCER, Mass., June 10.—Edward Murphy, a dresser tender at Beebe & Webbers woolen mill attempted suicide by cutting his throat early this morning after setting fire to the boarding house in which he lived. The man was heard to fall to the floor and the occupants of the house were able to put out the fire. Murphy will live. No reason can be assigned for the crime except insanity.

GHASTLY FIND

PORTION OF MAN'S BODY FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 10—A ghastly find was made this morning in the water off the Crescent Athletic club at the foot of 85th street, Bay Ridge. It was that portion of a man's body between the waist and ankles, the missing parts having evidently been severed with some sharp instrument. The police are investigating the matter.

BAD ACCIDENT

ELECTRIC CAR THROWN FROM THE TRACKS.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., June 10.—At 8.20 this morning an electric car in charge of Conductor Jerald Cook and Motorman James McEwen, broke two journals on Prospect street, causing the car to fall on one side in the middle of the street. McEwen and Cook were badly hurt and McEwen lost his left arm by having it caught under the corner post of the car.

SATURDAY'S GOLF

REV. C. W. HUNTINGTON WON LONGMEADOW CHAMPIONSHIP

The Longmeadow Golf club of this city had a handicap tournament, medal play Saturday afternoon. Rev. C. W. Huntington took first prize with a gross score of 67, handicap 12, net 55. Henry Wilder won second prize, his net score being 61.

THE VESPERS WON.

The Newton Centre Golf club's team was defeated by eight holes by the Vesper Country club team at the latter's grounds at Tyng's Island Saturday afternoon. The scores:

Vespers—Chadwick, 2; Romney, 10; Bean, 0; Corwin, 1; Thorpe, 2; Grover, 0; totals, 15.

Newton Centre—Noyes, 0; Wilkie, 0; Allen, 0; Royce, 0; Merrill, 0; Wadsworth, 7; total, 7.

LAWYER BATTLE

Makes a New Move in Molineux Case.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 10.—George Gordon Battle, of counsel for Roland B. Molineux, charged with causing the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams, appeared before Justice Gildersleeve in Supreme court chambers today and obtained writs of prohibition, habeas corpus and certiorari in the case, citing Justice Jerome of the Court of Special Sessions and District Attorney Gardiner to appear before Justice Gildersleeve Monday morning to show cause why Roland B. Molineux is detained in prison. The writ of prohibition sets forth that inasmuch as the grand jury could review the case without an order of the court of general sessions, an inferior magistrate is without jurisdiction. The writ of habeas corpus orders Warden Hagan to produce Molineux in court Monday and the writ of certiorari reviews the proceedings before Magistrate Jerome yesterday.

MRS. WINSLOWS' SOOTHING SYRUP

KILLARNEY LAKES

Will be Purchased by New York Syndicate.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 10.—James Boothby Burke-Roche, member of parliament for West Kerry, Ireland, who has been in this country several months, attending to personal business, yesterday laid before Mayor Van Wyck, James J. Coogan and several other gentlemen interested, a distinct proposition for the purchase of the estate in Ireland which includes Muckross Abbey and the famous Lakes of Killarney. Muckross Abbey is a fine old ruin, dating from the fifteenth century and the Killarney Lakes are noted among tourists the world over as one of the most beautiful and picturesque bits of scenery in all Europe.

It was learned recently that the estate was on the mark, and a number of enthusiastic Irish-Americans in this city, moved by patriotic sentiment conceived the plan of purchasing the property and turning it into a great public park to remain forever the heritage of the Irish people.

Mr. Burke Roche, accompanied by Col. John E. Fitzgerald, the Tammany Hall orator, called on Mayor Van Wyck at city hall early in the afternoon and President James J. Coogan was at once called into the conference.

Mr. Burke Roche informed the gentlemen that he has an option on the Herbert estate in West Kerry, including the abbey and the lakes for $120,000. The estate was mortgaged for the full value more than fifteen years ago by Harry Herbert to a Scotch insurance company, which now owns it.

Professor Fenwick Umpleby will go to Europe to make a special study of the Technical and Textile schools of Germany, France and England.

Prof. Umpleby has had five years' experience in English Textile colleges and three years with the Lowell Textile school; also 30 years of practical experience in the mill as superintendent, designer, etc., and he should know what to look for, that will be of advantage and benefit to his department in the Lowell Textile school.

GLORIA

IS NOT A MEDICINE.

Love tickled the young man's ribs one day.
He scratched and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble as his from the start.
He had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of this difficulty;
Young lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother and sisters will come along too.
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

WEDDING DRESSES OF THIS MONTH.

Satin is Still the Conventional But it is Veiled by Thin Gauzes.

SUEDE KIDS ARE WORN.

The Wedding Dress Can be Made of Light Goods Lined With Thin Silk.

The June bride is in our midst.

If you do not believe it spend a day upon the street corner where you can command a view of the fashionable church. The bridal procession demands a middle aisle, and churches that have no middle aisles are unpopular these days from a bridal point of view.

The June bride is very expensive, as hitherto, but a great deal of the expense is put upon her linings, which are irreproachable.

A certain June bride will wear French nuns' veiling, which is not in itself a very expensive fabric; and the lisse ruffles with which it will be trimmed are by no means costly; yet the gown will be expensive owing to the fact that it is lined throughout with the most expensive satin, pure white and elegantly finished, with the inside as fine as the outside.

Or she can be more heavily dressed in white silk, white satin, white brocade or silk henrietta. All of these are very beautiful when made up in the season's styles with skirt trimmed with lace, bodice ruffled and also trimmed with lace, and shirred sleeves.

The veil is a universal ornament. It is so softening that it is deservedly more and more a favorite. Many of the very inexpensive veils made of fine net or tarlatan can be trimmed entirely with the very tiniest ruching of chiffon.

The all-lace veil is such an expensive luxury that it is hardly to be mentioned. The veil which the Princess Christian loaned Miss Virginia Bonynge on her marriage to a titled Englishman was of India lace so sheer that it could be drawn through a bracelet; and the veil which Mrs. Bradley Martin has in keeping for her new daughter-in-law is of point lace with a large floral design in the centre, the leaves extending to the border of the veil, which is made in a design of orange blossoms.

Something of a new fad is for the pineapple lace of the Philippines. This could be easily drawn through a finger ring. Every belle in the Philippines owns a pineapple shawl, and to make one is the work of a lifetime. It is made of tiny silk threads worked in pineapple design.

Brides are taking advantage of the lace designs which can be purchased ready to be stitched upon a wedding gown. These can be bought at any price from $5 to $100; and they can be selected in points or scallops. The points are much used upon the front breadths of the wedding gowns. If scallops are is so the that a shawl two yards square chosen they are used for the sides and foot.

WHITE SATIN.

The demand for clinging effects welcomes wedding gowns of crepe de chine, silk, muslin and the oddly woven Liberty silks; and to most figures they undoubtedly prove more becoming than the severer lines of the satin or pouit de role. Veils, too, have taken on a little the fashion of the frills, some of tulle showing two tiny ruffles of tulle edging instead of one. These are arranged on the head with a puffed crown, and the dainty ruffles falling over the pompadour.

A very becoming wedding gown was of ivory satin, with Brussels lace insertion and Liberty gauze. The bodice was of satin, closely fitted and opened in front over a narrow V-shaped vest of tucked gauze and lace. Ruchings of gauze trimmed the fronts. They were carried across the tops of the sleeves. From these ruches depended two long sash ends, edged with ruchings, which crossed under a narrow satin girdle, and flowed unconfined to a few inches above the foot ruffle.

WEDDING SLEEVES.

The sleeves were of plain satin to the elbow, continuing down over the hand with draped gauze.

A sheath-like skirt laced at the back over tiny white satin-covered buttons; a deep ruche edged ruffle and three bands of Brussels lace completed the garniture.

The tiny flower girl's costume was of white point d'esprit trimmed with val lace. It was worn over a pink taffeta slip, instead of ribbons. Two full blown roses were tied on each side of her parted hair. She carried a scarf of pink Liberty silk filled with pink roses. The corresponding page wore a sailor suit of white serge.

At a recent wedding the color scheme was carried out in green and white, the groom's college colors. The bridesmaids' dresses of white silk muslin were worn over pale leaf-green taffeta, and large white tulle hats were massed with pure white roses. The yokes of these dresses were of puffed silk muslin and just below this was a broad band of Irish point lace across the back and making a surplice effect in front, the crossed ends under the sash of silk muslin forming points on each hip. The rest of the bodice was covered with plaited tenuin.

The sheath skirt was cut high in front and rounding down in the back. This was finished with several rows of narrow white satin ribbon and the two deep flounces below had the same ribbon trimming. The elbow sleeves were finished with another ribbon-edged flounce as were also the sash ends.

CHIFFON OVER TAFFETA.

Another pretty wedding dress was made of chiffon over white taffeta. A yoke and collar of Alencon lace fitted high up at the throat over a blouse of finely tucked chiffon.

A full blouse of silk scarcely covered with chiffon half concealed this opening from the front. It was edged with chiffon ruchings. The sleeve caps corresponded. Transparent sleeves of gathered chiffon fell half way over the hands. The skirt was made in the habit style, and opened on the left front under a cloud of chiffon ruffles.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN.
LINCOLN NEBRASKA.

June 1, 1899.

My dear Sir:-

I find your favor of recent date among my accumulated mail. I can not tell you at present about the future. And in reply to your question what I have been doing etc. permit me to say that with the exception of a few days in Denver in January I have been at home.

"Our youngest daughter was ill for several weeks and my time has been fully occupied with home cares.

"Thanking you for the assurances of your consideration, I am,

Very truly yours,

Mary B Bryan

MRS. BRYAN TO OUR LADY READERS.

A LETTER FROM MRS. BRYAN.

She Says She Does Not Care to Decide Just Now What She Will do in the Future.

"What has become of Mrs. Bryan?"

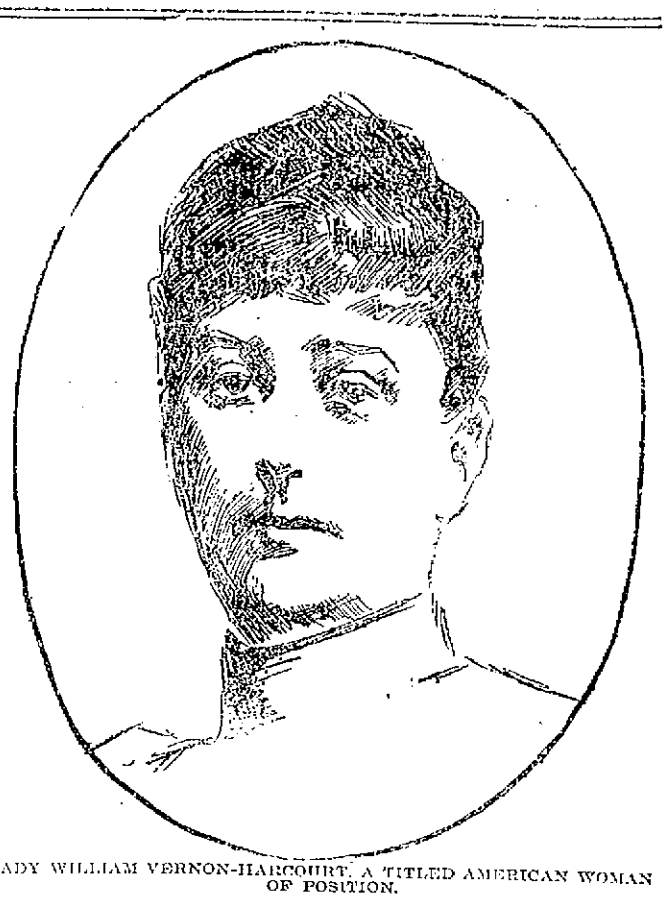

This is the query which was made to the editor of this newspaper a few days ago. The editor, who tries to keep posted on all matters of a feminine nature, decided to write to Mrs. Bryan and put the question to her candidly.

During William J. Bryan's political campaign three years ago none was more active than his wife. Wherever Mr. Bryan went Mrs. Bryan went also, and when he stood upon the car platform and received the cheers of his admirers Mrs. Bryan was called out to share the applause with him. She was certainly a helpmeet; and women who did not share her political feelings had no hesitation in calling her a woman of great intelligence.

At that time Mrs. Bryan left her interesting little family of three children at home in the care of relatives and devoted her time to her husband. It was quietly said that she wrote his speeches; but then the same is said of every orator who has a literary wife; and Mrs. Bryan had previously shown her literary bent by contributions to various periodicals. Mrs. John A. Logan at one time, you will remember, was charged with writing her husband's lectures; and everybody said that Lady Randolph Churchill knew how to use a pen in the days when her husband was doing so much writing. But then the gossips will talk!

It is almost two years since Mrs. Bryan has been seen conspicuously in the East, or, in fact, outside her own home. During Colonel Bryan's illness at the front, she came on and took care of him, going back almost immediately to her home in Lincoln, Neb. The Lincoln home is a very pretty one. By no means luxurious, yet extremely comfortable. Outside it shows the touches of a woman's hand and at this season it is covered with the green of the first vines. Inside it is an ideal home and you do not wonder that Colonel Bryan is always in a hurry to get through with his work so as to get back home.

So, not hearing of Mrs. Bryan of late and receiving numerous inquiries about her of which the above is one, the editor of this newspaper wrote her a little letter and received this letter in reply:

LADY WILLIAM VERNON-HARCOURT, A TITLED AMERICAN WOMAN OF POSITION.

MOTLEY'S DAUGHTER IN ENGLISH SOCIETY.

The Wife of Sir William Vernon Harcourt is Called the "Lady Lion Tamer."

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, leader of the anti-Balfour forces in Parliament, has an American wife, though the fact is not generally known or heralded, as in the case of Lady Curzon, Lady Naylor-Leyland, Lady Randolph Churchill and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, though she is as American as to parentage as any of them.

Lady Harcourt began life as the petted daughter of John Motley, the historian. Motley was a Boston man and his daughter was taught Bostonese of the most pronounced type. To this day she is distinctly correct in conversation, absolutely reliable in word, exquisitely well read and neat to a fault.

Motley, you remember, was Minister to Russia, and afterwards Minister to Austria. His last foreign post was that of Minister to England. His daughter visited all these countries with him, and was at his side when he wrote his history of Wilhelmina's country and the well-known English works. She married Mr. Ives, but was widowed, and then she married Sir William Vernon Harcourt, one of the wealthiest and most influential men in England.

Lady Harcourt is so English in her tastes that she is accused of forgetting her own country, but though she has forsaken it in body, she never forgets it herself, and is the soul of kindness to all American girls living in England. When they enter English social circles she is the first one to dine them, and if they are timid she gently puts them forward. She has presented many at Court, so she is unobtrusively yet distinctly an American in the Court of St. James.

Before his marriage to his present wife Sir Harcourt was voted the most disagreeable man in England. There is a story of how six men, uniting to give a dinner, agreed that each was to ask as his guest the most disagreeable person he knew. No confidences were to be exchanged, leaving untrammelled the curiosity that centred upon the meeting when each man would be able to see wherein his particular selection was excelled. Covers were laid for twelve, but only seven sat down.

Each man had asked Vernon Harcourt.

He was called "the English Hon," a great man so great that he had no need to be affable; and strange tales were told shiveringly of the dinners that were given by him when he sat silent throughout six courses, absolutely speechless, while his guests conversed in frightened whispers.

But when Lady Harcourt came upon the scene all was changed. She refurnished the old Harcourt mansion and introduced color and the reading matter of the day into it. She began giving charming entertainments at which Sir William was gentility itself. His face, beaming across the table upon Lady Harcourt, expressed contentment with the world. London society called her "the lion tamer" and she heard it and laughed.

Lady Harcourt is so distinctly English that she knows politics well, as all English women do, yet she never meddles. She converses well and fluently upon them but she is by no means the center-of-the-circle, as Lady Randolph Churchill always is. She is not a fascinating talker, but a very well-informed one. Differing from Lady Curzon, who fascinates by her beauty, and from the Duchess of Marlborough, who spends a fortune upon her guests, she makes an attainable contrast to other American "girls" abroad.

Lady Harcourt is rich in her own right, the income from her father's books being a steady one. She expends her money upon the typical English charities, and has an ever open purse. Her name is always on the list of benefactresses and patronesses, and, like Mary Anderson, she has become so localized and acclimated that the English women include her in the societies as one of themselves.

A BRIDE CAN BE VERY BECOMINGLY DRESSED IN MULL OR TARLATAN OVER WHITE SILK; THIS STYLE OF DRESS IS NOT NECESSARILY EXPENSIVE.

A CUP OF COFFEE IN THE LAND OF WILHELMINA AND HOW TO BREW THE REAL HOLLAND DRAUGHT.

In the land of Wilhelmina the ladies drink coffee as the women of England drink tea, not as a stimulant but as if they liked it. They say that coffee, out of Holland, is not coffee at all, and they point to the Islands of Borneo, Java and Sumatra to prove that Wilhelmina has, right in her own possessions, the great coffee producing islands of Europe. And such a variety of ways of making coffee as they have in Holland! The most progressive ladies have the French coffee pot through which the coffee is drained. The boiling water is poured through the powdered coffee and a thin extract of pure coffee is produced. But that is not the Dutch way.

Dutch coffee is boiled in a Dutch blue coffee pot, of squatty design. The coffee is placed inside in a perforated silver cup and the boiling water is poured upon it. The pot gently simmers and by-and-by you get a clear, dark, rather thick fluid.

The homes of the poor have a coffee pot which is Turkish in design. It consists of a big metal pot upon the end of a metal rod. The coffee is covered with cold water and the pot tightly closed. It is held over the fire until it boils, when it is very good coffee indeed.

Tastes in coffee differ in Holland as in this country. An old Easter-of-Holland recipe is for covering the coffee at night with cold water. In the morning it is placed upon the stove and gently brought to boiling point. This is an economical method and one to be recommended for those who like boiled coffee.

Holland ladies delight in owning a vast supply of coffee pots and they keep them on exhibition as careful housewives keep their blue tea cups on show.

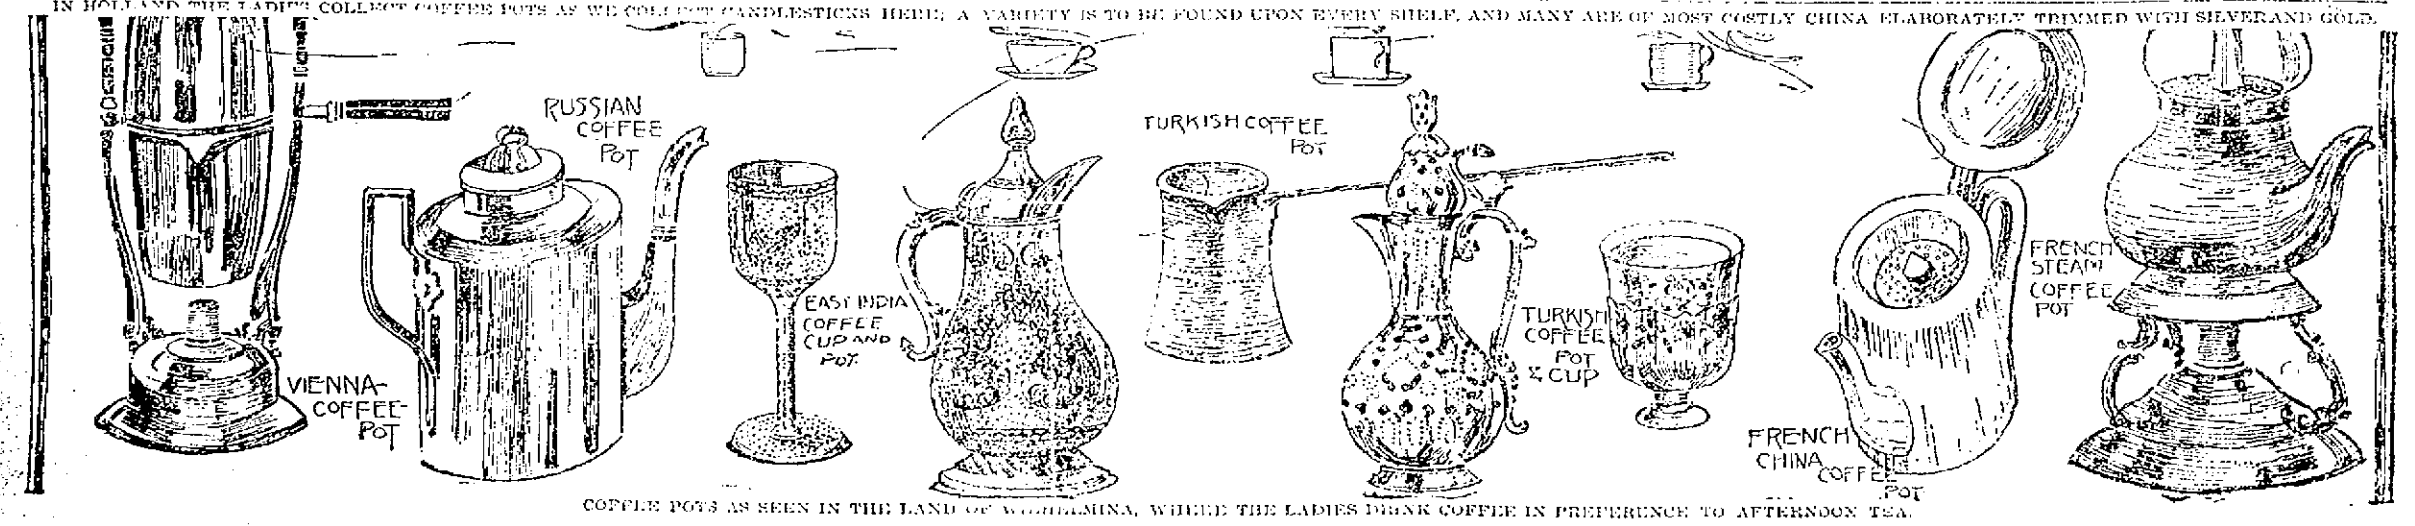

In Amsterdam they serve afternoon coffee in an East India pot. This looks exactly like a jug or pitcher. The cover, which is of metal, fits the top tightly. The jug is well heated with hot water and the coffee is quickly poured, already brewed, into it. It is then brought into the drawing-room upon a tray with tall goblets cut in which the coffee is taken. The goblets have heavy earthen handles which do not heat the fingers.

It is becoming very fashionable now, in these Hollandese days, to own a variety of coffee pots wherever kept in use. It is claimed that the family appetite is wonderfully whetted and the family disposition improved by the change in the service. The same old coffee pot every morning. The old oaken bucket was sometimes looked upon with disgust.

Wilhelmina buys many pieces of china; she goes shopping afternoons with her mother and stops at the smartest shops. She has put aside many of the old blue services and has—to the grief of the old-time ladies who have been attached to the palace since the days of her father—substituted several gold ones.

A very smart young woman of Scheveningen mashes her coffee with a pestle and mortar; her little bottle simmers the while. The mashed beans are placed in the depths of a queer-looking old Vienna coffee pot and water is poured through them. Result, a fine clear cup of coffee too delicate to require cream.

IN HOLLAND THE LADIES COLLECT COFFEE POTS AS WE COLLECT CANDLESTICKS HERE; A VARIETY IS TO BE FOUND UPON EVERY SHELF, AND MANY ARE OF MOST COSTLY CHINA ELABORATELY TRIMMED WITH SILVER AND GOLD.

COFFEE POTS AS SEEN IN THE LAND OF WILHELMINA, WHERE THE LADIES DRINK COFFEE IN PREFERENCE TO AFTERNOON TEA.

THE S.C.W. MEET

Largely Attended at Fair Grounds Saturday

INTERESTING EVENTS RAN OFF.

Hamilton and Keegan Prominent Among Winners.

There was a large delegation of bicycle enthusiasts at the Fair Grounds Saturday afternoon to witness the seventh race meet of the Spindle City Wheelmen of this city. At half past two there was very little room on the grand stand and the track was lined with people, some hanging on to the fence, while others were crowded on the band stand and every available place was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Claude Hamilton of the Shoe City Wheelmen of Brockton, formerly of Lowell, was the hero of the day. Every time that he appeared on the track he was greeted with loud cheers and clapping from the audience. He won the half mile open and the one mile handicap, but he had to give up the five mile handicap on account of the large handicap that the other men had on him.

The first event run off was the first heat of the one-mile novice. Nine men started with three to qualify, and at the first turn on the second lap, J. J. Baker and J. W. Lynch, both of this city, collided and were thrown heavily to the ground. Baker escaped with a few scratches, but Lynch broke his wrist and cut his face badly.

In the second heat of the one-mile novice, L. Arnold won with ease, for when he was within thirty yards of the tape he sat up straight and rode across the mark an easy victor. In this heat A. Stanley of this city was thrown just after crossing the tape.

The next event was the first trial heat in the one-mile handicap. Claude Hamilton of Brockton was on scratch but caught up with the bunch before the half mile post was reached. Lefevre and Keegan, the two limit men, started off at a hot pace changing pace every once in a while and it looked for a time as if they were to shake the rest of the riders, but at the beginning of the last half mile, the bunch caught up with them and kept pretty close together until the last eighth, when Hamilton started to sprint with Keegan right on his rear wheel. They kept a hot sprint right up to the tape and Hamilton crossed the tape a winner with about two feet to spare.

In the second heat of the one-mile handicap, the riding was slower than in the first heat, but on the home stretch a very hot clip was hit up.

Next came the final of the one-mile novice with nine starters, J. J. O'Donnell being allowed to ride on account of setting the pace in the first heat; Lynde of Lowell won by a close margin.

The next event was the half mile open, which was the hottest race of the day and was run off in pretty fast time. Hamilton won the race after a hard sprint, with Keegan a close second.

After the half mile open was over, Leslie McKay, 6 years old and William Berlo, 7 years old, son of Peter Berlo, the old champion of the world, rode an exhibition half on a tandem weighing only fourteen pounds. They rode the half mile in 2.10 1-5. It is said that they are the smallest tandem team in the world.

The final of the one-mile handicap was the next event and again Hamilton showed his superiority by winning.

It was then announced that Charles McIntosh of this city would try for the mile unpaced record, which was led by Dan Cote. Cote's record was 2.20 1-5 and McIntosh lowered it 4 1-5 seconds, making the new record 2.26 flat.

The five-mile handicap was the next event and about twenty-five entered. Hamilton was on the scratch and was very badly handicapped, for the nearest man to him was Partridge of Medfield who was on the 150 yard mark. After the pistol was fired the men formed into three bunches and cut out a good clip for so long a race. Hamilton rode bravely but could not catch the man ahead of him and had to do all his own pacing, which soon began to tell on him. He had the sympathy of all the audience and when he would come around the corner with his head down and plugging away for all that he was worth, the crowd would cheer until they were nearly hoarse, but he had to give it up after the second mile. Prempas, the Greek champion, won the race.

On the last lap of this race one of the trainers tried to revive his man by throwing water at him, but it must have struck the man unexpectedly, for the minute that it struck him he ducked his head and ran in to the next man.

The last race on the program was something new to the riders of Lowell. It was the quarter-mile consolation race, which is for the riders that have qualified in the other races and have not won a prize. There were only three riders to start in it, and it was a continual sprint from the start. Charlie Connors of this city won first with G. Gagnon second.

The summary of the races is as follows:

One-mile novice—First heat J. C. Fillean, Lowell, first; G. Gagnon, Lowell, second; G. L. Douglass, Lowell, third. Time, 2.36 2-5. Second heat, L. Arnold, Cambridge, first; A. E. Silcox, Lowell, second; E. Lyons, Lowell, third. Time, 2.28 2-5. Final heat, E. Lyons, Lowell, first; L. Arnold, Cambridge, second. Time 2.52 2-5.

One mile handicap—First heat Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; P. Keegan, Lowell, 150 yards, second; H. Lefevre, Lowell, 95 yards, third; J. Bentley, Lowell, 60 yards, fourth; L. Arnold, Cambridge, 85 yards, fifth. Second heat, M. F. O'Brien, Lowell, 60 yards, first; T. S. Murphy, Lowell, 100 yards, second; J. Prempas, Lowell, 85 yards, third; W. B. Fields, Lowell, 50 yards, fourth; C. Connors, Lowell, 60 yards, fifth. Final heat, Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; P. Keegan, Lowell, 110 yards, second; J. Bently, Lowell, 60 yards, third. Time, 2.29.

Half mile open—Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; M. F. O'Brien, Lowell, second. Time, 1.10 2-5.

One half mile exhibition by the smallest tandem team in the world, Leslie McKay and William Berlo. Time, 2.10 1-5.

Track record, Charles McIntosh, Time, 2.26.

Five mile handicap. J. Prempas, Lowell, 375 yards, first; P. Dion, West Chelmsford, 225 yards, second; T. S. Murphy, Lowell, 300 yards, third; P. Keegan, Lowell, 375 yards, fourth. Time 13.27 2-5.

One-quarter-mile consolation, C. Connors, Lowell, first; G. Gagnon, Lowell, second. Time, 25 2-5.

The officials of the meet were:

Referee, Henry Dunham; starter, H. E. Dahlberg; judges, E. B. Saunders, W. H. Dodge, J. Whittier, John Bowker; announcer, Harry Melkiejohn; clerk of course, Henry N. Peabody; assistants, Charles Caldwell, George Casey, Perley Harriman; timers, Arthur Brett, Jas. J. Rafter, T. P. Hall; scorer, Wm. B. Door; umpires, Walter Muzzey, John O'Neil, Frank Vaughn, William Treson, Albert Foster.

PERHAPS FATAL

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FITCHBURG, June 12.—Peter Gustafson, a Swedish farm hand at Lunenburg, got into trouble yesterday which may cause his death, because he milked and drove home his employer's cows too early in the afternoon. It is said that he was enough of a farmer to have known better than to have milked the cows so early in the day, but for his being intoxicated.

Gustafson worked for Willis S. Russell. When Mr. Russell saw his hired man driving the cows home from pasture at 2 in the afternoon he ordered him to drive them back. Gustafson objected to doing so, and when Mr. Russell insisted the Swede became angry. Quite an altercation took place, and Russell sent for Constable T. B. Snow.

According to Mr. Russell's version of the trouble, in the course of the talk the Swede struck him, splitting his lip. Russell's face bears evidence to back up this statement.

Anyhow, Russell shot him, putting a bullet into his lung, and Gustafson started to go to the police station, but fell unconscious on the way and is now in an hospital in a precarious condition.

Running Sore on His Ankle.

Obstinate sores and ulcers are a sure sign that the entire circulation is in a depraved condition. They are a severe drain upon the system, and are constantly sapping away the vitality. In every case the poison must be eliminated from the blood, and no amount of external treatment can have any effect.

Mr. L. J. Clark, of Orange Courthouse, Va., writes:

"For six years I had an obstinate, running ulcer on my ankle, which at times caused me intense suffering. I was so disabled for a long while that I was wholly unfit for business. One of the best doctors treated me constantly, but did me no good. I then tried various blood remedies, without the least benefit. S. S. S. was highly recommended, and I concluded to try it, and the effect was wonderful. It seemed to get right at the seat of the disease and force the poison out, and I was soon completely cured."

Swift's Specific drives out every trace of impurity in the blood, and in this way cures permanently the most obstinate, deep-seated sore or ulcer. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed purely vegetable.

S.S.S. For The Blood

cures contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, or any other blood trouble. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.

Clergymen Highly Praised the Newspapers

Rev. A. E. Kenyon, the pastor of the Chelmsford street F. B. church, spoke Sunday morning. He first gave a short address to the children from the subject of "Foxes and grapes." Lessons were drawn from the peculiarities of the tender vines of the grapes which were compared to the years of childhood days. Foxes which creep in to destroy the fruit were compared to the little habits which invade childhood life to destroy the best that is in the child. Following the address to the children the pastor addressed the congregation. He said in the course of his remarks:

"There is a power that is antagonizing the interests of these little children and it is the power of King Alcohol. Its power may be seen in the orphans' home, the prison and the abode of the poverty stricken widow. I wish I had language to pay a fitting compliment to the men who have been put in office in this city to execute the laws which you have made for improvement of morals here. I must say that nothing has impressed me more since having been in Lowell than the genuine moral tone which characterizes the editorials of the Lowell newspapers. I am a subscriber to a number of religious papers and magazines, but not one of them supersedes these secular papers of Lowell in the nature of the strong Christian attitude which they hold toward the moral questions of the day. We must not forget that the newspaper moulds sentiment very largely in a community and I congratulate Lowell upon the spirit of loyalty to truth which seems to characterize the Lowell newspapers.

Moreover, it is an inspiring thing to see the executors of the law siding with truth and throwing their influence so mightily upon the side of sobriety as are the executors of law in this city. But you, after all, hold the key to the situation. You must talk no-license. I tell you, it's the dryest city that I have seen for some time. And I like this kind of drought. The time is coming when the battle will be more fierce in Lowell than now. Prepare for war in time of peace. I appeal to you as lovers of sobriety and truth to be as one man in the great battle against the sin of intemperance."

NEW PASTOR.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—The announcement was made yesterday morning in St. Patrick's church, Northampton street at the 10.15 mass, that Rev. Philip Sexton, senior assistant at the church had been promoted and made pastor at Merrimac, Mass. This parish also includes West Newbury.

GEORGE RHOADES KILLED.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of Margaret Murphy, late of Lowell, in said County, deceased, intestate.

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court, to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to Annie Murphy of Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, without giving a surety on her bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Lowell, in said County of Middlesex, on the twentieth day of June, A. D. 1899, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said court.

Witness, Charles J. McIntire, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fifth day of June, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine.

Middlesex, ss.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully libels and represents Mary Davis of Lowell in said County, that she was lawfully married to Louis Davis, now of parts unknown, at Randolph, in the state of Vermont, on the twenty-seventh day of November, A. D. 1895, and thereafterwards your Libellant and the said Louis Davis lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit, at said Lowell and Southbridge, that your Libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Louis Davis being wholly regardless of the same, at said Lowell on the day of April, A. D. 1854 utterly deserted your Libellant and has ever since continued such desertion being more than three consecutive years before the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Louis Davis.

Dated this sixteenth day of May, A. D., 1899.

Her
MARY X DAVIS.
Mark.

Witness to mark, Bernard D. O'Connell.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Middlesex ss.

Superior Court, May 26th, A. D. 1899.

Upon the libel aforesaid, it is ordered that the libellant notify the libellee to appear before our Justices of said Court, at Cambridge, in said County, on the first Monday of July next, by causing an attested copy of said libel and of this order to be sent, to be published in the Lowell Sun, a newspaper published in Lowell, in the County of Middlesex, once a week, three weeks successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the said last mentioned day, and that an attested copy of said libel and order thereon be sent by registered letter to the last known residence of the libellee that he may then and there show cause, if any he have, why the prayer in said libel set forth should not be granted.

THEO. C. BURD, Clerk.

A true copy of the libel and of the order thereon.

Attest,

THEO. C. BURD, Clerk.

LITTLE-PARKER

Match Postponed to Friday June 23.

LITTLE'S KNEES IN VERY BAD SHAPE.

Rosult of Recent Encounter With Casey.

The Little-Parker wrestling match will take place on Friday evening, June 23, at A.O.H. hall, Brockton. The postponement is necessitated by the condition of Little's knees caused by his recent bout with Dick Casey of Lowell. They are still quite sore, although nearly healed, but the uncertainty as to when they will be entirely well, renders it advisable to put the match off one week, thus making the date sure. Little is in training every day and stated yesterday: "There is one thing about it, I will be in great condition for the match. People do not think I am strong, but I never was in better shape in my life. I have practically been in active training every day since March 5."

One glance at Little's bare back and chest is enough to convince one of his great muscular power and his constant practice with dumbbells makes him supple and powerful in the extreme. The writer remained in his presence fully ten minutes and all during that time he was hard at work with three pound bells. He does not perspire a drop and his wind was as good at the end as at the start. He had just begun to work into the game when the reporter left as he had been talking all during the visit.

Parker has been in Manchester in the hope of getting a match there and one in Lowell. He returned to Brockton Sunday. Little has been securing a line on how Parker operates and will train accordingly. There is determination strongly in evidence on Little's part not to be defeated and the odds offered by Parker makes Little's chances exceptionally good.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Waterbury American: We hope the esteemed Arthur Hadley has not been indiscreet enough to enter into a contract with a press clipping bureau. If he has we fear that his bank account will not allow him to take any vacation this summer, so numerous are the editorial bouquets thrown his way. Keeping tabs on that sort of a thing is gratifying, but expensive.

Boston Journal: The old, old story! The runaway cashier of Dover was "one of the most trusted men in the city, and was considered a man of the strictest morality." He drank neither wine, nor spirits, nor beer; and he abstained from tobacco in all its seductive forms. Would it not be a good plan to appoint a notorious untrustworthy man to a position of trust, and then watch him day and night?

New York Times: Of retreat we may be sure that the president has never entertained the slightest notion. If he has at times hesitated or had misgivings he has gone as far in that direction as he is likely to go. We believe that he is resolute of mind and we wish to confirm him in that disposition. At this time irresolution would bring disaure penalty of deeper trouble. It is very evident that an end must be made of Aguinaldo.

New Bedford Standard: So much stress has been laid on the fighting and on the savagery of the native combats that many persons have almost forgotten that the population of the Philippines is not exclusively barbarians. The civilized and cultivated element is small in comparison with the entire population of all the islands, but there is such an element, and it is worthy of consideration. It is an exceedingly varied and diverse population with which this country has to deal in the Philippines.

New Haven Palladium: The fewer federal soldiers in Cuba the firmer our hold upon the dominant native influences there. The restoration of the island population to prosperity depends not upon armed battalions, but upon the rapid and peaceful development of industrial resources which have long lain fallow under a brutal system of extortion and oppression. Cuba, like Porto Rico should need only a nominal garrison while the problem of industrial and political emancipation is being worked out under federal auspices.

BEACONS' CINCH

They Defeated the Calumets With Ease

THE MATHEWS LOSE AT NEWBURYPORT.

Great Game at Collinsville Grounds.

The most important local base ball game of Saturday was played at Atherton where on the non-appearance of the Shamrocks and the Fairmounts, who were to play for $50, the Beacons and Calumets played nine or rather eight innings and a half, the former winning with ease. Score 22 to 7.

Both teams changed positions considerably, the latter team putting in a new battery after the fifth.

The game opened with a rush that the Beacons kept up without any great effort while the Calumets appeared to be dazed.

In the first the Calumets who were first up, scored one and then went out. The Beacons sent their every player to bat and made five runs before the half closed.

Mooney, the first Calumet up in the second, hit to first and was out. Shay, who singled and was advanced by Morrill to third was caught at home after Gallagher was thrown out at first.

Coburn then batted safely and was allowed to circle the bases on a weak hit by Clogston to Shay, who threw wild to first. After Saunders struck out, Robby put a fast grounder past short on which Clog. came home. Lamson went out on grounder from pitcher to first.

The Calumets again scored in the fifth. Carey opened for two bases and he was sent home by Puffer's one-bagger to Ela. Brown's tingler was no problem for Star Knowles who was about this time rapidly coming to the fore as the leading feature of the whole affair. Mooney's safe through short and Shay's fly in short right brought Puffer in. Morrill sacrificed Mooney to home and Shay, who tried to obtain third at the same time was out.

With Bruce and Harris on bases and one out, Knowles sent out a two-bagger beyond Puffer. It was the longest hit of the game. Four more runs besides Knowles', who was advanced by a wild pitch and a scratch hit, were scored before the inning closed. Bruce in an attempt to steal home was the third out.

Coburn scored in the fourth. In the fifth, neither team tallied.

In the sixth two flies and a strike-out was the Calumets' lot, while the Beacons again went to bat with a vengeance. Brown, who relieved Shay in the box, hit Clogston who was forced at second by Saunders. Robby then placed one out of Mooney's reach, while Saunders went to third and later home on Lamson's safety. Ela's single sent Robby in and when the Banker ran for second and Carey threw to catch him, Lamson also trotted home. Ela scored on passed balls. Two strikeouts cut off further run-getting.

No scoring for the Calumets in the seventh or eighth. The Beacons who did not let up with their hats even at this, scored three more, Clogston, Knowles and Saunders crossing home.

Forbes, Gallagher and Carey scored for the Calumets and went the rounds of the bases in the ninth.

The score:

Beacons	5 2 7 1 0 4 2 1 x—22
Calumets	1 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 3—7

The teams:

Beacons—Harris, l. s; Coburn, p, 1; Knowles, 3; Clogston 2; Saunders, 1; Robinson, m; Lamson, s, p; Ela, r; Bruce, c.

Calumets—Forbes, s; Gallagher, r, 2; Carey, c and 3; Puffer, 1; Brown, 2, p; Mooney, 3, r; Shay, p, r; Morrill 1; Flanigan.

The Calumets will try their luck with the Bankers next Saturday at Atherton.

The annual dispute of the Collinsville and Navy Yard baseball teams was settled on Saturday at Collinsville where the home team which had hitherto been undefeated was make to bite the dust by a difference of nine runs, the amount of their own score. Total, Navy Yard, 18; Collinsville 9.

A large amount of money changed hands on the result. The Collinsvilles having won four straight games this season without a single defeat, and having played all strong teams, their admirers naturally thought the Navy Yards, not having played this season, wouldn't have the ghost of a show to win. On the other hand the backers of the Navy Yards were just as confident that their favorites would pull out a victory.

MATHEWS BEATEN.

The Newburyports and Mathews of Lowell played a game in the Trolley league series in Newburyport Saturday afternoon, the Newburyports winning by 15 to 8. Both pitchers were very wild. The game was marked by the sharp fielding of the Newburyports, Pike playing brilliantly in left field, having five outs, three assists and no errors. Previous to the game, Walter Brown of the Newburyports and Kerins of the Lowells ran an exhibition 100-yard dash, the former winning easily. The score:

Newburyports	3 3 2 0 1 4 0 2 x—15
Lowell	0 0 2 0 1 0 0 0 4—8

Hits—Newburyport 6, Lowell 8. Errors—Newburyport 2, Lowell 7. Batteries—Gilday and Brown, Ladle and Scully.

HAS ORGANIZED

Fourth of July Committee Gets to Work

AND PROMISES A GRAND CELEBRATION.

Lieut. R. J. Crowley Elected Secretary.

NO ORATION WILL BE HEARD.

An Elaborate Program Being Formed.

The city of Lowell is going to have a first class Fourth of July celebration this year for the committee appointed to plan and carry it out is a hustling one and has the money to carry out its intentions.

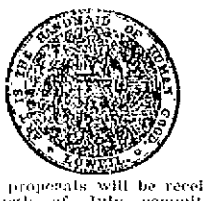

The first meeting Saturday afternoon in City Hall demonstrated the fact that there is nothing slow about the committee, for though they came together late they lost no time in getting down to business.

Councilman Frank Clark called the committee of 13 together about 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, having previously been importuned by several speculators and candidates for offices and Fourth of July snaps.

When the meeting had been opened and the members made acquainted with each other, Councilman Clark was elected chairman and William A. Hogan, Esq., vice chairman. Then a ballot for secretary was taken and Lieut. Robert J. Crowley received 9 votes to 4 for Frank M. Dowling and was declared elected.

Then followed a discussion of the various features of the celebration and the committee seemed desirous of giving each section of the city a fine share of the celebration and the committee promises to give the best celebration in the history of the city.

The committee also discussed the plan of an oration and finally decided

Sealed proposals will be received by the Fourth of July committee for awarding the Official Programme, at City Hall on or before Monday, June 12th, 1899, at 7.30 p. m. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

Address all communications to Robert J. Crowley, Sec.

Boston, June 1st, 1899.

To the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Bedford:

Your petitioners, the Lexington and Boston Street Railway company, respectfully represent,

That they are a corporation having a charter from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and fully organized under the general laws of said commonwealth; and your petitioners represent that under their preliminary organization they obtained locations in the town of Bedford from the selectmen thereof, in accordance with law as follows:

In Bedford, from the Lexington town line at Main street, thence over and along Main street to the Great Road, so called, on the northerly side thereof to Loomis street; also commencing at a point on said Main street, or Great Road, at its intersection with the South Road, and thence over and along said Main street or North Road on the southerly side thereof to North avenue or the North Road, so called, and thence on the westerly side of said North street or North Road to the Billerica town line.

And your petitioners represent that in order to construct and operate their road it will be necessary that further locations should be obtained in said town of Bedford, as follows:

Beginning at Main street, at the junction of Loomis street therewith to the point to which the location has already been granted, and thence along Main street to its intersection with the South Road, and to the point where your petitioners' location has already been fixed and allowed. That is to say, the gap on Main street between Loomis street and the South Road over which a location has not yet been granted your petitioners.

Wherefore, your petitioners pray that said location may be granted them, with the right to erect the necessary overhead structure, and that your petitioners may operate their cars over and along said line.

LEXINGTON & BOSTON STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.
Signed,

GREAT SALE OF CORSETS

Our big store, with all up-to-date facilities, modern contrivances to condense and get all out of a square foot of space possible, is again hampered for room owing to large increase of business in various departments. Our Corset Department (one of the best in New England) per force had to relinquish some 12 feet of counter and fixture room to our new department, the Soda Fountain, and this together with the fact that our Corset trade has wonderfully increased this season, leaves us in a cramped condition. Therefore we have taken stock and have decided to lose some money by slaughtering such numbers as we will not hereafter carry. These lots with some very fortunate purchases by our buyer ought to be very interesting to the ladies of Lowell and vicinity. Notwithstanding the extreme low prices we will continue to FIT CORSETS FREE OF CHARGE.

CLOSING OUT LOTS.

The celebrated Dr. Warner Corsets to be discontinued in our stock, hence such prices.

not to have such a feature of the celebration.

It was voted to have a parade, firemen's muster, children's entertainment and a parachute jump.

The committee then adjourned until this evening at which time Chairman Clark will announce his committees' Permanent headquarters will be established today and the committee will go to work with a will.

Alderman Peirce's offer of a store for a headquarters without rent was received with thanks. In 1897, the cost of the several features with the incidental expenses was as follows: Oration, $150.50; music, $991.25; children's entertainment $200.15; salutes and bell ringing, $183.10; fireworks, $951; sports, $430.47; parade, $1449.58; incidentals, $275; total, $4572.41. The appropriation was $4000, as this year.

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

Cottolene

has every virtue that lard lacks. Lard has many faults that Cottolene is without. Cottolene is composed of refined cottonseed oil and carefully prepared beef suet and is as pure, healthful, and nutritious as the highest grade salad oil. As good as the best olive oil for frying and better than any other material for shortening, Cottolene is even more economical to use than lard.

The genuine Cottolene is sold everywhere in one to ten pound yellow tins, with our trademarks—"Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin. Not guaranteed if sold in any other way. Made only by

MRS. KNOX HURT

Has Narrow Escape in Runaway Accident

HORSE JUMPED OVER STONE WALL

Mrs. Knox's Injuries May Prove Fatal

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 11.—Mrs. William S. Knox, wife of Congressman Knox, was seriously injured by being thrown from a carriage in a runaway accident at Andover this afternoon.

Mrs. Knox was driving with George F. Swift in the vicinity of Poinys pond when the horse took fright and became unmanageable. The animal dashed over a stone wall on the top of which was a barbed wire fence.

The occupants were thrown from the carriage, Mrs. Knox being rendered unconscious. She was conveyed to her home at 138 Main street and was attended by Dr. Abbott, who found her injuries to consist of two broken ribs, one of which is of such a nature that it was feared the action of the heart will be affected.

At a late hour tonight Mrs. Knox was resting quietly.

Mr. Swift escaped injury.

VERY SENSATIONAL

Is Report of Alaska's Grand Jury.

It Denounces the General Agent of Education and Recommends That He be Removed.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

JUNEAU, Alaska, June 6.—via Seattle, Wash., June 12.—The grand jury of the United States district court for Alaska rendered a sensational report on the conduct of educational matters in Alaska. The report reads:

"In the hope that it may be able to effectually reach some remedial power of authority the grand jury desires to direct attention to the deplorable condition of educational affairs in Alaska.

"The blame cannot be justly laid at the doors of congress. Between the years 1884 and 1887, inclusive, there was appropriated for education in Alaska an aggregate of $415,000, a sum which had it been judiciously expended, ought to have given Alaska a school system fairly commensurate with the requirements of our people.

"We do not undertake to say that there has been any dishonest or direct misappropriation of any part of this large sum of money, but we do aver that a considerable portion of it has been frittered away in payment of the expenses of wholly useless summer jaunts by the general agent of education to remote parts of the establishment to remote parts for the establishments of schools at points where but "For the reason that it believes that a large sum of money has been uselessly expended and the truth not being manifested, will continue to be expended under the direction of the general agent of education in Alaska while yet the neglect of our educational interests is prolonged, the grand jury would hesitate to refer even casually to his extraordinary scheme for revolutionizing the mode of travel and transportation of mails and supplies in Alaska by the introduction of domesticated reindeer from Siberia. But we submit that his utter neglect of the duties for the performance of which he is paid a salary and the consequent demoralization of our educational system demands and justifies even harsher criticism than that which follows:

"We charge that this man is untruthful and he has persistently embodied in his official reports concerning educational matters in Alaska that which he knew to be absolutely false. If he has been guilty of falsehood in his official report on schools and education in Alaska, what reliance is to be placed on those he makes concerning the use of reindeer in Alaska? The plain simple truth is that each and every attempt at the use of the reindeer for transportation in Alaska has been a failure.

"The grand jury therefore earnestly protests against any further recommendation for the importation of domesticated reindeer and respectfully begs and prays on behalf of a long-suffering people that the honorable secretary of the interior may in his wisdom see fit to relieve Alaska of the incubus of an official who enjoys neither the respect nor the confidence of any considerable portion of her people, white or native, and whose days of usefulness so far as Alaska is concerned, were long since buried."

CAPT. NICHOLS

Was Buried at Cavite Yesterday Afternoon.

ALL FLAGS AT HALF MAST

Officers of the Fleet Were Present.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MANILA, June 12.—The funeral of Captain Henry Nichols, the commander of the United States double turreted monitor Monadnock, who died from sunstroke on Saturday, took place at Cavite yesterday with appropriate naval ceremonies. The officers of the fleet were present and the flags on all the vessels were half masted.

The sudden death of Captain Nichols was particularly sad because it occurred just at the moment when the result for which he had hoped and worked for months was about to be realized, namely the capture of Paranaque and its occupation by the American forces. The Monadnock has been lying off Paranaque for two months past under fire from the rebels almost daily. The heat there has been intense and the officers and men of the Monadnock suffered greatly. The commander-in-chief offered to retire the Monadnock from this trying duty and replace her by another ship, but Captain Nichols preferred to remain, declaring that he did not want to leave his post until Paranaque fell and the coast from there to Cavite was cleared of rebels. The heat on Saturday was most severe and the monitor was engaged all day in shelling the trenches at Paranaque and the rebels fleeing south through Las Pinas and also watching the American troops closing in upon the town. Captain Nichols was overcome by the heat at noon and retired to his cabin, where he received frequent reports of the operations and gave directions for several hours. He became much worse at 3 o'clock, lost consciousness and expired at 5 in the afternoon. Several hours before his death, he expressed gratification at the way events were progressing, remarking to an officer: "We have got the rebels there at last."

POLICE PREFECT

Orders Inquiry Into Charges of Brutality

ON THE PART OF THE POLICE.

Premier Dupuy Replies to Interpellation.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 12.—The Prefect of Police, M. Blanc, has ordered an inquiry into the charges of police brutality yesterday. If they are substantiated the men at fault will be severely punished.

The Chamber of Deputies was crowded today, and there was considerable suppressed excitement when M. Vaillant, socialist, interpellated the government on yesterday's "Police outrages" at the Pavillion d'Armenonville, and demanded to know the instructions the government gave the police in regard to the socialist, who, he said, defended the republic against the reactionaries. (Applause.)

The premier, M. Dupuy, replied saying he realized yesterday was a fete day for the republicans. He added there had been few incidents, and that the only instructions to the police were to maintain order. The government, he continued, had ordered an inquiry into the responsibility for the affairs at the Pavillion d'Armenonville and the Rue Montartre. At the same time, the Premier pointed out, the government acknowledged the services of the police, adding that maintenance of the government was impossible without public order (Applause from the Centre and protests from the Leftists.)

DEWEY HONORED

At Singapore by the British Colony.

ARRIVED A DAY EARLIER THAN EXPECTED

But Refused the Hospitality of the Governor.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SINGAPORE ISLAND, Malay Peninsula, June 12—Admiral Dewey surprised the colony of the Straits settlements and disturbed its Sunday siesta by arriving here at 3 p. m. yesterday, nearly a day ahead of time.

He had cabled that he would arrive this (Monday) morning and a suitable reception had been arranged by the governor and commander in chief of the Straits settlements, Lieut.-Col. Sir Charles B. H. Mitchell, the other officials of the British colony and E. Spencer Pratt, the United States consul general here. But Governor Mitchell was absent from the government house when the admiral's flagship, the Olympia, came to anchor and there was momentary consternation at the disarrangement of carefully laid plans.

The governor's aid-de-camp, Capt A. A. Duff and Consul General Pratt hurried to the pier, then out to the Olympia and paid their respects to Admiral Dewey, explaining that the governor general's absence was due to the fact that the admiral was not expected until the next morning.

The admiral expressed regret at being obliged to decline the hospitalities of the British governor and American consul general, saying that as he shall be here only three or four days he will remain quietly aboard the Olympia while she coals.

He came ashore this morning and paid an official visit at the government house, being escorted by a company of the King's Own, a great crowd of people gathering to see the American admiral and cheering him lustily, regarding this as an Anglo-American celebration.

Admiral Dewey is looking well.

The governor returned the visit this afternoon.

The Olympia had a fine voyage from Hong Kong, leaving that port last Tuesday afternoon, making the run of about 2000 miles in five days.

MATRIMONIAL.

About one hundred and fifty local and Boston friends of Dr. Fred Stedman Snow and Miss Amy Louise Brooks of Boston, this afternoon witnessed the ceremony which made them husband and wife.

The wedding, which was a very brilliant one, took place at the home of the bride's brother, Dr. James B. Fields, 329 Westford street. Rev. Charles A. Dickinson, D. D. of Boston, united the happy couple just at 3. Surrounded under an overhanging floral piece and there pledged their vows. The wedding march was over a route of roses, the bride and her attendants descending from her room as the groom awaited her coming. The balusters were entwined with smilax and other cut flowers.

The bride and her maid were handsomely attired in white silk with pretty trimmings.

The bride is the daughter of M. D. Brooks of Boston, and the groom is a Harvard graduate, having completed college and the medical school.

THE LATE SHERIFF

Laid at Rest in Lowell Cemetery Today.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL SERVICES

Attended by Prominent Men.

IN PUBLIC AND PRIVATE LIFE.

Masonic Services at the Grave.

The remains of the late Henry G. Cushing, sheriff of Middlesex county, were interred in their final resting place in the Lowell cemetery this afternoon. The last and service attended by a large concourse of many of Middlesex county's most prominent men in public and private life.

Funeral services were conducted at 2.30 o'clock at the residence of the late sheriff, adjoining the jail. The remains reposed in a costly casket, surrounded by a wealth of floral tributes. The funeral services at the house were conducted by Rev. J. L. Seward, formerly of this city, assisted by Rev. Dr. Warfield of the First Congregational church of this city. The quartet which sings at the Sunday services at the jail rendered several beautiful funeral hymns.

At the conclusion of the house service, the remains were tenderly borne to the hearse and the lengthy funeral cortege proceeded to the Lowell cemetery. The honorary pall bearers were Judge D. W. Bond of the superior court; Theodore C. Hurd, Esq., clerk of the courts for Middlesex county; John R. Fairbairn of Cambridge, acting sheriff for Middlesex county; Hon. James L. Pierce of Malden; Hon. Charles H. Richardson of Clinton and Hon. Jeremiah Crowley, Hon. J. C. Abbott and William H. Anderson, Esq. of this city.

The acting pall bearers were Deputy Sheriffs Charles F. Morse George F. Saville, James H. McKenna, Henry C. Sherwin, John E. Tidd, Alvah S. Baker, S. W. Tucker and George H. Stiles.

At the grave in the Lowell cemetery, the Masonic burial service was conducted by members of Kilwinning lodge F. A. M., under the direction of Frank H. Stearns and the Masonic quartet rendered appropriate musical selections. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Arthur G. Pollard and the interment in charge of J. B. Currier.

Among those noticed at the cemetery were Judge McIntyre and Judge Lawton of the probate court; Judge Pickman and Judge Fisher of the police court; County Commissioners Gould, Upham, Bigelow, Registrar of Probate S. H. Folsom, Assistant Clerks of Courts, John L. Ambrose, W. C. Dillingham and Ralph N. Smith, County Treasurer Joseph O. Hayden, District Attorney Wier, Assistant District Attorney George A. Sanderson, Special County Commissioners E. E. Thompson and D. P. Strange, General Bancroft of Cambridge, General Bridges, warden of the state prison; Sheriff O'Brien of Suffolk county, Sheriff Johnson of Essex county, Patrick Corcoran of Cambridge, the directors of the First National Bank of Lowell; a delegation from Post 120, G. A. R., a delegation from the Loyal Legion and all the deputy sheriffs of Middlesex county.

FRENCH CHAMBER

Adopts Order Against the Premier's Protest.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PARIS, June 12.—The Chamber of Deputies today adopted by a vote of 331 to 176 the order of the day proposed by M. Ranu, radical, representing the second district of St. Gaudens, which the premier refused to accept. The ministers forthwith left the house amid great excitement.

The vote of M. Ranu's motion was as follows: "The chamber is determined to support only a government resolved to defend vigorously republican institutions and to secure public order and passes to the order of the day. After the vote was announced, the socialists shouted "Vive la Republique" and the ministers left the house. The chamber adjourned.

After M. Dupuy's statement, M. Clovis Hugh, socialist, and others complained of the police treatment yesterday. Finally the closure was declared and half a dozen orders of the day were moved. The premier supported the order of the day of M. Saumand, republican, approving the declaration of the government, for which priority was demanded and refused by a vote of 253 to 246.

Amidst increasing excitement other motions more or less favorable to the government were defeated and the chamber then adopted by 366 to 177, priority for M. Raau Ranau's motion. Finally M. Dupuy declared the government would accept nothing short of M. Saumande's order of the day and the chamber promptly carried M. Ranau's motion.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The strike of six thousand members of the children's jacket makers and knee breeches makers' unions went into effect today.

The strikers held a meeting and committees were appointed to visit Brooklyn to get fellow workers to join in the movement for increased wages.

This strike is directed against the large wholesale dealers and the workers have the sympathy and support of the contractors, who complain that the dealers have reduced prices formerly paid for garments.

SENATOR GEORGE

The Haverhill Scholar in Town

BOOMING HIMSELF FOR AUDITOR.

A Most Picturesque Early Bird.

It's the early bird that catches the worm, even in politics and while Bates and Guild are off at the beach somewhere depending upon George Poore and others to look after their booms in this city, Senator Frank George, the tician, with his name in his hat and his overcoat over his arm lest a "frost", overtake him, is in town today, booming himself mightily for the position of state auditor.

Senator George looking as charming and as picturesque as the scenery which one views from the deck of his steamer while floating down the Merrimack from Haverhill, blew into town this morning alone and unheralded, but with a purpose of which he was not ashamed.

When I saw him he was still alone in a restaurant calmly annihilating a large steak and out of respect for his appetite I did not approach him but others saw him during the day and from them I learned his purpose, namely, to boom himself for the position of state auditor next fall.

His friends want him in that position. True, as yet they have not kept us awake nights clamoring for his recognition but nevertheless they want him, all candidates have friends who want them to run and Senator George is merely taking advantage of a cool day and is helping his friends along in their laudable desire to have him nominated for the office of state auditor.

YALE CREW AT PRACTICE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

YALE QUARTERS, Gale's Ferry, Conn., June 12.—Today, for the first time during their stay here this season the Yale oarsmen experienced rough water and as a result were handicapped in their practice. The crew did not go out until 11 o'clock. Followed by the four substitutes the Varsity crew rowed over to Horton's Cove and both shells were sent over a half mile course. The Yale launch tied up to the railroad trestles and Coaches Gaillaudet and Armstrong looked after the men from there. The work of the men in the two shells was ragged on account of the rough water and at 12.30 the oarsmen were all back at the float.

HIS LIFE SAVINGS

Stolen From John Williams a Finlander.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—John Williams, a Finlander, who intended to sail for his native country today, reported to the police here that a fellow countryman whom he trusted had robbed him of his life savings, amounting to $95. Williams has been employed in an axe handle factory in East Douglass. He came to Boston Saturday afternoon with Victor Matson, who had been his friend. The two men went to a lodging house in Roxbury, to remain until today. Last night when they retired Williams placed his vest in which he kept his money under his pillow. At 5 o'clock this morning, Matson and the vest and the money were gone.

AMOS PALMER

MAY BE SENT TO McLEAN INSANE ASYLUM.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12.—Gov. Dyer had a conference with Attorney General Tanner this morning, regarding the disposition of Amos D. Palmer, who the court last week decided was not responsible for his act when he killed his wife. There are some points of law to be considered and the governor decided to delay action. The friends of Mr. Palmer desire that he be sent to the McLean asylum at Somerville, Mass., and it is believed that Governor Dyer will accede to their request in this particular.

A Nashua resident informs The Sun that Miss Cordelia Gerols of Perham street, Nashua, is reported missing. She is supposed to have come to Lowell Saturdays She wore a white waist, black skirt, black sailor hat and light tan shoes and carried a bible. She is said to be about 20 years of age. She may be visiting friends, however.

MEMORIAL SUNDAY

LOCAL VETERAN FIREMEN VISIT GRAVES OF THEIR DEAD.

Yesterday was Memorial Sunday with the local Veteran Firemen's associations which turned out in large numbers and visited their dead. The members were attired in their uniforms and at each grave they left a floral tribute, after brief service. At noon committee of the L. V. A. visited the cemeteries and decorated graves as follows: Lowell cemetery 16, Catholic 12, Edson 12. Graves of former members at Salem, Los Angeles, Cal., Tewksbury Centre, Windham and Rochester, N. H., were decorated. Then in the afternoon the indoor service was held at the Gree church, where Rev. R. A. Greene preached the memorial sermon, and eulogized John F. Williams and James Pierce, with whom he was acquainted.

Secretary Charles W. Philbrick then read the names of members who died the past year. The list included John B. Conlain, Alvin Thomnson, James Pierce, John F. Williams, Thomas McLaughlin and Bernard J. Brady. Singing followed.

General Butler Veteran firemen held memorial exercises. The members turned out in full uniform and in a special electric car visited the Catholic and Edson cemeteries, and stopped at the graves of John J. Hall, John J. Mealey and Wm. S. Knapp.

SEAMSTRESSES COMPLAIN.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The United Labor League of this city has taken up the cause of the 3,000 seamstresses, mostly soldiers' wives, widows and daughters who complain that the government has soldiers' clothing made by contract, taking from them their means of livelihood. It is said that abut $1,660,000 worth of contracts are to be given out and if so, the seamstresses will have no work at all.

AMERICAN RECORD BROKEN.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 12.—F. O. Kragness of the Olympic Club Wheelmen has broken the American 200-mile road record by making a double century around San Francisco Bay in 11 hours and 37 minutes. This is two hours and three minutes ahead of the coast record and is said to be four minutes better than is credited to any rider in this country.

HENRY AGNEW DEAD.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 12.—Henry J. Agnew, one of the best known breeders of trotting horses on the coast is dead of heart failure. He was the owner of the Agnew stock farm near Hillsdale. Deceased was 52 years of age and was a native of New York.

THE CLEVELAND STRIKE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 12.—Both sides in the big Consolidated Street Railway strike, were resting on their arms pending a meeting of the state board of arbitration called for 10 o'clock this morning. It was understood that no cars would be sent out this morning but at 9 o'clock three were started from the Lakeview barns. Strikers and their friends are gathered in crowds on the streets but were undemonstrative. No serious trouble is expected and much is hoped from the arbitration board meeting before which the officials and counsel of the road and a committee of the strikers are to appear.

EX-COUNCILMAN JOSEPH F. O'ROURKE, Who Died This Morning.

JOS. F. O'ROURKE

Popular Ex-Councilman Died This Morning.

Ex-Councilman Joseph F. O'Rourke one of ward two's most popular citizens, passed away at his home at 14 Dempsey's Place, off Salem street at 2.30 o'clock this morning, having been unwell for some time, though confined to his home only for the past four days, heart trouble causing death.

Deceased was 34 years old and had resided in the vicinity of old ward one nearly all his life. He attended the local schools and formerly was engaged in the tailor business on Merrimack street. He was quite prominent in old ward one politics and was a member of the common council in 1892, serving his constituents with honor and distinction. Personally "Joe" as he was familiarly called by his intimates was a kind, amiable and cheerful man, making friends of all with whom he came in contact. For the past few years he had been employed by the Harvard Brewing Co. and was one of the organizers and a past president of the local Brewery Workers' Union. He was quite prominent and popular in labor circles and his death will be regretted by a host of friends. He is survived by three brothers and five sisters, two of the latter residing in this city and the other members of the family in New York and in England. The funeral announcement will be made later.

NANTASKET FIRE

Two Hotels Burned Down Last Night

A CARELESS SMOKER CAUSED THE FIRE.

The Montasco and Hollis Total Loss.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NANTASKET BEACH, June 12.—The careless action of a man in throwing a lighted paper from a lunch cart standing against the front of the unoccupied Montasco hotel at the beach about 7 o'clock last evening caused a fire which within an hour had destroyed the Montasco and Hollis hotels and two small frame buildings, one occupied jointly by the postoffice and police department, and the other by Fred Andrews as a bicycle store, while the Hotel Tivoli, which stands next to the Nantasket hotel, between it and the postoffice and police building, was also damaged.

The total loss is estimated at $35,000, of which $13,000 was on the buildings; $12,000 on contents, divided as follows: Hotel Hollis building, owned by the Burkhardt Brewing company, Boston, $7000; Montasco Hotel building, owned by James H. Jellison, the Haymarket square apothecary, $6000; two small buildings occupied by police and postoffice and Andrew's bicycle store, and owned by Postmaster Frank M. Reynolds of Nantasket Beach, $800; Hotel Tivoli building, owned by Burkhardt Brewing company, damaged $200; contents of Hotel Hollis, including furniture, bedding, bar equipment and stock of beer, ale and liquors, the property of Harry P Morrissey, proprietor of the Rexmore hotel, Boston, who also leased the Hotel Hollis, $7000; contents of Montasco hotel, consisting chiefly of furniture, $2000; contents of postoffice and police building, $1000; contents of Andrews' bicycle store, $700. The only articles saved from the Hollis hotel were a piano and a few tables and chairs.

The fire was a spectacular one, and although a large proportion of the 7000 people who were on the beach during the afternoon had gone home, it was witnessed by more than 1500 persons, who gathered on the beach and in the roadway and fields in front of the burning buildings.

NOW DEDICATED

FIRST TRINITARIAN CHURCH CONSECRATED TO GOD.

The dedication exercises of the First Trinitarian Congregational church were held last evening. Rev. George F. Kennott offered prayer. The dedicatory sermon was preached by Rev. W. E. Wolcott of Lawrence, who emphasized the fact that the church would become sacred because God would take up his abode in it. The speaker laid stress on the individual element in Christianity.

In a few brief remarks, the pastor, Rev. George F. Kennott, spoke gratefully of the gifts that had been made to the church.

Rev. George H. Johnson brought the greetings of the sister churches. He said the First Trinitarian church had won its victory, demonstrated its right to existence and won the respect of all the other churches. He paid a hearty tribute to the faithful work of Rev. G. F. Kennott and his wife and to the church members for the willing self sacrifice which made the dedication of the building possible.

Chinaman Arrested For Keeping Speak Easy

Colored Woman Bites an Officer.

LAWRENCE AND NASHUA DRUNKS TAKEN IN

From Centralville Side of the River.

"For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain.
The Heathen Chinee is peculiar."

And as he becomes Americanized, the blessings of civilization only add to his "peculiarity," so to speak, and for an example there is Sam Lee, with a deceiving name, a Chinese Beindryman from Wamesit street, who today is a sadder and wiser Celestial as he hears the clerk of the court charge him with wilfully violating the great American liquor law.

Poor Sam did fairly well at the laundry business; but as Brutus said of Caesar, he was ambitious and became weary of his monotonous squirting and ironing day after day, especially since countrymen of his own had got onto and adopted the great American scheme of cutting prices and he desired to become rich more quickly and with less work.

Accordingly he scratched his smooth topped cranium for a plan and finally hit upon a corker. "Nie Licliense; me sellee lum, makee more allee samee, J'just like Melican man," thought Sam and he concluded to start up a first class "speak easy."

He fitted out his place with a whole lot of bad whiskey and after tipping off a few friends, began to a land office business; but Sam was boyish and it "queered" him. He wasn't content to do business discriminately and make money slowly but sold to everyone who produced the price.

He knew enough not to sell to the big man in the blue coat and brass buttons but he he had never been up against the liquor inspector in citizen's clothes and when Liquor Inspector Atkinson went to the laundry Saturday night and asked for a half pint, Sam hastened to accommodate him, assuring him that it was "allee samee fine liskey." Inspector Atkinson paid 25 cents for the stuff and as he did, Liquor Inspectors Goodwin and Donaldson and Officers Maloney and Corcoran broke in upon him and the bottom fell out of Sam's quick road to wealth.

The inspector searched the premises and found four jugs, one 10-gallon keg and several bottles and these together with the heart-broken Chinaman they bundled into the patrol wagon and took to the police station.

HELD IN NASHUA.

Michael Kelly and Fred Lovejoy, two young men from Lowell were arraigned in the Nashua police court, Friday morning on the charge of stealing $60 from the house of Martin Van Buren Thompson. Lovejoy pleaded guilty to the larceny of $27 and Kelly to the larceny of $29. The men were held in bonds of $500 each for the September term of the supreme court.

DECIDEDLY OFF COLOR.

Rose Johnson, a "culled lady" got off color last night and started to tear down a tenement on Church street. Officer Hill was called, but Rose refused to accompany him and started to fight. It was necessary to drag the pugnacious dame down two flights of stairs and up to the box on Church street. On the way the woman attempted to bite the officer's arm but didn't succeed though her teeth penetrated his coat sleeve.

THE LIQUOR INSPECTORS.

According to report, some of the liquor inspectors will wind up as defendants in court, on account of their manner of raiding places.

Over 20 drunks got in Saturday night and Sunday and of these over 12 were taken on the Centralville side of the river, as they came from Lawrence, Hudson and Nashua.

CARS HELD UP

An axle on Car No. 113 coming from Lakeview broke directly in front of the car barn at the navy yard last evening about 6 o'clock and at just a time when the electrics conveying the thousands of pleasure-seekers from Lakeview were returning to the city in great numbers. In a short time more than thirty cars were blocked along the tracks from Parker avenue to the car barn. The disabled car was finally run to the car sheds.

L'ASSOCIATION CATHOLIQUE.

L'Association Catholique observed its anniversary yesterday afternoon with a demonstration. The members of the association gathered at their hall in Merrimack street early in the afternoon and paraded over the route given in Saturday's Sun. The procession was led by the National band, after which came the Garde d'honneur, and then followed the other members of the association. On returning to St. Jean Baptiste church, the members listened to an interesting address by Rev. Fr. Paquette, O. M. I. Prominent members of the association also made remarks during the afternoon and the National band gave pleasing selections.

HER EIGHTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY.

The annual picnic of the Unitarian Sunday school was held Saturday at Willow Dale.

GRAND JURY LIST

The Vaughn's and Dowd and Logue Indicted

NO BILL AGAINST MRS. BLENNERHASSETT

Trials Will Begin Tomorrow Morning.

OTHER LOWELL CASES REPORTED UPON.

Mark of Respect to Sheriff Cushing.

The grand jury reported to Judge Bond at Cambridge Saturday, with the following list of Lowell cases. The more important indictments appeared in Saturday's Sun:

As was generally expected, no bill was found against Mrs. Letitia Blennerhassett of North Billerica, who was held for manslaughter in the lower court and consequently she goes free.

Jim Maloney, charged with lewd and lascivious conduct, also goes free, no bill being found against her.

Thomas F. Logue and James F. Dowd, the alleged assailants of John B. Cover, were indicted, the indictment charging them with robbery, while armed. Both men pleaded not guilty.

True bills were also found against Robert and Olan Vaughn, the former being indicted on six counts and the latter on four. The two men are jointly charged in the indictments with breaking and entering the offices of A. C. Goodrich, W. A. Dickinson, and Bartholomew Scannell and robbery from Patrolman John F. Healey. In addition to these, Robert will have to answer to two charges of assault with intent to kill, one upon Lieutenant James Brosnan and the other upon Inspector Charles Lallamme.

Both men were in court Saturday morning and pleaded not guilty of all charges. Robert is much improved in appearance since the trial in the local police court, looking more fleshy and generally more healthy. He wore a neat fitting black suit with sack coat. Olan does not appear to have suffered by his confinement and has grown a suspicion of a moustache upon his upper lip.

The other indictments were as follows:

Katie McCaffrey, adultery. She pleaded guilty.

Margaret Ellison, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Seth McAlpine, polygamy and adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Ben Walker, breaking and entering and larceny from the Billerica Baptist church; pleaded guilty.

Eli P. Lablanc, forgery; pleaded guilty.

Thomas Reay, larceny from the person; pleaded not guilty.

Asard Roseck, larceny; pleaded not guilty.

Francis J. Kelley, rape; pleaded not guilty.

Frank P. Keyes, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

John Krofxa, adultery, pleaded guilty.

John J. Armour, carnal abuse, pleaded not guilty.

William P. Lawrenson, breaking and entering P. J. Riley's junk shop, larceny of a watch and receiving stolen goods, three counts in all; pleaded not guilty.

Henry W. Armstrong, adultery; pleaded not guilty.

Lillian G. Gallaway, adultery, pleaded not guilty.

No bill was returned against Mary Kershaw, but she is destined to remain behind the bars for some time to come, in serving the sentence imposed in the Suffolk county court.

The trial of cases will begin in the Cambridge court tomorrow, as court adjourned this morning out of respect for the late Sheriff Cushing.

CITY HALL NOTES.

The Fourth of July committee will meet this evening at 7.30 and determine upon a down town headquarters as city hall is hardly the place for them to transact business.

A BAD ACCIDENT

Miss Melvina Laplerre Run Down by Scorchers

ON THE BOULEVARD LAST EVENING.

She Was Very Seriously Injured.

THE SCORCHERS BEAT HASTY RETREAT

Under Pretense of Getting a Physician.

Miss Melvina Laplerre, aged 20 years, daughter of Constable Joseph S. Laplerre, was last night the victim of a most painful bicycling accident and of most churlish treatment from the two men who caused her injuries.

About 9 o'clock last night, Miss Laplerre and a girl friend with a gentleman escort were riding leisurely up the boulevard Miss Laplerre leading, the other young lady directly behind her and the gentleman in the rear.

Suddenly as they were about a quarter mile from the Varnum avenue entrance two men on a tandem came down upon them at a terrific rate of speed, crashing into Miss Laplerre's wheel before she could save herself.

She was hurled several feet by the force of the collision and the young lady riding behind her was also knocked down and badly bruised. The wheels of both young women were smashed, while the scorchers and their wheel escaped injury.

When Miss Laplerre was picked up, it was found that she was not only badly cut and bruised but was bleeding at the mouth from internal injuries.

The wily scorchers noting Miss Laplerre's serious condition suggested that they had better go for a doctor and the unsuspecting victims agreed with them. They started off again at breakneck speed and though thoroughly cognizant of the fact that the victim of the accident was in a very serious condition and far removed from any assistance they neither sent a physician nor showed up there again themselves.

After waiting nearly an hour for the physician whom the heartless scoundrels had promised to send, during which time Miss Laplerre suffered intensely, it was necessary for the gentleman in the party to leave the two young women alone on the boulevard and go in search of assistance.

He called at the house of Mrs. Susan Kenneson, 217 Pawtucket Boulevard, where the family, not only telephoned for the ambulance but sent a carriage for the young women. From Mrs. Kenneson's house they were removed to their homes on Sargent street.

The young men who rode the tandem which by the way was without a lantern are known by sight and are members of one of the local wheelmen's clubs. The police were notified of the case and undoubtedly the young men have not heard the last of the affair.

Miss Laplerre is in a serious condition, though not dangerous.

SAILBOAT CAPSIZED.

A sailboat containing a party of four capsized in the Merrimack river, off Varnum avenue, near the entrance to the boulevard early last evening.

The amateur sailors were wet down thoroughly but were rescued without difficulty.

FUNERALS.

BARRINGTON—The funeral of the late Albert Barrington who died suddenly Thursday afternoon at his home in Billerica avenue, North Billerica, after a long illness, took place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Baptist church of that village. Rev. S. Knowles officiated and Archibald Ritchie, Richard T. Perry, James W. Sutcliffe and Herbert B. Ellis were pall bearers. The interment was in Fox Hill cemetery under the direction of Undertaker C. M. Young.

A quartette consisting of James W. Ritchie, H. B. Ellis, George Durstin, and Thomas Grinrod sang several selections. Mr. Thomas Bateson presided at the organ. Members of North Billerica Council, Royal Arcanum, attended in a body, he being a charter member. Deceased was a native of Swinton, England, but had made Billerica his home for the past 17 years. A father, mother, wife and two daughters survive. He had been employed in the spinning department of the Talbot Mills of that village for a long period and was 39 years, 8 months and 26 days of age.

FISHER—Mrs. Frances C. Fisher who died yesterday morning at the residence of her son, Rev. C. E. Fisher, 165 Branch street, had been a resident of this city but little over a year, yet during that time she had endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance and her loss will be deeply mourned. Until she came to Lowell, deceased had lived the greater part of her life in Provincetown, where she reared her family. Besides her son, Rev. C. E. Fisher of the First Universalist church, she left a daughter, Mrs. Mayo of Brockton. Deceased was 67 years of age.

TWISS—The funeral of Sabrina A. Twiss was held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from her late residence, 53 West Forrest street. Rev. H. A. Greene officiated and the bearers were Messrs. Arthur W. Lang, Fred A. George, Frank Stevens and Harry Greene. Interment was in the Edson cemetery.

CONNELL—The funeral of Michael Connell took place yesterday afternoon from his home, 34 Wall street, where a large number of his friends gathered to attend the remains to the cemetery. From the residence, the cortege went to the Immaculate Conception church, where services were held. Rev. Fr. Glenuli, O. M. I., officiated. At close of the church service, the remains were taken to the family lot in the Catholic cemetery where interment took place with Undertaker O'Donnell in charge. The bearers were James Cox, Michael Nugent, Thomas and Patrick Nevins, Charles Farley and Michael Tighe. A large delegation of Holy Name society members attended the funeral, the deceased being connected with the society for many years.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Yesterday was Children's Day in the churches, the little ones being the center of attraction at every service. Nearly all wore white dresses and took an active part in the exercises which were held in their honor.

SMOOTH PAVEMENT

Growing in Popularity All Through the Country.

Some of the Various Forms of Best Smooth Paving Explained, Asphalt, Vulcanite and Asphaltina — Asphalt Possesses Most Merit and is Most Used.

As the past decade has pointed out the fact that slowly but surely the cities and towns of this country are coming to the exclusive use of smooth paving in the building of and reconstruction of their streets and roadways, and as at present the local press has entered into a controversy over the methods employed by the street department in making their awards for certain smooth paving contracts involving a discussion of the relative merits of various grades and kinds of smooth paving, the subject has become one of general interest, and the public up to date has been able to derive but little knowledge of the subject other than the fact that smooth paving is more desirable in streets than rough, and that it appears to be gaining in popularity each year.

The introduction of bituminous concrete pavements for roadways commenced about the year 1867 with a pavement consisting of a mixture of coal tar and sand which, though possessed of some merit was not lasting, due, it was agreed, to the fact that coal tar is not durable when subjected to atmospheric changes and street traffic.

In the year 1870 Mr. L. S. Filbert conceived the idea of mixing sulphur and lime with the coal tar, producing what was called the "Vulcanite" pavement, and for a few years a considerable amount of it was laid in Washington. In 1878 the first genuine asphalt pavement was laid in Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, D. C., and was known as the "Trinidad Lake Asphalt Sheet Pavement."

Later still a new competitor came into the field under the name of Asphaltina, the Trinidad Asphalt having become decidedly popular throughout the country, and then the war of the smooth paving companies began. The fight is asphalt against asphaltina, the former claiming that the latter is but a renewal of the old coal tar Vulcanite, which in its original form was no success.

THE PATENT SPECIFICATIONS.

The specifications of the several patents now in asphaltina and vulcanite are in extract as follows:

ASPHALTINA.

(Patent No. 540,793, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"I claim as my invention:

"1. The herein described composition of matter, consisting of a calcium resinate (lime and rosin), a heavy hydro-carbon, tar and sulphur.

"Heavy hydro-carbon' is described in the patent as 'The petroleum sediment known as B. S.,' which is a sort of tar found in the bottom of crude oil tanks.

(Patent No. 540,792, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"2. The herein described composition of matter consisting of tar combined with sulphur substantially in the proportion specified, resin and sulphurized heavy hydro-carbon.

(Patent No. 540,791, dated June 11th, 1895.)

"This is substantially the same as the other two patents, substituting the term 'B. S.' for the word 'tar,' and provides that 'The hardness of the mixture may be' increased by adding a greater or less quantity of tar, either coal, wood or petroleum tar, to the 'B. S.' residue and rosin.

VULCANITE.

(Patent No. 105,636, dated October 25th, 1870.)

"My composition is composed of the following ingredients: Asphalt, pitch, coal tar or pine tar, sulphuric acid, lime, sand, etc.

"Sulphur may be used instead of sulphuric acid."

From these there would appear to be a striking similarity in the two forms of paving.

The original Trinidad Lake asphalt pavements which are entirely different in their construction are now in use in about one hundred cities of the United States, to the extent of upward of 20,000,000 square yards (1550 square miles), their growth increasing yearly since their beginning to almost the entire exclusion of other forms of pavement. It is laid upon a foundation of concrete, from four to six inches in thickness, depending upon the nature of the traffic to be provided for, composed of Trinidad Lake asphalt, sand, petroleum, residium and lime stone dust. It has often replaced other paving materials such as macadam, brick, granite blocks, and cobble stones, and these pavements have also been successfully used as a foundation for a wearing surface of asphalt. Its promotors claim that it outlasts any other form of pavement except granite and is so close a second that it is preferred to granite for its many excellences. Many streets paved with it, it is claimed, are in perfect order without any repairs after 10 years use.

In Buffalo, N. Y., which claims to be the best paved city in America, over 4,000,000 square yards or 200 miles, the greatest extent in the world have been laid in the past 18 years at a cost in the neighborhood of 12 or 13 million dollars, and the chief engineer of the city lauds its praises in no uncertain terms.

DECREASES DEATH-RATE.

And speaking of the benefits of asphalt pavements one of the most striking appears in "Municipal Engineering of March, 1897 under the headlines "Asphalt Paving and Health in New York." A Memphis, Tenn. official writes that he had been informed that the mayor of New York had stated that the extended use of asphalt pavements in that city had lowered the death rate and sought information as to the truth of the statement. The board of health in its answer showed decreased rate and made this statement.

The remarkable decrease in the death rate and in the death rate from diarrhoeal diseases for the same period indicates improved sanitary conditions, the cleanliness of streets, the asphalt pavements, the improved milk supply and the use of sterilized milk have no doubt contributed."

Among the cities using asphalt and the amount used are the following:

Hamilton, O., 96,390 sq. yds; Detroit, Mich., 432,749 sq. yds; Peoria, Ill., 146,749 sq. yds; Columbus, 308,020 sq. yds; Cincinnati, O., 400,000 sq. yds; Philadelphia, 171,82 miles; Washington, D. C., 2,495, 932 sq. yds; Denver, Col., 240,000 sq. yds; Toledo, O., 335,000 sq. yds; Buffalo, N. Y., 27.35 miles; Minneapolis, Minn., 178,674 sq. yds; Brooklyn, N. Y., 675,000 sq. yds; Dayton, O.,355,501 sq. yds; Niagara Falls, N. Y. 42,000 sq. yds;

Among the direct answers of the engineers of these cities to the question, "which gives the best satisfaction?" Seven said asphalt; one asphalt and brick; one asphalt and medina stone and two brick.

In many of the larger cities most of the new work that is being done in streets is with this sheet asphalt. In New York during 1895 says a street report the most important asphalt paving work during the season of 1895 was Fifth avenue between Ninth and Fifty-ninth streets and First avenue between Twentieth and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth streets. Both of them very large contracts are now incomplete owing to delays in trenching necessary, also street car track obstructions. The asphalt gutter strips, usually four feet, usually placed on the street previously paved with stone blocks and for the convenience of bicyclists and thorough street cleaning, have preferred their utility."

THE LOCAL SIDE

And with these recommendations back of them the Trinidad Sheet Asphalt people came here to enter into competition with the other smooth pavers, but the City Council and Supt. Cheney deliberately bar out this company and let the contract out without competition to a company giving only a 5-year guarantee whose work is claimed to be inferior, despite the fact that the superior asphalt company offers a 10 year guarantee.

Are we getting the best for our money, or are we patronizing a particular company at a loss to the city?

CATHOLIC NOTES

First Communion at St. Patrick's Church Yesterday

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES AT SACRED HEART.

Observance of St. Anthony's Day Tomorrow.

St. Patrick's church was the scene of a beautiful religious event yesterday morning when 221 children received their first communion at 8.30 o'clock mass. Of these 122 were girls and 99 were boys. The girls were all attired in white dresses and veils and the boys wore white shirt waists and ties. The mass was sung by Rev. Fr. McHugh, and Rev. Richard S. Burke preached an eloquent sermon to the young communicants. In the afternoon the children attended Vespers in a body. Rev. Fr. Leonard sang Vespers and there was a special musical program.

SACRED HEART CHURCH.

The solemnization of the feast of the Sacred Heart was fittingly observed yesterday at the Sacred Heart church. Moore St. At 10.30 solemn high mass was celebrated by Very Rev. Fr. Lefebvre, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Fr. Mast, O. M. I., of the Tewksbury Novitiate as deacon, Rev. Fr. McRory, O. M. I., as sub deacon, and Rev. Fr. Reynolds O. M. I., pastor of the Sacred Heart church as master of ceremonies. Fr. Reynolds also preached the sermon. In the procession of the blessed sacrament the novices from the novitiate at Tewksbury participated and sang the Litany and the "Pang-Lingua." The children who received their first communion and were confirmed last week, the Sisters of the Sacred Heart school and the altar boys walked in the procession, all carrying banners.

The pastor announced that the proceeds of the recent bazaar amounted to $5010.44. He also announced that a church debt society would be soon formed.

Sunday evening, a triduum preparatory to the feast of St. Anthony of Padua was commenced at this church.

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION.

On Thursday evening, June 29, there will be a lawn party at the Burns residence on Rogers street and Butman road, under the auspices of the Ladies of the Sacred Heart in aid of the new convent.

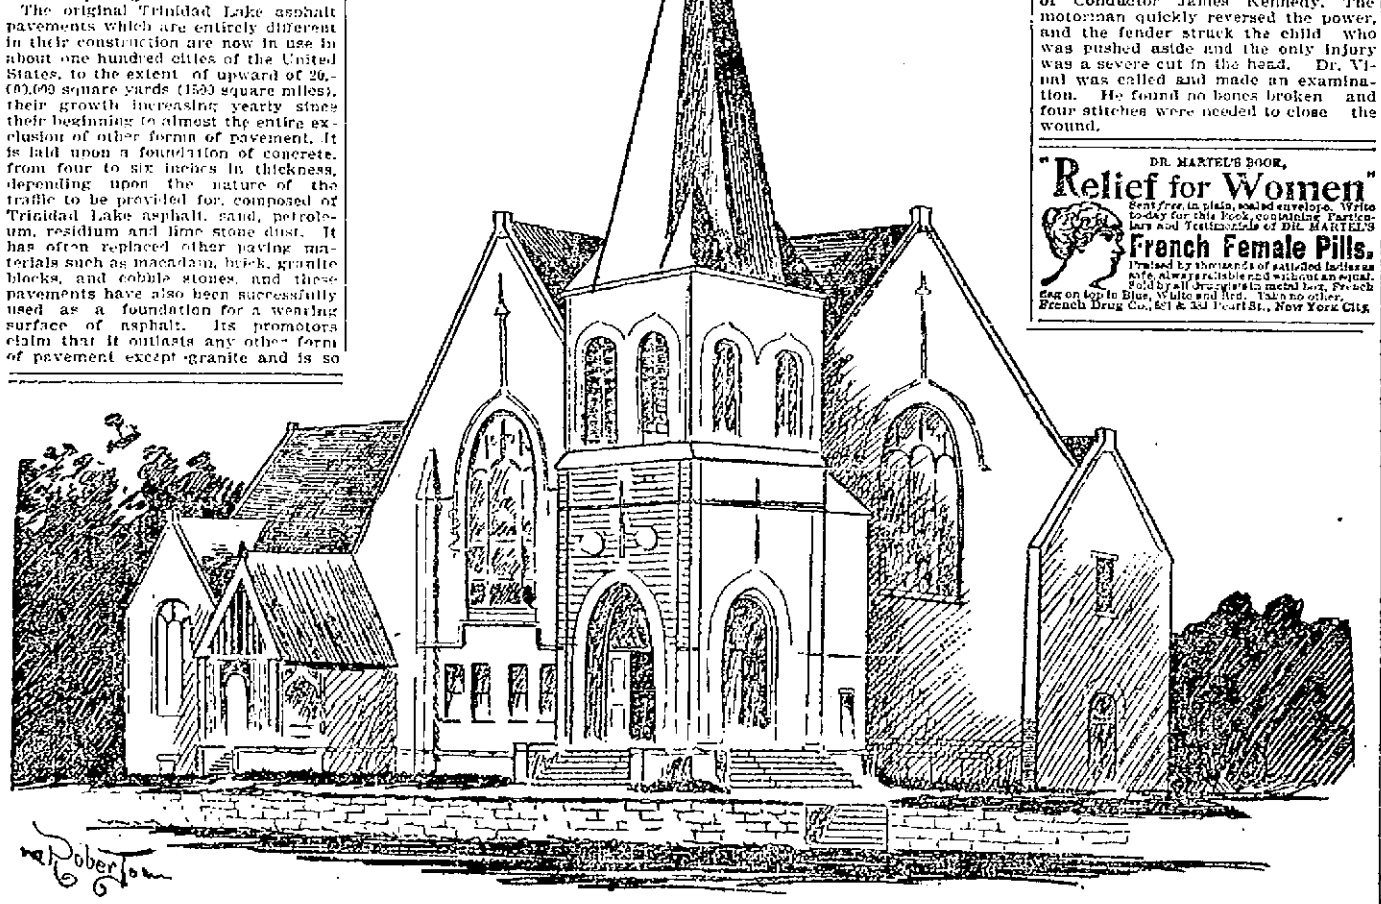

The Immaculate Conception school will close on Friday, June 23.

A high mass of requiem was celebrated this morning at 8 o'clock for the repose of the soul of Michael O'Connell. Rev. Fr. Lawrence, O. M. I., was the celebrant.

St. Anthony's Day will be observed tomorrow at the Immaculate Conception church and masses will be celebrated at 5.15, 6.30 and 8 o'clock.

FROM THE WEAVERS.

At the Burke Temperance hall Friday night a testimonial was given by the Brussels carpet weavers of Lowell to Mr. Joseph Casey. He was presented with a handsome gold watch by his co-workers. The presentation was made by President-elect Geo. Farrow, and the following local talent took part in the entertainment: Songs by John Murray, Michael Gorman, May Miller, Glen Wilson, Daniel McCaffrey; negro specialty, George Shanks; harmonica solo, Master Lynch; also duet by the Misses Perrin; songs by Peter Ball and Master Arthur Walker. Committee in charge, Geo. Farrow, chairman; Albert Richardson and Arthur McFayden.

THE NEW PAWTUCKET CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

THE NEW CHURCH

Of Pawtuckelville Congregational Society.

NOW PRACTICALLY COMPLETED.

Money Subscribed for a New Organ.

The new Pawtucket church is nearly completed. Two of the large memorial windows are in place and the third window on Mammoth road side is being placed in position at present. There are 21 small memorial windows which will be in position before Saturday, the 17th.

The pews are to be in position June 14. When the pews and windows are in, the church will be practically completed. There are in the auditorium 500 sittings. The vestry opens into the auditorium and is capable of seating from 200 to 250. There are sliding doors between the vestry and the auditorium.

The roof of the auditorium is supported by steel trusses, which, with the decorations and memorial windows, give a very pleasing effect.

It was voted at the parish meeting June 7 to purchase a new organ, to be made especially for the church, the money for the same having been pledged. It will probably be some three months before the organ is ready. The church is so arranged as to be very commodious and convenient, nearly all the church work proper being on one floor, the basement containing ladies kitchen, serving room and a banquet hall is capable of seating some 300. There is also a large boiler room for wood and coal. The building will be heated by three large furnaces.

The system of ventilation is such as to give a pure and wholesome air which is relieved of its impurities by a register in the floor adjoining into a large air box, which connects with a large ventilating flue.

The old church and horse sheds will soon be removed or torn down.

JOSEPH F. CONVERY

ELECTED PRESIDENT OF THE TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL.

Joseph F. Convery, the well known city carpenter and labor organizer, was yesterday chosen president for the ensuing six months and the Trades and Labor Council. The regular meeting was held in the afternoon and other elections were as follows: Vice president, Charles H. McCullough; secretary John J. Mahoney; financial secretary, Daniel Moynahan; treasurer, Albert Ham; sergeant-at-arms, Patrick Kane. After considerable discussion, it was voted to parade on Labor Day. A committee consisting of one from each union was appointed with full power to make all arrangements for the proper observance of the day. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Retiring President Shannon for the able and honest manner in which he performed the duties of his office.

A committee of three was appointed to draw up suitable resolutions and have them framed and presented to ex-President Shannon at the next meeting.

MR. GLIDDEN

ELECTED TO EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Charles H. Glidden was elected a member of the executive committee of the Middlesex club at its meeting in Young's hotel, Boston, Saturday.

NARROW ESCAPE

CHILD STRUCK BY FENDER OF A NASHUA CAR.

But for the skill and cool head of Motorman Michael Roarke of the Nashua electric line, another child's life would have been ground out a short distance from the scene of the Beaurgale accident on, Saturday evening. As it was the child was struck and hurled to safety on the fender, which the motorman dropped.

Little Joseph Giaard, aged 4 years, son of Charles Giaard, with numerous other children, was playing in the street in front of his home, 73 Lakeview avenue, when the car which was due in the square at 6.50 came along. The child ran from behind a team directly in front of the car which was in charge of Conductor James Kennedy. The motorman quickly reversed the power, and the fender struck the child who was pushed aside and the only injury was a severe cut in the head. Dr. Vinal was called and made an examination. He found no bones broken and four stitches were needed to close the wound.

Scottish Sovereign Remedies Cure.

The Scottish Doctors' Treatment for Catarrh Warmly Praised.

Mackintosh Scottish Sovereign Remedy Co.: Gentlemen—It is with great pleasure that I give you my testimonial. For some time I have been suffering from that terrible disease, Catarrh. My nostrils were nearly closed, and it was almost impossible to breathe through them. My weight from me was badly inclined, my ears were full of water, and my sleep very much disturbed. Reading your advt. one morning, I concluded to call at your office and receive free treatment. The attention your doctors gave me was simply elegant. After my first treatment I noticed a decided beneficial effect. I have been using your Catarrh Remedy for about 10 days, and the results have been most marvellous. My head is clear, the foetid nasal tone is gone, and I feel like a new being. I advise all suffering with this dreadful disease to use the Scottish Catarrh Specialty and receive the same blessing I have. Yours very truly, CHAS. J. JONES, Roxbury.

THE LOWELL SUN

SUN BUILDING, LOWELL, MASS.

$3.00 Per Year. 25c. Per Month

The Tax Dodgers,
The Capitalists,
The Aristocrats,
The Idlers,

and the people who cry down Lowell goods and do all their buying in Boston, find plenty of time to read the morning papers.

The Hustlers,
The Bread Winners,
The Toilers,
The Honest Taxpayers,

and the masses who earn their money in Lowell and spend it in Lowell, find time to read the evening paper only, and they read The Sun because it is the best of them all.

Shrewd advertisers who want to reach the buying classes use the columns of the Sun, because it is the people's paper, and because it has a larger circulation than any two other papers in Lowell.

IT IS....

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER.

The genuine democrats of the country will be one less when Silver Dick Bland passes away.

There is great trouble over the screen law in Lawrence and other cities. It is giving no trouble whatever in Lowell.

The legislature ended its session leaving two important things undone. These are the abolition of the death penalty and the granting of the franchise to women—still perennial questions.

In another year or two the people will throng the public race tracks to witness not horse races, but speed contests of automobiles, in which the winner will be regarded in much the same light as a successful yacht.

Little Marion Clark, after all, was a gainer by being kidnapped, as the New York Journal divided the $2,000 reward which was offered for the recovery of the lost child between the lady who discovered the child and the child herself.

The news dispatches had it last week that a street car nearly ran over Mark Hanna but we surmise it was Hanna nearly ran over the street car. This modern political colossus strides the earth and ordinary men pass in and out between his legs to find themselves dishonorable graves.

Asphaltina, it should be remembered is but an imitation of the genuine asphalt, just as butterine and oleomargarine are inferior imitations of butter. Asphalt is the material used in all the principal cities of the old world and as yet there has been no imitation produced equal to the original.

Jeffries, if we are to judge by the newspaper pictures of him, is the most formidable pugilist of the lot. He is a man of the John L. Sullivan type when John L. was in his prime. The defeat of Fitzsimmons, if it was honestly achieved, only goes to show that every champion lasts but a while and then passes off the scene to give place to some new comer.

Lowell is apprehensive that under no-license it will be overrun with native wine stores. Judging from Brockton's experience it has no need to be alarmed. Brockton has had such stores but they failed to make any appreciable mark on the temperance record. People who hanker to get drunk do not fool away their money on native wines.—Brockton Enterprise.

Lowell has little to fear from such a source. Anyhow, the native wine industry is not flourishing of late in this vicinity.

The city of Boston has abolished the sanitary division of the street department and given the contract of removing the city's garbage and ashes over to a corporation. A contract has been signed for this purpose and it is the first in which provision has been made for the use of automobile carriages. In the garbage contract now being executed by the city of Lowell, it seems that this new species of vehicle has been overlooked.

The action of Co. M in volunteering its services to the government if required in the Philippine war, is very favorably commented upon throughout the state. This action, we notice, is not copied by very many military companies who saw service in Cuba. The company means all right but it might be employed in a better cause than in trying to rob a struggling nation of its independence.

The death of Frank Thompson, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, has alarmed the heads of some of the other combines through the country. It is presumed that his death was hastened by over-exertion in the management of a large concern of which he was the head. In this respect, his death has alarmed many of the trust magnates who have assumed large responsibilities at short notice without any proof of their qualification to manage such concerns. Mr. Thompson was a notable example of the self-made man. He worked his way upward from the very bottom to the highest position in the greatest railway system in the country. There is scarcely anything about a railway that he did not know and it took him 38 years to acquire that knowledge. It will be almost impossible to find a man equally accomplished in railroading to take his place.

The New York Sun, which for some years past, has displayed a degree of captious senility, insinuated that the New York Journal or some of its attaches was responsible for the kidnapping of Baby Clark. The Journal is so far ahead of the old-fashioned cantankerous Sun that the latter cannot even imagine the originality and the enterprise which bring such unparalleled success to the Journal. As a newspaper, the New York Sun seems to be suffering from some organic disease which promises to terminate its existence in the near future.

The release and vindication of Dreyfus will bring back into popular favor in France that fearless and distinguished writer, Zola, who was sentenced to prison for stating some facts in connection with the Dreyfus case, and while Dreyfus and Zola will be restored to freedom, Count Esterhazy and Paty du Clam will soon be sent to prison. The French people must have victims and it is very difficult to convince them that they are wrong, no matter how strong the proof.

The surging sea of humanity that rolled as in an ocean tide on Merrimack Square and vicinity, Friday night, was quite as large as any that ever waited for the returns of a presidential election in this city. Talk about prize fights and the alleged abuse of giving space to them in a newspaper. When the people show as much interest in them as in a national election, it is quite evident that they will seek out the paper that gives them this particular piece of news. If they cannot get it in a local paper, they will find it in some other. That is one of the reasons why The Sun gave such a full account of the fight. The people want the news and that is why the news of the prize fight, with news of every other description is given in the people's paper, the Lowell Sun.

A Kansas girl sent $1 to a New York "specialist" for a sure cure for freckles." This is the recipe which she received: Remove the freckles carefully with a pocket knife; soak them over night in salt water; then hang up in the smoke house in a good strong, smoke made of sawdust and slippery elm bark for a week. Freckles thus treated never fail to be thoroughly cured.

A Michigan printer in making up his paper recently got a wedding notice and a delicatessen advertisement mixed, and the following rather startling announcement was the result: John Wilbur and Hannah S. Mapes were united in the holy bond of sauerkraut which will be sold by the quart or barrell. Mr. Wilbur is the esteemed codfish at 10 cents; while the bride has nice pigs' feet for display."

Oh! I wish I had a seat
In some sylvan retreat
Where the leaflets hung down
Far away from the town—
And no one may speak or spy.
Oh! were I there,
All divested of care
And likewise of clothes, with a net
Hanging ne'r me to keep
Off the skeeters that leap
For joy when you enter their set.
But alas! I must stay
In the city today
And plant and perspire and earn
The cash that we shall blow
In when the summer days go,
For ten tons of fuel to burn.

A North Billerica woman set two hens that hatched out their broods about the same time. One hatched thirteen brown leghorns, the other twelve Plymouth Rock chicks and one brown leghorn. The leghorn's mother was not fond of the Plymouth Rock chicks and severely chastised them at every opportunity, but claimed the one lone leghorn of the flock, finally taking it with her own brood and not allowing it to go out with the others. Evidently the hen had heard that thirteen was an unlucky number.

Look out for food combinations in this weather. For instance, don't partake of cream pie and cucumbers to any extent at the same meal. The result might not exactly be what is desired. I see a family did so the other day, and found it a knock-out combination. The physicians are now at work on the case. They don't know whether to blame the pie or the cucumbers and they are having very hard work trying to find out. Have some regard for the physicians and don't compel them to labor so desperately. They're not used to it. Always have due consideration for the physician, for he was reared a pet.

Physicians are having an extremely quiet time at present, and not one of the local medicos is finding himself at all rushed. This has been a month of extreme health, and though the doctors have always a certain number of chronic cases and regular patients, the past few weeks have been the quietest for many months. There is not a contagion of any sort, and the call for medicines has been for such people who periodically suffer with rheumatism, tonsilitis or other complaints. Accidents have been rare, and the several days of extreme heat passed without a case of prostration being brought to a doctor's attention. Their office practice keeps up to a certain extent, and if any time is left, the physician takes on an opportunity to post his books, a habit he is somewhat erratic and irregular in.

Agustin Daly's personality was peculiar. He lived most literally in his theatre, working day and night, indulging in no recreations and devoting himself strainly to his work mentally and physically. He was autocratic on the premises. His rules for players were strict and they had to be obeyed. Such provisions as that no complaint might be made to him morally and his actors must not lounge in Broadway and many other equally singular, were enforced rigidly by means of fines. He was respected for his ability, however, if not loved, and a season under his discipline was as good as a term at school for a novice. He was a recluse, seldom seen in public places and his social associations were few. He was a unique character, a rare blend of visionary and the militarian in stage art and all things considered, the greatest American deviser and practicer of stagecraft. Our theatricals owe considerable of their marked progress within the past quarter of a century to him.

GOLD BRICK

WORKED ON A WOMAN IN THIS CITY.

The gold brick swindle on a small scale, it is alleged, was successfully worked not far from the new postoffice recently. The alleged offender has not been arrested. A young married woman of good family had been aware that money was to come to her some day through a distant relative. She was induced by a neighbor to visit a fortune teller. The young woman says the fortune teller requested her to bring him five $5 gold pieces which he would place in a specially made bag which she was to wear about her neck nights.

The effect, the fortune teller informed her, would be that the date of the fortune coming to her would be revealed in a dream. The young woman says she complied with the fortune teller's wish. The bag she wore several nights without result. She then opened the bag, she says, and found five 5-cent pieces bronzed.

At first the young woman was not inclined to tell her husband, but when she found the fortune teller had removed from Lowell, she did. While he laughed at the easy manner in which she was duped the young woman says he is as anxious as she to find the fortune teller.

FIRE WAS SET

INVESTIGATION TO BE MADE OF BLAZE IN WENTWORTH BLOCK.

As stated in Saturday's Sun, Fire Marshal Shaw, Chief Engineer Hosmer and the police have been investigating a fire which was recently discovered in the Wentworth block. Chief Hosmer says of the investigation: "The fire was set. The question is, was it accidental? The police arrested a young man in the building on a charge of drunkenness and larceny. His case has been continued to next Tuesday. The young man says he was in Lawrence early Sad night and drank some beer. He says that what took place in Lowell after he returned is mostly a blank to him. The young man seems to be unable to give a satisfactory explanation why he was in the building. He has been employed by the owner of the building for many years and has a good reputation. He remembers being placed in the patrol wagon that night, but does not remember what took place before that time. It was thought best to have a fire investigation. Two women identified the young man as being seen in Barristers hall that night. The young man resides in Belvidere. Men have been to see me about the affair, but I have nothing to do with it further than what the law requires."

"No cake walk comes too high for me." Slaght's great cakewalk song is having a great sale at Steinert's, 130 Merrimack street.

Office, Lowell, Mass.

TOMORROW AFTEROON.

We have, after mature deliberation decided to advertise and sell our real estate, known as the F. P. COGGESHALL PROPERTY and numbered 11 Lyon street. It is much larger than we need and more valuable property than we can afford to occupy. In consequence of our decision to sell, we shall on Tuesday next, June 13th, 1899, at five o'clock in the afternoon, offer without limit or reserve of any kind whatsoever, to the highest bidders at absolute auction the large two and one-half story square house and two-story ell, containing thirteen large rooms, two large pantries, two sheds, unfinished attic and a great number of linen, clothes, and other closets. The house is in nice order and condition, is well arranged, is very convenient, is attractively finished, and a remarkably solid and substantial structure. Full set of double windows screens and doors.

The stable has room for four or five horses, four carriages and wagons, storage room and hay loft; with a few slight repairs is in good condition and a heavy, firm building. There are large high-posted cellars under the house and stable.

THE LOT has a frontage of 66 feet, a depth of 91 feet, an area of 5963 square feet, is level, has some fruit trees, shrubbery, etc., concrete walk, etc., is laid down to a fine lawn and is a prime parcel of land.

THE ESTATE is undoubtedly one of the finest realties in its section of Lowell. It is a very genteel and highly respectable looking property and should prove a very inviting temptation to almost any real estate investor. The speculator could very easily turn this estate into a renting property and derive from it a very handsome return. House open for inspection after 10 a. m. on day of sale.

The purchaser must deposit with or secure to the auctioneers $150 as soon as the property is struck off, other terms very easy.

THE RESULTS OF NO-LICENSE.

Previous to May 1, this poor fellow was bloated in body and stupid in mind from continual beer guzzling. People used to laugh at him as he passed by.

By the end of May he began to shrink in size and gradually assume a natural shape and come to his senses. In this stage he used to laugh at himself.

Today he is reduced to normal proportions. He is bright in mind and respectable in appearance. Now he laughs at the liquor dealer.

IN SELFE DEFENSE

David Davis Killed His Son-In-Law.

THE TWO MEN HAD QUARRELED.

The Assailant Gave Himself up to Police.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

KEENE, N. H., June 12.—The second homicide in Cheshire county within ten days occurred Saturday afternoon about 15 miles from here in the town of Winchester. The scene of the killing is a somewhat isolated spot on a stream known as Broad Brook on a road about three miles from the village of Winchester and nearly the same distance from the village of Ashuelot in the same town. The highway continues on to the town of Chesterfield.

About 3 p. m., David D. Davis, a farmer and lumberman living at the spot named, drove into Winchester with a steaming horse and surrendered himself to the authorities, stating that he had shot and probably killed Ernest Maddox, who lived in the same house with him. He left his victim alive but thought he could not survive more than an hour.

The man was placed in confinement and Deputy Sheriff Rixford, H. W. Brigham and Dr. George W. Pierce and Dr. Cast were driven to the scene, where they found the victim lying in a pool of blood in the house dead.

Davis told an apparently straightforward story of the killing. From which it appears that a quarrel arose between the men about 1 p. m., over a young woman from Swanzey, who had ridden out to the place on her bicycle, and to whom Maddox was paying much attention in the presence of the family. Mrs. Maddox is a stepdaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Davis. The latter remonstrated with Maddox for his conduct, but without avail. Mr. Davis finally took part and a violent quarrel ensued, during which both men went outside the house. Maddox finally became so enraged that he seized an axe and attempted to assault Davis, but the latter seized a shotgun and fired a charge over the young man's head, hoping to avoid further trouble. He took the precaution, however, to reload his gun. In a few minutes, Maddox rushed into the house with another and a sharper axe in his hands and made a dash for Davis threatening to split his head open. Mrs. Davis stopped between the belligerents and attempted to wrench it from the infuriated man's grasp. He fought desperately for the weapon and was twisting it away from the woman's hold when the old man fired at him, the charge taking effect in his abdomen. Maddox fell to the floor mortally wounded.

Davis remained for an hour or so, hoping that a fatal result might be avoided, but finding his victim was dying, harnessed his horse and drove rapidly to Winchester to give himself up.

FAST TIME

MADE IN THE HOMING CLUB FLY SATURDAY.

The fly of the Lowell Homing club on Saturday was from Philadelphia to Lowell, 302 miles. Sixteen birds completed. Dyer had nine birds, Youngs-Johns five, and Fletcher and Murphy, one each. The birds were liberated at 5.30 a. m., with fair weather. One of Youngsjohns' birds was the only one to reach Lowell at 2.44 p. m. The average speed of that bird was 558 yards per minute. The next fly will be from Washington, D. C., June 17.

TOOK THE FIRST

The Bostons Made a Grand Finish.

DOHENY PITCHED GOOD BALL.

Doyle's Errors Were Very Costly.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 12.—In the sixth inning of the game with Champion Boston at the polo ground this afternoon, Doheny, who pitched for the Giants, became wild and erratic, and the result was two runs for Captain Duffy's men that they shouldn't have got. In the ninth, Doyle dropped two throws on first and these errors started the champions on the road to victory, for three runs came in right afterward and the Giants lost a game that every one of the 2500 spectators felt they had practically won.

Up to that fatal Sixth Doheny had pitched wonderful ball. He had great speed and a low inshoot at which the champions lunged in vain. Long made a scratch hit off him in the first inning. In the second inning he struck out Lowe and Stafford and in the third, after giving Clarke first on balls, he struck out Killen, Tenney and Long. Stahl having got his base on Wilson's fumble. That was splendid work and Doheny was enthusiastically applauded. In the fourth he struck out Collins and Stafford, making a record for the four inning of seven strike outs and it really seemed to the cranks as though he were destined to make the strike-out record for the season.

But the sixth inning dispelled the illusion.

The Giants, in the meantime, had made a couple of runs, and that fact, along with Doheny's great pitching, beguiled the spectators into the belief that they were on easy street.

The score by innings:

	Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
New York		1	0	0	1	0	0	0	2	0	— 4

Earned run—New York. Stolen bases—Duffy 2, Lowe. Sacrifice hit—Gleason. Double play—Hartman and Warner. First base on balls—Off Doheny 7, off Killen 2. Hit by pitched ball—Grady, Warner, Stahl, Collins. Struck out—By Doheny 9, by Killen 2. Passed balls—Clarke, Warner. First base on errors—New York 1, Boston 5. Left on bases—New York 8, Boston 12. Time—2h. 15m. Umpires—Lynch and Warner. Attendance—2500.

The other games resulted as follows:
Pittsburg 6, Louisville 1.
Pittsburg 5, Louisville 4.
Chicago 3, St. Louis 0.

The result of yesterday's games is as follows:
Chicago 2, St. Louis 1.
Cincinnati 8, Louisville 2.
Cincinnati 10, Louisville 1.

HARVARD MAN

IS BADLY WANTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—Members of the corps of inspectors under Chief Watts at police headquarters, with officers of the Hanover street station are devoting much of their time just now in an attempt to locate the whereabouts of Robert Walstein, a Harvard medical student, on charges of embezzlement of fully $7000 from various persons, and also that of passing forged checks on the officials of the Blackstone National bank.

Young Walstein is 23 years old and is the son of Abraham Walstein, one of the wealthiest Hebrews in the North End, who lives at 6 Cooper street. Through the peculations of his son, now a fugitive from justice, Mr. Walstein loses fully $4000, while Julius Rottenberg, a well known steamship agent conducting a business at 115 Salem street, is out a cool $1150. Other merchants in the North End, it is claimed, have also been taken in for various amounts, and all the money was obtained through forged checks, made out of paper of the Blackstone National bank, at the corner of Blackstone and Hanover streets, where Mr. Walstein, Sr., had an account.

OF THE MERRIMACK MILLS NEAR HUNTSVILLE, ALA.

The Merrimack Manufacturing company is to place 20,000 spindles and 2500 looms in Madison County near Huntsville, Ala., and will soon commence work on the plant. The citizens of Huntsville have donated a sum of $8000 to buy a site for the plant thus securing the location in the immediate vicinity of their town. The plant is to be established in separate mills of 25,000 spindles, 700 looms each, and plans for the first one are nearly ready and contracts for erection will be awarded soon.

FIFTEEN INJURED

By a Railroad Accident at Genesee, Ill.

Three Cars Left the Track and Struck a Train—Cause of the Accident Not Yet Determined.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

CHICAGO, June 12.—As the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific westbound express train pulled into Genesee, Ill., at 9.50 o'clock last night, three cars left the track and crashed into a stock train standing on a siding. Fifteen persons were injured, the three cars demolished and the stock train locomotive disabled. The most seriously injured are:

C. A. KEEFER, Chicago.

H. R. HUNTINGTON, Blue Island, Ill., conductor.

W. H. SMITH, Chicago, brakeman.

MRS. A. BERLAU, New York city, arms and chest scalded.

M. E. REIDY, Chicago, postal clerk.

The train was made of ten cars, two chair cars, and a smoker being in the rear. Within half a mile of the Genesee station, a stock train was standing on the siding. The switch was closed and locked. The passenger train was slowing down for the station and the engine and seven cars passed the switch in safety but the smoker left the rails at the switch and with two chair cars following crashed into the stock train, demolishing the three passenger cars completely. The cause of the accident has not yet been determined.

JOHN R. FAIRBAIRN Who Assumes the Shrievalty at the Lowell Jail.

Capt. John Fairbairn assistant to the late Sheriff Cushing, was duly sworn into the office of Sheriff on Saturday morning by Judge Bond. Capt. Fairbairn had been special sheriff and master of the House of Correction at East Cambridge, but will now continue in the capacity of sheriff of Middlesex county jail until his successor shall have been chosen. Capt. J. P. Thompson of the registry of deeds has given notice that the registry will be closed today from 2 to 4 o'clock, the hours of the funeral in respect to the late sheriff.

NEGRO CAPTURED

Who is Charged With Committing an Assault

UPON A VERY AGED WOMAN.

Sheriff Feared an Attack by a Mob.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., June 12.—Trembling with fear and whining like a whipped cur, apprehensive lest the vengeance of an outraged community should be visited upon his head, William Morrison, the burly negro, who Saturday fiendishly assaulted Mrs. Margaret Roberts, a white woman of Stratford, tonight shivered in a cell in the Stratford lock-up.

Outside was an armed guard detailed by Sheriff Stagg, who, despite his apparent assertions to the contrary, evidently feared that the temper of the inhabitants was such that Morrison's life was none too secure.

Sheriff Stagg and Constables Beardsley and Fryer tramped over miles of the country adjacent to Stratford during the night. About daybreak yesterday morning they found themselves in the vicinity of Greens Farms, each mounted on a bicycle.

Sheriff Stagg learned from a farmer that a negro had just been hunted off the premises and was shown the direction in which the felow went. Hastening away, the sheriff soon came across the negro sound asleep beneath an elm tree.

His coat had been folded and served as a pillow. One of his shirt sleeves was torn, his trousers were dust covered and mud stained, evidences that he had travelled over the road and through swamps.

Having a good description of the fiend the sheriff drew close and one good look convinced him he had his man.

In a minute the fellow was handcuffed. He awoke struggling desperately. In vain did he try to free his hands. He was quickly overpowered, however, and his arms pinioned behind him.

TOURIST CLUB OUTING.

The Tourist club held their first outing at Falcon Heights yesterday afternoon under the management of Mr. Frank Dockett. The members enjoyed themselves in boating, fishing and cycling. They also gave an entertainment in which a number of the members participated. The program was as follows: Piano solo, Miss Florence Moore; vocal solo, Frank Dockett; piano solo, Miss Sadie Dockett; vocal solo, Miss Annie Crowley; piano solo, Miss Mamie Hartley; whistling solo, James Mullin; reading, Miss Fanny Fay; stump speech, Thomas Quimby, and a harmonica solo by Miss Emily Roscoe.

After the entertainment refreshments were served by J. H. Ayer of Falcon Heights.

ANOTHER STRIKE

Freight Handlers Refuse to go to Work.

THE NON UNION WENT AWAY.

Because Union Men Made the Demand

ONLY A FEW MEN AT WORK.

Labor Leaders Oppose the Strike.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 12.—In obedience to the order adopted at yesterday's meeting to strike in sympathy with the men already out at the Erie and Lackawanna docks, the freight handlers (housemen) at the New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Wabash and Great Northern docks did not report for duty this morning. At the Anchor line docks, 60 union men reported for work, but found ten non-union men there. They refused to work with them and the non-union men were sent away. The union men then went to work. At the Lehigh docks a few men were at work. The outside men have been forced into idleness by the strike of the house men and consequently there is very little work being done at the docks. The present strike is opposed by many labor leaders.

HE WAS EXHAUSTED

JOSEPH MACEY OF PROVIDENCE OVERCOME BY FATIGUE AND HUNGER.

Joseph Macey, a young man claiming to belong in Providence, R. I., was taken sick on the railroad tracks near Howard street this morning and was removed in the ambulance to St. John's hospital. The young man said he had come to this city looking for work but after reaching the place where he was discovered by railroad hands he was overcome by fatigue and hunger and could go no further. He said that he was willing to work but every place he applied for a job he was unsuccessful. He had walked a good part of the way from his home in Rhode Island.

PROBABLY KILLED

One Of the "Wind Fall Gang" Missing

By Associated Press to The Sun.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., June 12.—Benjamin and William Wadsworth, two members of the Windfall Gang escaped from Hamilton County jail at Lake Pleasant Saturday where they were awaiting trial. Sheriffs posses scoured the Adirondacks in pursuit and late last night Benjamin was captured near Wells. A large posse is still hunting for William but no trace of him can be found and it is feared that he has been murdered. William gave information to the officers which led to the arrest of the gang and Benjamin has often since threatened vengeance.

HELD IN $5000.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FITCHBURG, Mass., June 12.—Willis S. Russell of Lunenburg, was arraigned in the police court here today, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon upon Peter Gustafsen a Swede. Judge Gallagher granted a continuance of one week, to await the outcome of Gustafson's injuries, placing bail at $5000. The amount was furnished and Russell was released.

THE CHINESE CASE

For Alleged Selling in Wamesit Street.

SAM LEE FOUND GUILTY AND FINED $100.

Large Number of Lawrence Drunks in Dock.

In police court this morning the dock was filled and almost every seat along the sides of the room were occupied. The usual number of reporters and spectators were inside the rail. Several Chinamen were in a position close to Probation Officer Tuttle while Sam Lee sat placidly behind the railing.

Alfred Duceau, who was arrested from a Lawrence car, was fined $5.

Samuel McAldin, drunkenness, $5.

John Aothessey, drunkeness, $5.

Patrick Dillon, drunkenness, $5.

David J. Cordingley, drunkenness, $5.

William C. Sullivan, second offense of drunkenness, $6.

Maurice J. Cashman, drunkenness, $6.

Martin Molloy, third offense of drunkenness, went to the house of correction for four months.

John Tuppin, guilty of exposure of person, received six months in the house of correction.

Martin Roach, a Tyngsboro drunk, was fined $5.

Clayton Craft, arrested in Dracut, was fined $5.

Henry Baxondale, who was found by Officer Hadley of Chelmsford was sentenced to the workhouse for a term of two months.

Rose Johnson, for drunkenness, was fine $5.

The case of Sam Lee for alleged illegal sale of liquors was then taken up. Officers Corcoran and Moloney and Inspector Thomas R. Atkinson were sworn. W. A. Hogan, Esq appeared for the defence and Deputy Moffatt and Inspector David Donaldson for the government.

Inspector Atkinson, the first witness, testified: "I met a man who bought the liquor for me. He then exhibited a bottle in which was liquor. "I then went into Lee's place.

Inspector Donaldson here gave the witness some money to inspect and the latter declared that the money was the same as he gave the man to buy whiskey. He knew it because he had the pieces marked. On cross-examination witness said he did not know the man. He knew he was to meet the man and had arranged the plan for obtaining the liquor, previously. When the liquor was paid for, it was with money given by witness to Lee. The man took the whiskey and said the witness, would pay for it. Witness gave money into the Chinaman's hand. Witness then seized about a gallon of whiskey. Officer Corcoran who patrols the beat said he went into the laundry while Inspector Atkinson was there. Witness asked defendant if he sold Atkinson any liquor. Defendant said "No," and Atkinson said he did. He sold him a pint. Officer Corcoran then happened to put his hand on the ironing board and discovered the marked money under the cover. Witness saw three young men coming out of the laundry early in the evening. Mr. Hogan on cross-examination, asked: "Do you know the strange man?"

"I do not know him personally."

"Do you know the man's name?"

The government objected but its objection was not sustained and the officer answered "Patrick Considine."

Officer Moloney who was the next witness testified that he was present at the seizure, jugs, etc., were taken. Cross-examination developed nothing more.

Sam Lee, the defendant, was then called. He said he has lived in Lowell for eight years. The men came to his door about one o'clock Saturday morning. One asked for his shirt. "I told him to give me his check and he asked for whiskey. "I don't sell whiskey." I said. He said "You'd better sell me some whiskey." I said "No," and they began to talk loud and the officers came. I was afraid of the men. I thought they were going to fight. One man put money on the counter which I refused to take.

"Which man wanted to fight you?" asked Mr. Donaldson.

"O, I don't know," replied Sam.

Then Sam remembered that he told Inspector Donaldson yesterday that Tommy— he didn't remember his last name—brought the whiskey to witness' place. Officer Atkinson was recalled and again testified that the man, Considine, whispered, "It is I, Sam," and the bottle was moved out to him.

Lee was found guilty and fined $100.

John H. Flynn charged with illegal keeping was next tried. Flynn was alleged to be a walking speak-easy with the old Riverside base ball grounds as his rendezvous on the appearance of an officer he would throw liquor into the river.

Officer Lennon and Inspectors Duncan, Maher and McCann and Atkinson testified. Included in their testimony was a statement that they could discern the movements of the defendant during his alleged sales. He would sell his liquor and then change his clothes. He would then go to a point behind a small hill and as far as the officer could judge he would dig more liquor from the ground. After each sale he would change his clothes.

The defendant on the witness stand made a general denial of the sales charged against him and when being showed back to the dock he threw Billy Bumps a merry wink. Flynn was found guilty and fined $50 and was given two months in the common jail.

CRICKET GAMES

The Mohairs Defeated East Bostons.

METHUEN BESTS NORTH BILLERICA.

The Zions Drubbed the St. Johns at Lawrence.

The Lowell cricket representatives shared the honors with its out of town opponents on Saturday, the Mohairs and Zions winning and the Buntings tying with Lawrence.

The Mohairs formally opened their new grounds on Chelmsford street with a victory over the crack East Boston team by a score of 56 to 32. Bird took 4 wickets for 15 runs and Aveyard 5 wickets for 16 runs. Shuttleworth and Stirks made two brilliant catches which were warmly applauded.

The Zion cricket club at last broke their record of defeats at Lawrence, administering a drubbing to the St. John's second eleven by a score of 67 to 41.

The best game was played on the Wigginville grounds between the C. S. B. C. C. and the Lawrence team which ended in a draw.

THE MOLINEUX CASE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The arguments in the writs of prohibition, habeas corpus and certiorari in the Molineux case, were postponed today until Wednesday. The reason for the delay was that the writs had not been served on Magistrate Jerome of special sessions on Saturday, owing to his being out of town.

THREATENED BY FIRE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. June 12.—The lighthouse and buildings of the new United States Training station on Goat Island was threatened by fire last night. In some unknown manner, the dry grass and shrubs which cover the greater portion of the island, became ignited and fanned by a strong breeze, the flames spread with great rapidity. A large force of men turned out to fight the fire and with much exertion got it under control before any serious damage was done.

BADLY INJURED

John Lofegreen Jumped From Burning Building

By Associated Press to The Sun.

BOSTON, June 12.—John Lofgren, an occupant of a Tremont street boarding house, jumped from a fourth story window into a life net today during a fire and sustained serious if not fatal injuries. Lofgren was asleep when the fire started and on awakening found all exits blocked by the flames. He shouted for help from a window and the firemen held a life net. After considerable hesitation, the man jumped. His body turned in the descent and shot head first into the net. He fell with such force that the net parted and the man struck the sidewalk. He was taken up unconscious and was removed to the hospital where his case was found to be critical. The fire caused a loss of about $1500.

FIRST YACHT RACE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

POINT CLAIRE, Que., June 12.—The first yacht race of the series for a special cup presented by James Ross, between the Dominion of the Royal St. Lawrence club, the "Creek," which won the Sewahaka cup last year, and the Yankee of the White Bear club, of St. Paul, Minn., was scheduled for this morning. The early morning was fine with a strong bright sunshine, but up to noon there was hardly a breath of air blowing. Mr. Duggan, the designer and captain of the Dominion, wore a confident air. The St. Paul men say they will sail the races for all there is in their boat until the superiority of the boats is decided. The boats started off heading for the south shore. Dominion is leading.

CHICAGO, June 12.—The Times-Herald has been asking members of the National democratic committee what should be their party's battle cry in 1900, whether "Free Silver" or "Down With the Trusts," or both.

While only one of the replies of these democratic leaders, the representative for Maine, the home state of Mr. Bryan's [illegible] says: "Drop [illegible] silver" [illegible] in giving the trust question prominence it has never before had in the platform of their own or other party.

NEGRO LYNCHED

By a Mob of Five Hundred Negroes

HE COMMITTED A MOST ATROCIOUS CRIME.

White People Know Nothing of Lynching.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

SARDIA, Miss., June 12.—Simon Brooks, colored, was taken by a mob of 500 negroes from the jail here sometime between midnight and dawn Sunday, and lynched. The crime for which he was hanged was most atrocious. Saturday night a negress named Armistead, while returning from a shopping tour to her home, was assaulted by Brooks and another negro. The woman was outraged, her throat was cut, and she was severely beaten about the head, and her jaws were tied to prevent breathing. Her body was then concealed in rubbish. The woman rallied sufficiently to give the alarm and the names of her assailants. Part of the goods taken from the woman was later found in a trunk belonging to Brooks. The mob which was composed entirely of negroes, did its work quietly. The white people knew nothing of the affair until hours after it occurred.

A HORRIBLE FIND

Another Portion of a Man's Body Found.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Another section of a man's dismembered and mutilated body was found today in the upper bay. It was that part between a line drawn around the middle of the chest and one encircling the head at the bridge of the nose. The top of the skull, including the right ear, is cut off. The left ear is intact. The right arm is missing, severed at the shoulder. The left arm and hand, however, are attached. The eyes are missing but the face from the nose downward is uninjured. The man had a sandy moustache.

The remains found today fit exactly the portion of a body picked up near the Narrows on Saturday last.

BODIES OF MOTHER AND SON FOUND.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FAIR HAVEN, Vt., June 12.—The bodies of Mrs. John Quinn and her 12-year-old son, John, were found in the river at Eagle Bridge, N. Y., this forenoon. From the appearance of the bodies it is believed that they had been in the water since yesterday. The lad, who was subject to fainting fits, went fishing Sunday, and it is supposed he fell into the river. It is though Mrs. Quinn attempted to rescue the body and thus lost her life.

GLORIA
IS NOT A MEDICINE.
Love tickled the young man's ribs one day.
He scratched and scratched, but the tickle would stay;
Little he thought the young lady's heart
Had the same trouble as his from the start.
He had to drink GLORIA in order to see,
How to get out of the difficulty;
Young lady's answer, I'll surely be with you,
My mother and sisters will come along too.
He drank more Gloria and counted his cash,
Now thinks he will have to scratch gravel for hash.
Then all drink GLORIA before it's too late,
And look out well for this ticklish state.

BRIDAL GOWNS ARE CONSIDERABLY TRIMMED, AND VERY FINE LACE APPLIQUES ARE STITCHED UPON THE FRONT BREADTH

WEDDING DRESSES OF THIS MONTH.

Satin is Still the Conventional But it is Veiled by Thin Gauzes.

SUEDE KIDS ARE WORN.

The Wedding Dress Can be Made of Light Goods Lined With Thin Silk.

The June bride is in our midst.

If you do not believe it spend a day upon the street corner where you can command a view of the fashionable church. The bridal procession demands a middle aisle, and churches that have no middle aisles are unpopular these days from a bridal point of view.

The June bride is very expensive, as hitherto, but a great deal of the expense is put upon her linings, which are irreproachable.

A certain June bride will wear French nuns' veiling, which is not in itself a very expensive fabric; and the lisse ruffles with which it will be trimmed are by no means costly; yet the gown will be expensive owing to the fact that it is lined throughout with the most expensive satin, pure white and elegantly finished, with the inside as fine as the outside.

Or she can be more heavily dressed in white silk, white satin, white brocade or silk henrietta. All of these are very beautiful when made up in the season's styles with skirt trimmed with lace, bodice ruffled and also trimmed with lace, and shirred sleeves.

The veil is a universal ornament. It is so softening that it is deservedly more and more a favorite. Many of the very inexpensive veils made of fine net or tarlatan can be trimmed entirely with the very tiniest ruching of chiffon.

The all-lace veil is such an expensive luxury that it is hardly to be mentioned. The veil which the Princess Christian loaned Miss Virginia Bonynge on her marriage to a titled Englishman was of India lace so sheer that it could be drawn through a bracelet; and the veil which Mrs. Bradley Martin has in keeping for her new daughter-in-law is of point lace with a large floral design in the centre, the leaves extending to the border of the veil, which is made in a design of orange blossoms.

Something of a new fad is for the pineapple lace of the Philippines. This could be easily drawn through a finger ring. Every belle in the Philippines owns a pineapple shawl; and to make one is the work of a lifetime. It is made of tiny silk threads worked in pineapple design.

Brides are taking advantage of the lace designs which can be purchased ready to be stitched upon a wedding gown. These can be bought at any price from $5 to $100; and they can be selected in points or scallops. The points are much used upon the front breadths of the wedding gowns. If scallops are is so fine that a shawl two yards square closes they are used for the sides and foot.

WHITE SATIN.

The demand for clinging effects welcomes wedding gowns of crepe dechine, silk muslin and the oddly woven Liberty silks; and to most figures they undoubtedly prove more becoming than the severer lines of the satin or poult de soie. Veils, too, have taken on a little the fashion of the frills, some of tulle showing two tiny ruffles of tulle edging instead of one. These are arranged on the head with a puffed crown, and the dainty ruffles falling over the pompadour.

A very becoming wedding gown was of ivory satin, with Brussels lace insertion and Liberty gauze. The bodice was of satin, closely fitted and opened in front over a narrow V-shaped vest of tucked gauze and lace. Ruchings of gauze trimmed the fronts. They were carried across the tops of the sleeves. From these ruches depended two long sash ends, edged with ruchings, which crossed under a narrow satin girdle, and flowed unconfined to a few inches above the foot ruffle.

WEDDING SLEEVES.

The sleeves were of plain satin to the elbow, continuing down over the hand with draped gauze.

A sheath-like skirt laced at the back over tiny white satin-covered buttons; a deep ruche edged ruffle and three bands of Brussels lace completed the garniture.

The tiny flower girl's costume was of white point d'esprit trimmed with val lace. It was worn over a pink taffeta slip, instead of ribbons. Two full blown roses were tied on each side of her parted hair. She carried a scarf of pink Liberty silk filled with pink roses. The corresponding page wore a sailor suit of white serge.

At a recent wedding the color scheme was carried out in green and white, the groom's college colors. The bridesmaids' dresses of white silk muslin were worn over pale leaf-green taffeta, and large white tulle hats were massed with pure white roses. The yokes of these dresses were of puffed silk muslin and just below this was a broad band of Irish point lace across the back and making a surplice effect in front, the crossed ends under the sash of silk muslin forming points on each hip. The rest of the bodice was covered with plaited muslin.

The sheath skirt was cut high in front and rounding down in the back. This was finished with several rows of narrow white satin ribbon and the two deep flounces below had the same ribbon trimming. The elbow sleeves were finished with another ribbon-edged flounce as were also the sash ends.

CHIFFON OVER TAFFETA.

Another pretty wedding dress was made of chiffon over white taffeta. A yoke and collar of Alencon lace fitted high up at the throat over a blouse of finely tucked chiffon.

A full blouse of silk scantily covered with chiffon half concealed this opening from the front. It was edged with chiffon ruchings. The sleeve caps corresponded. Transparent sleeves of gathered chiffon fell half way over the hands. The skirt was made in the habit style, and opened on the left front under a cloud of chiffon ruffles.

WILLIAM J. BRYAN,
LINCOLN, NEBRASKA.

June 1, 1899.

My dear Sir:-

I find your favor of recent date among my accumulated mail. I can not tell you at present about the future. And in reply to your question what I have been doing etc. permit me to say that with the exception of a few days in Denver in January I have been at home.

"Our youngest daughter was ill for several weeks and my time has been fully occupied with home cares.

"Thanking you for the assurances of your consideration, I am,

Very truly yours,

Mary B Bryan

MRS. BRYAN TO OUR LADY READERS.

A LETTER FROM MRS. BRYAN.

She Says She Does Not Care to Decide Just Now What She Will do in the Future.

"What has become of Mrs. Bryan?"

This is the query which was made to the editor of this newspaper a few days ago. The editor, who tries to keep posted on all matters of a feminine nature, decided to write to Mrs. Bryan and put the question to her candidly.

During William J. Bryan's political campaign three years ago none was more active than his wife. Wherever Mr. Bryan went Mrs. Bryan went also, and when he stood upon the car platform and received the cheers of his admirers Mrs. Bryan was called out to share the applause with him. She was certainly a helpmeet; and women who did not share her political feelings had no hesitation in calling her a woman of great intelligence.

At that time Mrs. Bryan left her interesting little family of three children at home in the care of relatives and devoted her time to her husband. It was quietly said that she wrote his speeches; but then the same is said of every orator who has a literary wife; and Mrs. Bryan had previously shown her literary bent by contributions to various periodicals. Mrs. John A. Logan at one time, you will remember, was charged with writing her husband's lectures; and everybody said that Lady Randolph Churchill knew how to use a pen in the days when her husband was doing so much writing. But then the gossips will talk!

It is almost two years since Mrs. Bryan has been seen conspicuously in the East, or, in fact, outside her own home. During Colonel Bryan's illness at the front, she came on and took care of him, going back almost immediately to her home in Lincoln, Neb. The Lincoln home is a very pretty one. By no means luxurious, yet extremely comfortable. Outside it shows the touches of a woman's hand and at this season it is covered with the green of the first vines. Inside it is an ideal home and you do not wonder that Colonel Bryan is always in a hurry to get through with his work so as to get back home.

So, not hearing of Mrs. Bryan of late and receiving numerous inquiries about her of which the above is one, the editor of this newspaper wrote her a little letter and received this letter in reply:

LADY WILLIAM VERNON-HARCOURT, A TITLED AMERICAN WOMAN OF POSITION.

MOTLEY'S DAUGHTER IN ENGLISH SOCIETY.

The Wife of Sir William Vernon Harcourt is Called the "Lady Lion Tamer."

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, leader of the anti-Balfour forces in Parliament, has an American wife, though the fact is not generally known or heralded, as in the case of Lady Curzon, Lady Naylor-Leyland, Lady Randolph Churchill and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain, though she is as American as to percentage as any of them.

Lady Harcourt began life as the petted daughter of John Motley, the historian. Motley was a Boston man and his daughter was taught Bostonese of the most pronounced type. To this day she is distinctly correct in conversation, absolutely reliable in word, exquisitely well read and neat to a fault.

Motley, you remember, was Minister to Russia, and afterwards Minister to Austria. His last foreign post was that of Minister to England. His daughter visited all these countries with him, and was at his side when he wrote his history of Wilhelmina's country and the well-known English works. She married Mr. Ives, but was widowed, and then she married Sir William Vernon Harcourt, one of the wealthiest and most influential men in England.

Lady Harcourt is so English in her tastes that she is accused of forgetting her own country, but though she has forsaken it in body, she never forgets it herself, and is the soul of kindness to all American girls living in England. When they enter English social circles she is the first one to dine them, and if they are timid she gently puts them forward. She has presented many at Court, so she is unobtrusively yet distinctly an American in the Court of St. James.

Before his marriage to his present wife Sir Harcourt was voted the most disagreeable man in England. There is a story of how six men, uniting to give a dinner, agreed that each was to ask as his guest the most disagreeable person he knew. No confidences were to be exchanged, leaving untrammelled the curiosity that centred upon the meeting when each man would be able to see wherein his particular selection was excelled. Covers were laid for twelve, but only seven sat down.

Each man had asked Vernon Harcourt.

He was called "the English lion," a great man so great that he had no need to be affable; and strange tales were told shiveringly of the dinners that were given by him when he sat silent throughout six courses, absolutely speechless, while his guests conversed in frightened whispers.

But when Lady Harcourt came upon the scene all was changed. She refurnished the old Harcourt mansion and introduced color and the reading matter of the day into it. She began giving charming entertainments at which Sir William was geniality itself. His face, beaming across the table upon Lady Harcourt, expressed contentment with the world. London society called her "the lion tamer" and she heard it and laughed.

Lady Harcourt is so distinctly English that she knows politics well, as all English women do, yet she never meddles. She converses well and fluently upon them but she is by no means the center-of-the-circle, as Lady Randolph Churchill always is. She is not a fascinating talker, but a very well-informed one. Differing from Lady Curzon, who fascinates by her beauty, and from the Duchess of Marlborough, who spends a fortune upon her guests, she makes an admirable contrast to other American "girls" abroad.

Lady Harcourt is rich in her own right, the income from her father's books being a steady one. She expends her money upon the typical English charities, and has an ever open purse. Her name is always on the list of benefactresses and patronesses, and, like Mary Anderson, she has become so localized and acclimated that the English women include her in the societies as one of themselves.

A BRIDE CAN BE VERY BECOMINGLY DRESSED IN MULL OR TARLATAN OVER WHITE SILK; THIS STYLE OF DRESS IS NOT NECESSARILY EXPENSIVE.

PLACING THE FINISHING TOUCHES UPON THE ORANGE BLOSSOMS IN THE BRIDE'S VEIL.

A CUP OF COFFEE IN THE LAND OF WILHELMINA AND HOW TO BREW THE REAL HOLLAND DRAUGHT.

In the land of Wilhelmina the ladies drink coffee as the women of England drink tea, not as a stimulant but as if they liked it. They say that coffee, out of Holland, is not coffee at all, and they point to the islands of Borneo, Java and Sumatra to prove that Wilhelmina has, right in her own possessions, the great coffee producing islands of Europe. And such a variety of ways of making coffee as they have in Holland! The most progressive ladies have the French coffee pot through which the coffee is drained. The boiling water is poured through the powdered coffee and a thin extract of pure coffee is produced. But that is not the Dutch way.

Dutch coffee is boiled in a Dutch blue coffee pot, of squatty design. The coffee is placed inside in a perforated silver cup and the boiling water is poured upon it. The pot gently simmers and by-and-by you get a clear, dark, rather thick fluid.

The homes of the poor have a coffee pot which is Turkish in design. It consists of a big metal pot upon the end of a metal rod. The coffee is covered with cold water and the pot tightly closed. It is held over the fire until it boils, when it is very good coffee indeed.

Tastes in coffee differ in Holland as in this country. An old East-of-Holland recipe is for covering the coffee at night with cold water. In the morning it is placed upon the stove and gently brought to boiling point. This is an economical recipe and one to be recommended for those who like boiled coffee.

Holland ladies delight in owning a vast supply of coffee pots and they keep them on exhibition as careful housewives keep their blue tea cups on show.

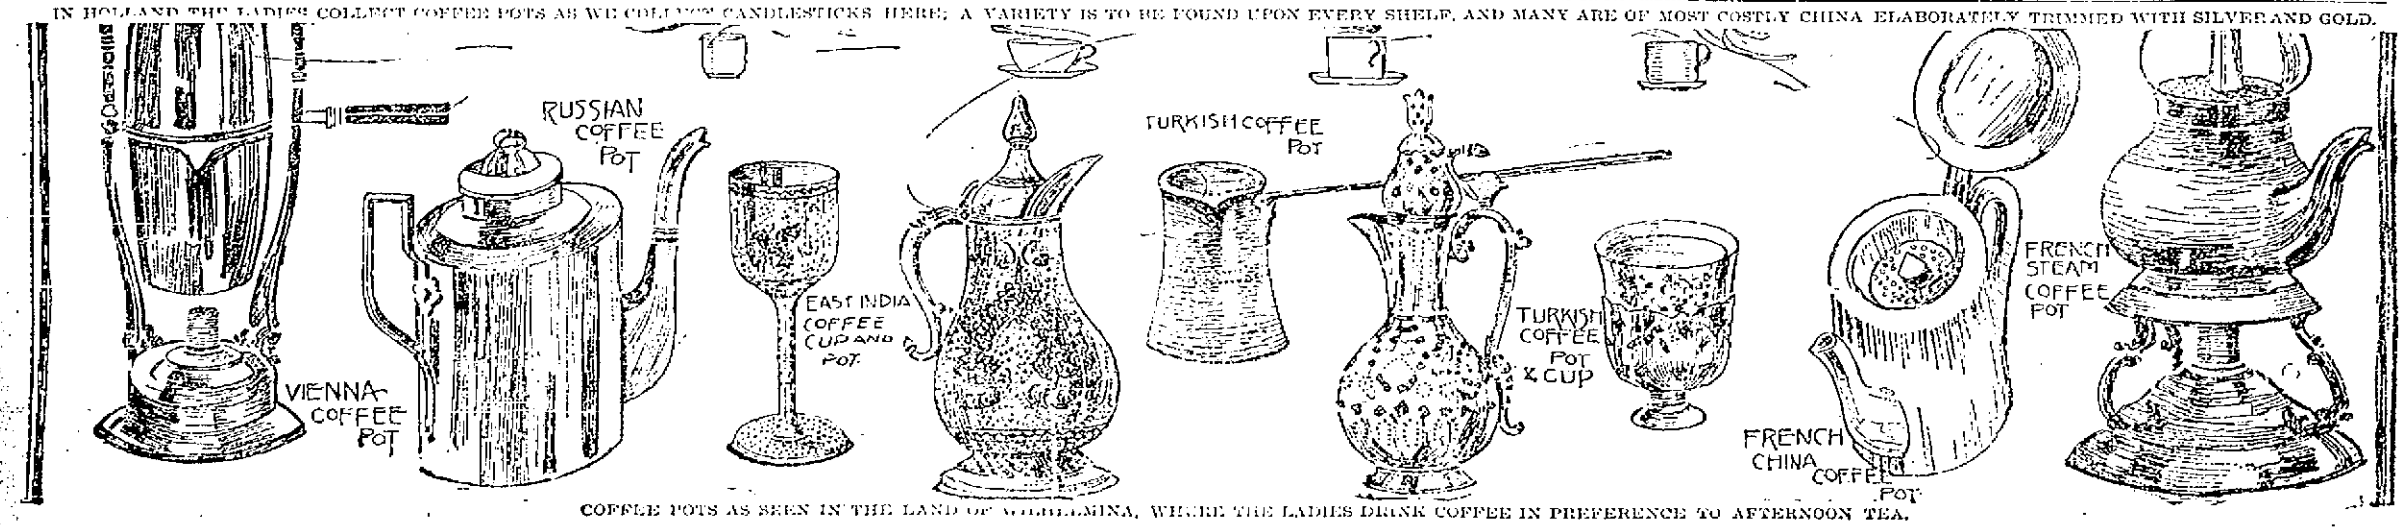

In Amsterdam they serve afternoon coffee in an East India pot. This looks exactly like a jug or pitcher. The cover, which is of metal, fits the top tightly. The jug is well heated with hot water and the coffee is quickly poured, already brewed, into it. It is then brought into the drawing-room upon a tray with tall goblets out of which the coffee is taken. The goblets have heavy earthen handles which do not heat the fingers.

It is becoming very fashionable now, in these Hollandese days, to own a variety of coffee pots which are kept in use. It is claimed that the family appetite is wonderfully whetted and the family disposition improved by the change in table service. The same old coffee pot gets monotonous. The old oaken bucket was sometimes looked upon with distaste.

Wilhelmina buys many pieces of china; she goes shopping afternoons with her mother and stops at the smartest shops. She has put aside many of the old blue services and has to the grief of the old-time ladies who have been attached to the palace since the days of her father—substituted several gold sets.

A very smart young woman of Gotham mashes her coffee with a pestle and mortar; her little Lexie simmers the while. The mashed beans are placed in the depths of a queer-looking old Vienna coffee pot and water is poured through them. Result, a fine clear cup of coffee too delicate to require cream.

IN HOLLAND THE LADIES COLLECT COFFEE POTS AS WE COLLECT CANDLESTICKS HERE; A VARIETY IS TO BE FOUND UPON EVERY SHELF, AND MANY ARE OF MOST COSTLY CHINA ELABORATELY TRIMMED WITH SILVER AND GOLD.

COFFEE POTS AS SEEN IN THE LAND OF WILHELMINA, WHERE THE LADIES DRINK COFFEE IN PREFERENCE TO AFTERNOON TEA.

THE S.C.W. MEET

Largely Attended at Fair Grounds Saturday

INTERESTING EVENTS RAN OFF.

Hamilton and Keegan Prom. Inont Among Winnors.

There was a large delegation of bicycle enthusiasts at the Fair Grounds baturday afternoon to witness the seventh race meet of the Spindle City Wheelmen of this city. At half past two there was very little room on the grand stand and the track was lined with people, some hanging on to the fence, while others were crowded on the band stand and every available place was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Claude Hamilton of the Shoe City Wheelmen of Brockton, formerly of Lowell, was the hero of the day. Every time that he appeared on the track he was greeted with loud cheers and clapping from the audience. He won the half mile open and the one mile handicap, but he had to give up the five mile handicap on account of the large handicap that the other men had on him.

The first event run off was the first heat of the one-mile novice. Nine men started with three to qualify, and at the first turn on the second lap, J. J. Baker and J. W. Lynch, both of this city, collided and were thrown heavily to the ground. Baker escaped with a few scratches, but Lynch broke his wrist and cut his face badly.

In the second heat of the one-mile novice, L. Arnold won with ease, for when he was within thirty yards of the tape he sat up straight and rode across the mark an easy victor. In this heat A. Stanley of this city was thrown just after crossing the tape.

The next event was the first trial heat in the one-mile handicap. Claude Hamilton of Brockton was on scratch but caught up with the bunch before the half mile post was reached. Lefever and Keegan, the two limit men, started off at a hot pace changing pace every once in a while and it looked for a time as if they were to shake the rest of the riders, but at the beginning of the last half mile, the bunch caught up with them and kept pretty close together until the last eighth, when Hamilton started to sprint with Keegan right on his rear wheel. They kept a hot sprint right up to the tape and Hamilton crossed the tape a winner with about two feet to spare.

In the second heat of the one-half handicap, the riding was slower than in the first heat, but on the home stretch a very hot clip was hit up.

Next came the final of the one-mile novice with nine starters, J. J. O'Donnell being allowed to ride on account of setting the pace in the first heat; Tyndle of Lowell won by a close margin.

The next event was the half mile open, which was the hottest race of the day and was run off in pretty fast time. Hamilton won the race after a hard sprint, with Keegan a close second.

After the half mile open was over, Leslie McKay, 6 years old and William Berlo, 7 years old, son of Peter Berlo, the old champion of the world, rode an exhibition half on a tandem weighing only fourteen pounds. They rode the half mile in 2.10 1-5. It is said that they are the smallest tandem team in the world.

The final of the one-mile handicap was the next event and again Hamilton showed his superiority by winning.

It was then announced that Charles McIntosh of this city would try for the mile unpaced record, which was led by Dan Cote. Cote's record was 2.30 1-5 and McIntosh lowered it 4 1-5 seconds, making the new record 2.26 flat.

The five-mile handicap was the next event and about twenty-five entered. Hamilton was on the scratch and was very badly handicapped, for the nearest man to him was Partridge of Medfield who was on the 150 yard mark. After the pistol was fired the men formed into three bunches and cut out a good clip for so long a race. Hamilton rode bravely but could not catch the man ahead of him and had to do all his own pacing, which soon began to tell on him. He had the sympathy of all the audience and when he would come around the corner with his head down and plugging away for all that he was worth, the crowd would cheer until they were nearly hoarse, but he had to give it up after the second mile. Prempas, the Greek champion, won the race.

On the last lap of this race one of the trainers tried to revive his man by throwing water at him, but it must have struck the man unexpectedly, for the minute that it struck him he ducked his head and ran in to the next man.

The last race on the program was something new to the riders of Lowell. It was the quarter-mile consolation race, which is for the riders that have qualified in the other races and have not won a prize. There were only three riders to start in it, and it was a continual sprint from the start. Charlie Connors of this city won first with G. Gagnon second.

The summary of the races is as follows:

One-mile novice—First heat J. C. Filteau, Lowell, first; G. Gaynor, Lowell, second; C. L. Douglass, Lowell, third. Time, 2.36 2-5. Second heat, L. Arnold, Cambridge, first; A. E. Silsbee, Lowell, second; E. Lyons, Lowell, third. Time, 2.28 2-5. Final heat, E. Lyons, Lowell, first; L. Arnold, Cambridge, second. Time 2.32 2-5.

One mile handicap—First heat Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; P. Keegan, Lowell, 110 yards, second; H. Lefevre, Lowell, 95 yards, third; J. Bentley, Lowell, 60 yards, fourth; L. Arnold, Cambridge, 85 yards, fifth. Second heat, M. F. O'Brien, Lowell, 60 yards, first; T. S. Murphy, Lowell, 100 yards, second; J. Prempas, Lowell, 85 yards, third; W. B. Fields, Lowell, 50 yards, fourth; C. Connors, Lowell, 60 yards, fifth. Final heat, Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; P. Keegan, Lowell, 110 yards, second; J. Bently, Lowell, 60 yards, third. Time, 2.29.

Half mile open—Claude Hamilton, Brockton, scratch first; M. F. O'Brien, Lowell, second. Time, 1.10 2-5.

One half mile exhibition by the smallest tandem team in the world, Leslie McKay and William Berlo. Time, 2.10 1-5.

Track record. Charles McIntosh. Time, 2.26.

Five mile handicap. J. Prempas, Lowell, 375 yards, first; P. Dion, West Chelmsford, 325 yards, second; T. S. Murphy, Lowell, 200 yards, third; P. Keegan, Lowell, 375 yards, fourth. Time 13.27 2-5.

One-quarter-mile consolation, C. Connors, Lowell, first; G. Gagnon, Lowell, second. Time, 28 2-5.

The officials of the meet were:

Referee, Henry Dunham; starter, H. E. Dahlberg; judges, E. B. Saunders, W. H. Dodge, J. Whittier, John Bowker; announcer, Harry Meiklejohn; clerk of course, Henry N. Peabody; assistants, Charles Caldwell, George Casey, Perley Harriman; timers, Arthur Brett, Jas. J. Rafter, T. P. Hall; scorer, Wm. B. Door; umpires, Walter Muzzey, John O'Neil, Frank Vaughn, William Ireson, Albert Foster.

PERHAPS FATAL

A Farmer Shot a Swede Employe

By Associated Press to The Sun.

FITCHBURG June 12.—Peter Gustafson, a Swedish farm hand at Lunenberg, got into trouble yesterday which may cause his death, because he milked and drove home his employer's cows too early in the afternoon. It is said that he was enough of a farmer to have known better than to have milked the cows so early in the day, but for his being intoxicated.

Gustafson worked for Willis S. Russell. When Mr. Russell saw his hired man driving the cows home from pasture at 2 in the afternoon he ordered him to drive them back. Gustafson objected to doing so, and when Mr. Russell insisted the Swede became angry. Quite an altercation took place, and Russell sent for Constable T. B. Snow.

According to Mr. Russell's version of the trouble, in the course of the talk the Swede struck him, splitting his lip. Russell's face bears evidence to back up this statement.

Anyhow, Russell shot him, putting a bullet into his lung, and Gustafson started to go to the police station, but fell unconscious on the way and is now in an hospital in a precarious condition.

Running Sore on His Ankle.

Obstinate sores and ulcers are a sure sign that the entire circulation is in a depraved condition. They are a severe drain upon the system, and are constantly sapping away the vitality. In every case the poison must be eliminated from the blood, and no amount of external treatment can have any effect.

Mr. L. J. Clark, of Orange Courthouse, Va., writes:

"For six years I had an obstinate, running ulcer on my ankle, which at times caused me intense suffering. I was so disabled for a long while that I was wholly unfit for business. One of the best doctors treated me constantly, but did me no good. I then tried various blood remedies, without the least benefit. S.S.S. was so highly recommended that I concluded to try it, and the effect was wonderful. It seemed to get right at the seat of the disease and force the poison out, and I was soon completely cured."

Swift's Specific drives out every trace of impurity in the blood, and in this way cures permanently the most obstinate, deep-seated sore or ulcer. It is the only blood remedy guaranteed purely vegetable.

S.S.S. For The Blood

cures contagious Blood Poison, Scrofula, Cancer, Catarrh, Eczema, Rheumatism, Sores, Ulcers, Boils, or any other blood trouble. Insist upon S. S. S.; nothing can take its place.

Clergymen Highly Praised the Newspapers

Rev. A. E. Kenyon, the pastor of the Chelmsford street F. B. church, spoke Sunday morning. He first gave a short address to the children from the subject of "Foxes and grapes." Lessons were drawn from the peculiarities of the tender vines of the grapes which were compared to the years of childhood days. Foxes which creep in to destroy the fruit were compared to the little habits which invade childhood life to destroy the best that is in the child. Following the address to the children the pastor addressed the congregation. He said in the course of his remarks:

"There is a power that is antagonizing the interests of these little children and it is the power of King Alcohol. Its power may be seen in the orphans' home, the prison and the abode of the poverty stricken widow. I wish I had language to pay a fitting compliment to the men who have been put in office in this city to execute the laws which you have made for improvement of morals here. I must say that nothing has impressed me more since having been in Lowell than the genuine moral tone which characterizes the editorials of the Lowell newspapers. I am a subscriber to a number of religious papers and magazines, but not one of them supersedes these secular papers of Lowell in the nature of the strong Christian attitude which they hold toward the moral questions of the day. We must not forget that the newspaper moulds sentiment very largely in a community and I congratulate Lowell upon the spirit of loyalty to truth which seems to characterize the Lowell newspapers.

Moreover, it is an inspiring thing to see the executors of the law siding with truth and throwing their influence so mightily upon the side of sobriety as are the executors of law in this city. But you, after all, hold the key to the situation. You must talk no-license. I tell you, it's the dryest city that I have seen for some time. And I like this kind of drought. The time is coming when the battle will be more fierce in Lowell than now. Prepare for war in time of peace. I appeal to you as lovers of sobriety and truth to be as one man in the great battle against the sin of intemperance."

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Middlesex:

Respectfully libels and represents Mary Davis of Lowell in said County, that she was lawfully married to Louis Davis, now of parts unknown, at Randolph, in the state of Vermont, on the twenty-seventh day of November, A. D. 1895, and thereafterwards your Libellant and the said Louis Davis lived together as husband and wife in this Commonwealth to wit at said Lowell and Smithville, that your Libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Louis Davis being wholly regardless of the same, at said Lowell on day of April, A. D. 1898 utterly deserted your Libellant and has ever since continued such desertion being more than three consecutive years before the filing of this libel.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony may be decreed between your libellant and the said Louis Davis.

Dated this sixteenth day of May, A. D., 1899.

Her
MARY X DAVIS.

LITTLE-PARKER

Match Postponed to Friday June 23.

LITTLE'S KNEES IN VERY BAD SHAPE.

Result of Recent Encounter With Casey.

The Little-Parker wrestling match will take place on Friday evening, June 23, at A.O.H. hall, Brockton. The postponement is necessitated by the condition of Little's knees caused by his recent bout with Dick Casey of Lowell. They are still quite sore, although nearly healed, but the uncertainty as to when they will be entirely well, renders it advisable to put the match off one week, thus making the date sure. Little is in training every day and stated yesterday: "There is one thing about it, I will be in great condition for the match. People do not think I am strong, but I never was in better shape in my life. I have practically been in active training every day since March 5."

One glance at Little's bare back and chest is enough to convince one of his great muscular power and his constant practice with dumbbells makes him supple and powerful in the extreme. The writer remained in his presence fully ten minutes and all during that time he was hard at work with three pound bells. He does not perspire a drop and his wind was as good at the end as at the start. He had just begun to work into the game when the reporter left as he had been talking all during the visit.

Parker has been in Manchester in the hope of getting a match there and one in Lowell. He returned to Brockton Sunday. Little has been securing a line on how Parker operates and will train accordingly. There is determination strongly in evidence on Little's part not to be defeated and the odds offered by Parker makes Little's chances exceptionally good.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Waterbury American: We hope the esteemed Arthur Hadley has not been indiscreet enough to enter into a contract with a press clipping bureau. If he has we fear that his bank account will not allow him to take any vacation this summer, so numerous are the editorial bouquets thrown his way. Keeping tabs on that sort of a thing is gratifying, but expensive.

Boston Journal: The old, old story! The runaway cashier of Dover was "one of the most trusted men in the city, and was considered a man of the strictest morality." He drank neither wine, nor spirits, nor beer; and he abstained from tobacco in all its seductive forms. Would it not be a good plan to appoint a notorious untrustworthy man to a position of trust, and then watch him day and night?

New York Times: Of retreat we may be sure that the president has never entertained the slightest notion. If he has at times hesitated or had misgivings he has gone as far in that direction as he is likely to go. We believe that he is resolute of mind and we wish to confirm him in that disposition. At this time irresolution would bring the sure penalty of deeper trouble. It is very evident that an end must be made of Aguinaldo.

New Bedford Standard: So much stress has been laid on the fighting and on the savagery of the native combats that many persons have almost forgotten that the population of the Philippines is not exclusively barbarians. The civilized and cultivated element is small in comparison with the entire population of all the islands, but there is such an element, and it is worthy of consideration. It is an exceedingly varied and diverse population with which this country has to deal in the Philippines.

New Haven Palladium: The fewer federal soldiers in Cuba the firmer our hold upon the dominant native influences there. The restoration of the island population to prosperity depends not upon armed battalions, but upon the rapid and peaceful development of industrial resources which have long lain fallow under a brutal system of extortion and oppression. Cuba, like Porto Rico should need only a nominal garrison while the problem of industrial and political emancipation is being worked out under federal auspices.

BEACONS' CINCH

They Defeated the Calumets With Ease

THE MATHEWS LOSE AT NEWBURYPORT.

Great Game at Collinsville Grounds.

The most important local base ball game of Saturday was played at Atherton where on the non-appearance of the Shamrocks and the Fairmounts, who were to play for $50, the Beacons and Calumets played nine or rather eight innings and a half, the former winning with ease. Score 22 to 7.

Both teams changed positions considerably, the latter team putting in a new battery after the fifth.

The game opened with a rush that the Beacons kept up without any great effort while the Calumets appeared to be dazed.

In the first the Calumets who were first up, scored one and then went out. The Beacons sent their every player to bat and made five runs before the half closed.

Mooney, the first Calumet up in the second, hit to first and was out. Shay, who singled and was advanced by Morrill to third was caught at home after Gallagher was thrown out at first.

Coburn then bunted safely and was allowed to circle the bases on a weak hit by Clogston to Shay, who threw wild to first. After Saunders struck out, Robby put a fast grounder past short on which Clog. came home. Lamson went out on grounder from pitcher to first.

The Calumets again scored in the fifth. Carey opened for two bases and he was sent home by Puffer's one-bagger to Ela. Brown's tingler was no problem for Star Knowles who was about this time rapidly coming to the fore as the leading feature of the whole affair. Mooney's safe through short and Shay's fly in short right brought Puffer in. Morrill sacrificed Mooney to home and Shay, who tried to obtain third at the same time was out.

With Bruce and Harris on bases and one out, Knowles sent out a two-bagger beyond Puffer. It was the longest hit of the game. Four more runs besides Knowles', who was advanced by a wild pitch and a scratch hit, were scored before the inning closed. Bruce in an attempt to steal home was the third out.

Coburn scored in the fourth. In the fifth, neither team tallied.

In the sixth two flies and a strike-out was the Calumets' lot, while the Beacons again went to bat with a vengeance. Brown, who relieved Shay in the box, hit Clogston who was forced at second by Saunders. Robby then placed one out of Mooney's reach, while Saunders went to third and later home on Lamson's safety. Ela's single sent Robby in and when the Banker ran for second and Carey threw to catch him, Lamson also trotted home. Ela scored on passed balls. Two strikeouts cut off further run-getting.

No scoring for the Calumets in the seventh or eighth. The Beacons who did not let up with their bats even at this, scored three more, Clogston, Knowles and Saunders crossing home.

Forbes, Gallagher and Carey scored for the Calumets and went the rounds of the bases in the ninth.

The score:

Beacons	5	2	7	1	0	4	2	1	x	—22
Calumets	1	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	3	—7

The teams:

Beacons—Harris, 1, s; Coburn, p, 1; Knowles, 3; Clogston 2; Saunders, 1; Robinson, m; Lamson, s, p; Ela, r; Bruce, c.

Calumets—Forbes, s; Gallagher, r, 2; Carey, c and 3; Puffer, 1; Brown, 2, p; Mooney, 3, r; Shay, p, r; Morrill 1; Finnegan, .

The Calumets will try their luck with the Bankers next Saturday at Atherton.

The annual dispute of the Collinsville and Navy Yard baseball teams was settled on Saturday at Collinsville where the home team which had hitherto been undefeated was made to bite the dust by a difference of nine runs, the amount of their own score. Total, Navy Yard, 18; Collinsville 9.

A large amount of money changed hands on the result. The Collinsvilles having won four straight games this season without a single defeat, and having played all strong teams, their admirers naturally thought the Navy Yards, not having played this season, wouldn't have the ghost of a show to win. On the other hand the backers of the Navy Yards were just as confident that their favorites would pull out a victory.

MATHEWS BEATEN.

The Newburyports and Mathews of Lowell played a game in the Trolley league series in Newburyport Saturday afternoon, the Newburyports winning by 15 to 8. Both pitchers were very wild. The game was marked by the sharp fielding of the Newburyports, Pike playing brilliantly in left field, having five outs, three assists and no errors. Previous to the game, Walter Brown of the Newburyports and Kerins of the Lowells ran an exhibition 100-yard dash, the former winning easily. The score:

Newburyports	3	3	2	0	1	4	0	2	x	—15
Lowell	0	0	3	0	1	0	0	0	4	—8

Hits—Newburyport 6, Lowell 8. Errors—Newburyport 2, Lowell 7. Batteries—Gilday and Brown, Leslie and Scully.

HAS ORGANIZED

Fourth of July Committee Gets to Work

AND PROMISES A GRAND CELEBRATION.

Lieut. R. J. Crowley Elected Secretary.

NO ORATION WILL BE HEARD.

An Elaborate Program Being Formed.

The city of Lowell is going to have a first class Fourth of July celebration this year for the committee appointed to plan and carry it out is a hustling one and has the money to carry out its intentions.

The first meeting Saturday afternoon in City Hall demonstrated the fact that there is nothing slow about the committee, for though they came together late they lost no time in getting down to business.

Councilman Frank Clark called the committee of 13 together about 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, having previously been importuned by several speculators and candidates for offices and Fourth of July snaps.

When the meeting had been opened and the members made acquainted with each other, Councilman Clark was elected chairman and William A. Hogan, Esq., vice chairman. Then a ballot for secretary was taken and Lieut. Robert J. Crowley received 9 votes to 4 for Frank M. Dowling and was declared elected.

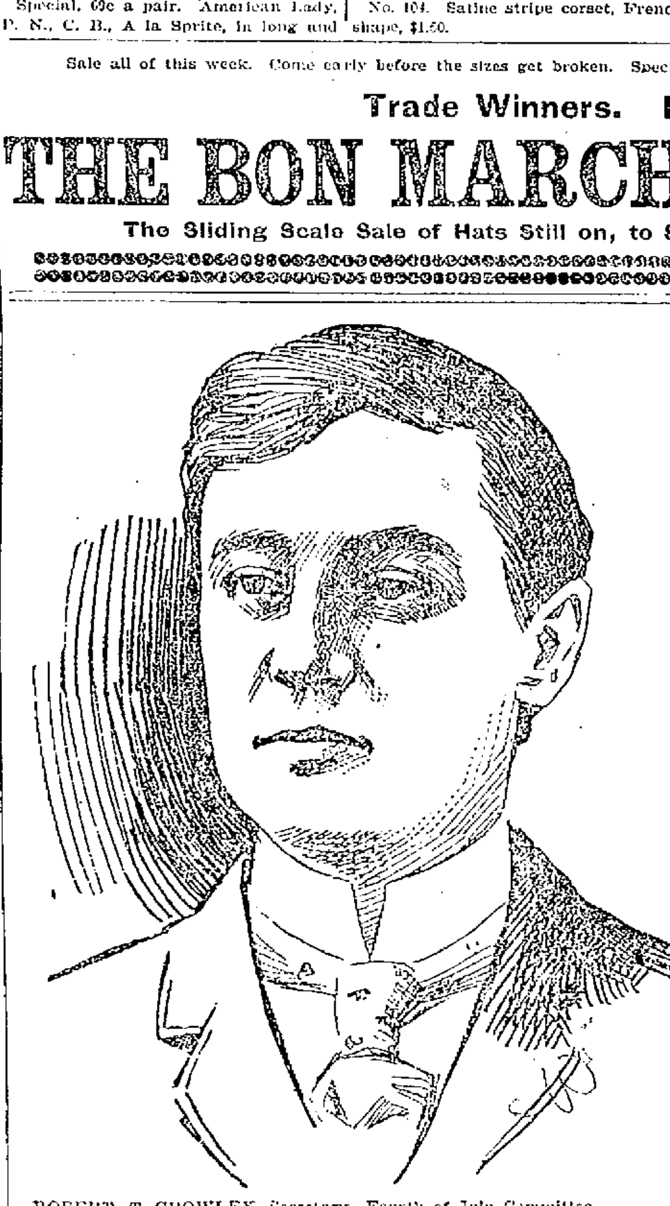

Then followed a discussion of the various features of the celebration and the committee seemed desirous of giving each section of the city a fine share of the celebration and the committee promises to give the best celebration in the history of the city.

The committee also discussed the plan of an oration and finally decided not to have such a feature of the celebration.

It was voted to have a parade, firemen's muster, children's entertainment and a parachute jump.

The committee then adjourned until this evening at which time Chairman Clark will announce his committees. Permanent headquarters will be established today and the committee will go to work with a will.

Alderman Peirce's offer of a store for a headquarters without rent was received with thanks. In 1897, the cost of the several features with the incidental expenses was as follows: Oration, $199.70; music, $991.25; children's entertainment $200.15; salutes and bell ringing, $181.16; fireworks, $651; sports, $330.47; parade, $1449.88; incidentals, $275; total, $4577.41. The appropriation was $4600, as this year.

ROBERT T. CROWLEY, Secretary Fourth of July Committee.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Fourth of July committee for awarding the Official Programme, at City Hall on or before Monday, June 12th, 1899, at 7.30 p. m. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

FRANK S. CLARK, Chairman.
ROBERT J. CROWLEY, Sec.

Address all communications to Robert J. Crowley, Sec.

Boston, June 1st, 1899.

To the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Bedford:

Your petitioners, the Lexington and Boston Street Railway company, respectfully represent,

That they are a corporation having a charter from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and fully organized under the general laws of said commonwealth; and your petitioners represent that under their preliminary organization they obtained locations in the town of Bedford from the selectmen thereof, in accordance with law as follows:

In Bedford, from the Lexington town line at Main street, thence over and along Main street to the Great Road, so called, on the northerly side thereof to Loomis street; also commencing at a point on said Main street, or Great Road, at its intersection with the South Road, and thence over and along said Main street or North Road on the southerly side thereof to North avenue or the North Road, so called, and thence on the westerly side of said North street or North Road to the Billerica town line.

And your petitioners represent that in order to construct and operate their road it will be necessary that further locations should be obtained in said town of Bedford, as follows:

Beginning at Main street, at the junction of Loomis street therewith to the point to which the location has already been granted, and thence along Main street to its intersection with the South Road, and to the point where your petitioners' location has already been fixed and allowed. That is to say, the gap on Main street between Loomis street and the South Road over which a location has not yet been granted your petitioners.

Wherefore, your petitioners pray that said location may be granted them, with the right to erect the necessary overhead structure, and that your petitioners may operate their cars over and along said line.

LEXINGTON & BOSTON STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

Signed,
ALFRED PIERCE,
GEO. W. MORSE,
CHAS. W. SMITH,

GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.

By Associated Press to The Sun.

MADRID, June 12.—A tornado has swept over San Pedro and Alarse in the province of Valladolid. About 150 houses were destroyed and there was great loss of life. Ten bodies have already been recovered from the ruins.

Toledo has been visited by a great storm, which has done considerable damage. The lower portions of the city were flooded.

BROKE HIS ARM.

George Dowrey, aged 13 years of Gilman hill had one of his arms broken while playing ball on Saturday.

MRS. KNOX HURT

Has Narrow Escape in Runaway Accident

HORSE JUMPED OVER STONE WALL

Mrs. Knox's Injuries May Prove Fatal

By Associated Press to The Sun.

LAWRENCE, June 11.—Mrs. William S. Knox, wife of Congressman Knox, was seriously injured by being thrown from a carriage in a runaway accident at Andover this afternoon.

Mrs. Knox was driving with George F. Swift in the vicinity of Pomps pond when the horse took fright and became unmanageable. The animal dashed over a stone wall on the top of which was a barbed wire fence.

The occupants were thrown from the carriage, Mrs. Knox being rendered unconscious. She was conveyed to her home at 148 Main street and was attended by Dr. Abbott, who found her injuries to consist of two broken ribs, one of which is of such a nature that it was feared the action of the heart will be effected.

At a late hour tonight Mrs. Knox was resting quietly.

Mr. Swift escaped injury.

BUTLERS GO LOWER.

The official figures of the standing of the contestants in the Natick muster given out a few days ago gives the Butlers of this city a place next to the bottom instead of sixth as was previously understood.

S. C. W. TO SALEM.

The Spindle City Wheelmen enjoyed an open run to Salem Sunday, leaving the square about 8 o'clock in the forenoon. The party which numbered about 50 riders, captained by Thomas Willston, returned to Lowell in the evening.

GREAT SALE OF CORSETS

Our big store, with all up-to-date facilities, modern contrivances to condense and get all out of a square foot of space possible, is again hampered for room owing to large increase of business in various departments. Our Corset Department (one of the best in New England) par force had to relinquish some 12 feet of counter and fixture room to our new department, the Soda Fountain, and this together with the fact that our Corset trade has wonderfully increased this season, leaves us in a cramped condition. Therefore we have taken stock and have decided to lose some money by slaughtering such numbers as we will not hereafter carry. These lots with some very fortunate purchases by our buyer ought to be very interesting to the ladies of Lowell and vicinity. Notwithstanding the extreme low prices we will continue to FIT CORSETS FREE OF CHARGE.

CLOSING OUT LOTS.

The celebrated Dr. Warner Corsets to be discontinued in our stock, hence such prices.

Cottolene

has every virtue that lard lacks. Lard has many faults that Cottolene is without. Cottolene is composed of refined cottonseed oil and carefully prepared beef suet and is as pure, healthful, and nutritious as the highest grade salad oil. As good as the best olive oil for frying and better than any other material for shortening, Cottolene is even more economical to use than lard.

The genuine Cottolene is sold everywhere in one to ten pound yellow tins, with our trade-marks—"Cottolene" and steer's head in cotton-plant wreath—on every tin. Not guaranteed if sold in any other way. Made only by
